For Immediate Release

Grassley to Hold Meetings in 14 Iowa Counties July 5 – 7

WASHINGTON – Senator Chuck Grassley will be in Adams, Audubon, Carroll, Cass, Crawford, Fremont, Harrison, Mills, Monona, Montgomery, Page, Pottawattamie, Shelby and Taylor counties July 5 through 7. He will hold 12 town meetings and speak to Rotarians in two communities.

Upon the completion of these meetings, Grassley will have held at least one official meeting in every Iowa county during 2011. Grassley has held a constituent meeting in each of Iowa's 99 counties every year since he was first elected to represent Iowans in the United States Senate in 1980. Grassley will continue to meet with Iowans throughout the state this year.

“The strength of our democracy depends on open dialogue between elected officials and their constituents,” Grassley said. “I like to say it's a two-way street. I have a responsibility to go to Iowans to listen and answer questions, and they have a responsibility to come to me to express views and ask questions. I appreciate the commitment of those who participate in these town meetings and engage in this dialogue. They're helping to make this process work. They're helping to challenge the nonsense in Washington with the common sense of Iowans.”

Details of Grassley's schedule are below. Grassley will be available for media interviews for approximately 15 minutes following each event. Grassley is a guest at the Rotary meetings. Please contact the hosts for additional information about those meetings.
