Dear Senator Grassley:

This letter is in response to your letter of December 7, 2009, to the American Heart Association ("AHA") requesting information relating to funding from pharmaceutical, device, insurance and their related foundations and AHA policies related to transparency. AHA intends to fully cooperate with your inquiry. We value the trust placed in us by our donors, supporters and the general public, and we feel the best way to continue to earn that trust is to make the Association's finances as transparent as possible. In fact, the American Heart Association has consistently met the high standards of the Better Business Bureau's Wise Giving Alliance (WGA), the premier organization evaluating charitable organizations.

By way of background, most of the revenue recorded by the American Heart Association comes from individual donors who pay their donations to the AHA during the year and from single and multi-year commitments from individuals and corporations. The bulk of the revenue comes from individual contributions, accounting for 46.0 percent, while contributions from businesses and corporations account for 27.9 percent.

Financial support from corporations allows the American Heart Association's programs and campaigns to more effectively advance our mission of building healthier lives, free of heart disease and stroke. Founded in 1924, the American Heart Association today is the nation's oldest and largest voluntary health organization dedicated to fighting heart disease and stroke. These diseases, America's #1 and # 3 killers, along with other cardiovascular diseases claim nearly 870,000 lives a year. In fiscal year 2008/09, the AHA invested more than $525 million in research, professional and public education,

*"Building healthier lives,
free of cardiovascular diseases and stroke."*

Please remember the American Heart Association in your will.

advocacy and community service programs to help all Americans live longer, healthier lives.

Since November 2006, AHA has disclosed contributions from pharmaceutical and device companies on its web site. At that time, AHA's CEO Cass Wheeler wrote to the Board of Directors the following:

As you know, one of my goals is for the AHA always to be as transparent as possible in our communication to the public. We strive to do everything we can to earn – and keep – the public's trust. In an effort to demonstrate complete transparency, we have decided to post on our website the contributions that we receive at National Center from pharmaceutical and device companies, and to show the percentage this represents of overall revenue. We have included all of these mission-related gifts from pharmaceutical companies and device manufacturers that contributed more than $100,000 to the National Center. To my knowledge, we are one of the first voluntary health organizations to take this important step.

Pharmaceutical and device company contributions represent a small fraction of AHA's total revenue. For the most recent audited fiscal year 2008/09, National Center contributions were just 3.6% of total revenue. Even though your request asks for expanded information beyond pharmaceutical and device company contributions, in the 2008/09 fiscal year, National Center and the largest Affiliate contributions from pharmaceutical, device, insurance, and their foundations still represent only 4.0% of AHA's total revenue. AHA relies on a diverse donor base and strong policies to achieve its goals for improving health. AHA has among the strongest corporate relations and conflict of interest policies of any voluntary health organization. We believe these policies, which are summarized in this letter and provided in the attachments¹, will demonstrate to you the American Heart Association's commitment to transparency while working with industry to improve medical knowledge and care for the American public. Below are the responses to your requests.

Accounting of industry funding (i.e., grants, donations, sponsorships or other transfer of value to AHA from pharmaceutical companies, medical device companies, their foundations, and insurance companies) from January 2006 to the present in chart form showing: year, name of company, amount, and reason for funding.

Chart 1 is a summary of contributed² revenue and cash received from pharmaceutical, device, and insurance companies and their foundations from ¹ The documents produced with this correspondence have been designated Chart 1 and 2 and Tabs 1-10; they also carry the Bates designations AHA-000001 through AHA-001063.

² Please note that based on your request, and consistent with our discussion with your staff on January 25, 2010, AHA is providing contributed revenue figures and not earned revenue figures. This is also consistent with AHA's public disclosures and National Health Council standards (see discussion below). Contributions include amounts received or pledged for which the donor receives no direct tangible benefit in return (in this respect contributions differ from exchange transactions). For AHA's internal reporting purposes, contributions are categorized as donations from individuals (outright gifts), foundations and corporations (including corporate relations national sponsorships), endowment donations, memorials/tributes, and direct response. In July 1, 2005 through June 30, 2009. AHA is on a July 1 – June 30 fiscal year, and this represents four complete and audited AHA fiscal years. Chart 1 also includes the corresponding pharmaceutical and device contributions that AHA has posted on its web site.

Beginning with fiscal year 2006/2007, AHA has posted the contributions as cash received rather than revenue booked. When revenue is booked, the entire amount of a multi-year commitment is booked as revenue in the year the contract was signed, even though the cash is received over several years. As a result the postings reflect significant revenue fluctuations from year to year and reflect future expected payments rather than funds actually received. AHA believes that cash received each year better reflects the level of support provided by these sponsors for AHA programs.

Chart 2 is a list of the individual company contributions received from pharmaceutical, device, and insurance companies and their foundations from July 1, 2005 through June 30, 2009. The figures provided in Chart 1 and 2 include National Center revenue plus some Affiliate revenue. Affiliates generally report revenue as corporate revenue as distinct from individual donations, and do not identify specific industry categories for corporate contributions. Corporate contributions to Affiliates help raise money for local events, such as galas, Heart Walks, and Go Red For Women luncheons. For the last two complete fiscal years, we are able to determine from existing records the top 10 corporate contributors for each Affiliate. Those that were from pharmaceutical, device, or insurance companies or their foundations have been reported on Chart 1 and 2. However, this information is not readily available for prior fiscal years, since there was no requirement in place to track this information. The majority of corporate funding occurs at the National Center level because the National Center is responsible for regional and Association-wide corporate relationships. Corporate funding helps with the design, development and implementation of AHA programs and the website. It is the National Center rather than the Affiliates that is responsible for developing AHA scientific standards and guidelines, publishing AHA scientific journals, conducting AHA scientific conferences and meetings, national programs, and administering the AHA web site.

Since 2006, AHA disclosed pharmaceutical and device corporate contributions on its web site; see National Center Support from Pharmaceutical Companies and Device Manufacturers. The 2008-2009 information provides the amount of total "corporate" contributions in compliance with the recently revised National Health Council Standard 9 as discussed below. Since no corporation contributed an amount that required identification on Schedule B of AHA's IRS Form 990, AHA's current disclosure does not include contributions from every corporate supporter. However, AHA will continue to disclose on its web site the name of the company and the contribution amount from pharmaceutical and device companies contributing at the national level. For purposes of NHC Standard 9, financial support includes money transferred for events and program activities, irrespective of whether the corporation treats such support contrast, earned revenue includes amounts earned through exchange transactions, gains and losses, investment income and other miscellaneous non-campaign or non-public support income.

as a charitable donation or business expense for purposes of its filings with the Internal Revenue Service. However, fee-for-service transactions, such as advertising fees, subscription and publications sales, exhibitor fees and meeting registrations need not be disclosed.

1. Explain policies for accepting industry funding and the disclosure requirements for top executives and board members, specifically:

- a. Explain what policies, if any, AHA plans to adopt to assure transparency of funding in order to provide a greater public trust in the independence of the AHA.

The AHA currently has multiple policies and procedures in place to help assure transparency of funding and public trust in the AHA.

Corporate Relations Policy

AHA's Corporate Relations Policy applies to the use of AHA's name, servicemarks, or other intellectual property by a for-profit corporation in commercial channels or mass media, and/or in connection with a commercial product, service or company. Typical corporate relationships include sponsorships that underwrite AHA programs and events, promotions in which the company includes an appeal for support of an AHA program or event in the marketing of its products or services, manufacture and/or marketing of AHA-branded or licensed products, and certification of food products meeting AHA nutrition criteria.

All corporate relationships are governed by AHA's Corporate Relations Policy which is enclosed at Tab 1. This policy provides when and how AHA's name and servicemarks may be used, requires a "proclaimer" or "statement of relationship" describing the relationship with the corporation, requires AHA approval of materials related to the relationship, requires a written contract, and requires advance approval of the corporation's advertising and promotional materials that display the AHA name or marks.

AHA's Corporation Relations Policy complies with the National Health Council's Standards of Excellence™ Certification Program. NHC is made up of more than 100 national health-related organizations, of which AHA is a voluntary health agency member. Membership requires compliance with the NHC Standards. In June 2009, AHA updated its Corporate Relations Policy to align with NHC's updated Standard 9 requiring disclosure of corporate support. Pertinent excerpts from Standard 9:

With regard to section c): The organization must, unless otherwise prohibited by law, disclose financial support it receives as a result of corporate relationships. For purposes of this standard, financial support includes money transferred for events and program activities, irrespective of whether the corporation treats such support as a charitable donation or business expense for purposes of its filings with the Internal Revenue Service. However, fee-for-service transactions, such as advertising, subscription and publications sales, or exhibitor fees and meeting registrations need not be disclosed.

At a minimum, organizations must disclose amounts received from corporations identified on Schedule B of their Form 990 (more than the greater of $5,000 or 2% of the total amount of contributions reported on line 1e of Part 1 of Form 990 (2007), line 1 h of Part VIII of Form 990 (2008)). The disclosure information should be posted on the organization's website in an easily accessible location within six months of the close of the organization's fiscal year. Disclosure should include the name of the corporation and the aggregate amount of support provided by that corporation. Such disclosure may be reported in ranges, e.g. $0 - $50,000; $50,001 - $100,000, etc. Disclosure should also include the total amount of all corporate support received from all corporations.

The complete NHC Standards of Excellence™ can be found at <http://www.nationalhealthcouncil.org/pages/standards.php>.

Corporate Relations Review Committee

All proposed AHA national and multi-affiliate corporate relationships are reviewed by a volunteer Corporate Relations Review Committee (CRRRC) and senior staff External Relations Committee (ERC) to assess compliance with the Corporation Relations Policy and to assess the risks of the relationship versus benefits. The CRRRC has seven volunteer members consisting of a chairperson appointed jointly by the Chairman of the Board and the President of AHA; two medical members; two lay members, one with development expertise; one member with nutrition expertise; and one member with communications and marketing expertise. Members serve two-year staggered terms, with service generally limited to two consecutive two-year terms.

The Conflict of Interest Policy is on every meeting agenda for the CRRRC/ERC and other AHA committees, and is more fully discussed below.

Linking Policy

AHA's Linking Policy is at:
<http://www.americanheart.org/presenter.jhtml?identifier=6894> and provides:

Any link from the AHA/ASA Web site to an external Web site must abide by a two-click rule. This means that the first link goes to a "jump page" that explains the relationship between AHA/ASA and the other party. A link to the [sponsor's] external Web site can be placed on this jump page, however, it must land on a general homepage, not a page that includes information about specific products or services.

AHA's standard corporate sponsorship agreement requires that all corporate sponsors comply with this policy.

Non-endorsement Policy

AHA policy prohibits endorsement of a specific commercial product, process, service or enterprise. There are limited exceptions that can only be approved by the AHA Board of Directors, such as the food certification program. The policy is found at Tab 2.

Conflict of Interest Policy

AHA's Conflict of Interest Policy, a copy of which may be found at Tab 3, requires that AHA, its affiliates and components, and all officers, directors, delegates, council and committee members scrupulously avoid any conflict between their own respective personal, professional or business interests and the interests of AHA in any and all actions taken by them on behalf of AHA in their respective capacities. The policy further requires officers, directors, delegates, council or committee members to give notice of any conflict and abstain from discussing, voting or attempting to influence any AHA matter in which the individual has a personal financial, employment or business interest. This policy has been in place since June 1986.

Conflict of Interest Standards

The AHA Conflict of Interest Standards (Tab 4) acknowledge that volunteers have myriad relationships, interests, and memberships which enhance their expertise and provide value to AHA, and provide guidelines to volunteers to avoid situations that potentially may affect or compromise the integrity and independence of AHA's decision-making processes, confidence in AHA or AHA's reputation. The Standards set out expectations regarding behavior, disclosure and abstention. The Standards discuss the handling of gifts and honoraria, self-dealing transactions, and overlapping memberships. Additionally, the Standards set out specific criteria for AHA Officers, AHA Journal Editors, and AHA budget/audit committee members. The Standards establish a Conflict of Interest Review Committee that reviews incoming AHA Officers, Journal Editors, and the Chief Executive Officer for conflicts of interest. The Standards also stipulate that staff shall comply with the Conflict of Interest Policy and Standards.

Conflict of Interest Procedures

Annually the General Counsel & Corporate Secretary distributes to staff the Conflict of Interest Procedures memo (Tab 5). It provides guidance to those staff who are responsible for managing AHA boards, committees and other volunteer groups, and also provides the procedures for staff who are required to submit conflict of interest disclosures. Staff responsibilities for managing boards, committees and other volunteer groups generally include: 1) nominating volunteers and staff to serve on the committee, task force or writing group in conjunction with the chairperson of the volunteer group, which nominations are approved by the Officers; 2) reviewing committee member Disclosure Questionnaires; 3) working with the group's chairperson to resolve any identified conflicts of interest, and forwarding conflicts that cannot be resolved to the General Counsel & Corporate Secretary and Conflict of Interest Review Committee (described below); 4) draft meeting agendas and exhibits for approval by the chairperson; and 5) prepare minutes detailing the discussion and decisions for approval by the chairperson.

Annually during their term of service, AHA officers, directors, committee, subcommittee, task force, working group, writing group and Council members, and Journal Editors are asked to review the AHA Conflict of Interest Policy & Record of Abstention Form and the AHA Conflict of Interest Standards. They are reminded of the Conflict of Interest Policy and requirement that during a meeting, if a direct or indirect conflict of interest arises, they must disclose the actual or potential conflict, and refrain from any discussion and voting on that matter. In that event, the volunteer is to note the actual or potential conflict of interest on the Record of Abstention form, sign it, and give it to the committee chairperson or staff. The Record of Abstention form will be filed with the minutes of the meeting to record the volunteer's disclosure and abstention.

Disclosure Questionnaire

Further, upon appointment to a committee or other group, the volunteer is asked to submit a Conflict of Interest Disclosure Questionnaire (Tab 6). Volunteers are advised to report any material changes in their situation that occurs after completion of the Questionnaire by updating their Disclosure Questionnaire on file or submitting a new Disclosure Questionnaire. Subsequently, the volunteer is requested to review and update the Disclosure Questionnaire annually.

Volunteers are told that the Disclosure Questionnaire will be treated as confidential, and is intended solely for AHA's purposes to facilitate identification, disclosure and resolution of potential conflicts of interest. These Disclosures are treated as confidential to encourage full and frank disclosure of potential conflicts.

As part of the Disclosure Questionnaire, volunteers and specified staff must provide the following disclosures regarding other financial or business interests (other than employment):

1. List the names of any other financial or business relationship or interest including for-profit corporations, companies, business enterprises, partnerships or organizations; not-for-profit associations, organizations or institutions; and federal or state government agencies with which you or a member of your immediate family or household have a relationship and which: (1) do or propose to do business with AHA; (2) provide competing services, programs or publications similar to or competing with AHA; (3) engage in fund raising activities similar to AHA or compete for charitable funding; (4) engage in research funding or compete for scientific or research funding; (5) are involved with pharmaceutical, biomedical, or biomedical device companies; or (6) any entity in these categories provides funds to you or members of your

Immediate family or household. The relationship could be as an officer, director, owner, partner, manager, member, volunteer, trustee, broker, editor, advisor, consultant, speakers' bureau, investment advisor, or grantee.

2. List any companies or organizations identified in sections I or II above in which you have a significant* direct or indirect financial interest through compensation, funding, stock ownership or options, bonds, promissory notes, patents or intellectual property ownership, trusts or other arrangements:

*It is a "significant" interest if (a) you receive $10,000 or more annually or it represents 5% or more of your gross income for the previous year; or (b) you own 5% or more of the voting stock of the entity, or own $10,000 or more of the fair market value of the entity.

Specific Conflict of Interest Processes

AHA has additional specific conflict of interest processes in place to ensure the scientific integrity of its activities.

The Board of Directors has established the Science Advisory & Coordinating Committee (SACC) as the AHA's highest scientific body. Among other things, SACC approves the AHA position on appropriate scientific topics; monitors new developments in cardiovascular science to determine and adjust the AHA's scientific agenda appropriately; manages the process of commissioning, reviewing and approving appropriate medical and scientific statements and guidelines of importance to the AHA mission and science agenda; and oversees the Research Committee, Scientific Publishing Committee, and Scientific Sessions Program Committee. SACC and its subcommittees have developed rigorous procedures for handling conflict of interest issues, including:

- At Tab 7, AHA provides the conflict of interest processes for: 1) creation and processing of AHA Scientific Statements from appointment of the writing group up to and through the publishing process; and 2) the 11 peer reviewed journals that AHA publishes. Exhibits A through Exhibit C set out the AHA process for appointment of writing groups charged to develop AHA scientific statements and guidelines, including conflict of interest rules, and the process for reviewing conflicts at various steps during the course of the writing and publication of AHA scientific statements and guidelines. Exhibits E and F set out the AHA process for peer review of scientific manuscripts submitted for publication in AHA journals, including peer review and the disclosure of relationships with industry of the authors of the paper when the paper is published.

Exhibit D at Tab 7 describes how AHA regularly discloses support by pharmaceutical, device and other companies in its news releases about a scientific study, statement or guidelines. News releases include the statement "Disclosures for individual authors are available on the manuscript" at the end of the release.

The association makes no representation or guarantee as to their accuracy or reliability. The association receives funding primarily from individuals; foundations and corporations (including pharmaceutical, device manufacturers and other companies) also make donations and fund specific association programs and events. The association has strict policies to prevent these relationships from influencing the science content. Revenues from pharmaceutical and device corporations are available at www.americanheart.org/corporatefunding.

- At Tab 8, AHA provides the AHA process for complying with ACCME standards regarding industry sponsored professional education that, among other things, precludes the involvement of a corporate funder with the development of the curriculum.
- At Tab 9, AHA provides the AHA process for selection of speakers at AHA Scientific Sessions. Among other things, a speaker's relationships with industry are disclosed in the program or at the time of the presentation.

The Science Advisory & Coordinating Committee is comprised of the President who serves as chairperson, and President-elect who serves as vice chairperson. Other members include: Immediate Past President, chairpersons of the following: each Scientific Council, Council Operations Committee (COC), Scientific Sessions Program, Scientific Publishing, Research, ECC, and Professional Education Committees; four (4) AHA Scientific members who represent Affiliate interests as well as AHA science interests, (such members may already be serving on SACC; if not, an At-large member(s) shall be selected.); one Early Career Investigator; external liaisons from government agencies, as determined by the President; and At-large members as appropriate. The membership provides a breadth of scientific and medical expertise. SACC's science-based composition, size and the conflict of interest rules safeguard against inappropriate undue influence.

Conflict of Interest Review Committee

The Conflict of Interest Standards establish a Conflict of Interest Review Committee to advise the General Counsel & Corporate Secretary on conflict of interest matters, respond to questions, or make recommendations regarding conflict of interest issues and interpretations or amendments of the Conflict of Interest Policy and Standards.

Annually, the Conflict of Interest Review Committee reviews the Disclosure Questionnaires of incoming Officers, Journal Editors, and the Chief Executive Officer, and determines if any conflicts of interest exist that need to be resolved, which, for the Officer nominees and editor candidates, must be before election or appointment. For the medical Officers and Journal Editors, the outcome is that they resign or suspend their relationships with pharmaceutical or device companies in the CVD and stroke fields, or fields related to their journal topic for the Editors, for the duration of their service as an Officer or Editor with an occasional exception for a strong justification.

The Committee is comprised of two past Chairmen of the Board and two past Presidents of AHA; the chairperson of the Scientific Publishing Committee; the General Counsel; and the Senior Internal Auditor. The former chairmen and presidents serve for staggered three-year terms.

- b. Explain policies on disclosure of outside income by your top executives and board members.

Conflict of Interest Policy, Standards and Procedure

See above

Human Resources Policy

AHA's employment policies provide:

A staff member will not engage in outside employment, self-employment or other activities, which would constitute a conflict of interest, reflect adversely on the AHA, or adversely affect the staff member's AHA performance. Staff members will not use AHA time or resources for non-AHA work or for any personal or private gain. A conflict of interest exists in such instances when a regular or temporary employee:

- a. Accepts full or part-time employment in, or retains as a customer or client when self-employed, any organization which does business with or for the AHA.
- b. Gives AHA business to a firm in which he or she has financial or personal interest.
- c. Advises or recommends AHA activities or programs from which they or their non-Association employer expect to gain financially.
- d. Accepts full or part-time employment with or becomes self-employed in an activity or enterprise that competes with the AHA or that provides similar products or services to those of the AHA.
- e. Runs for or holds an elected office.

While on leave, a staff member is not permitted to engage in any outside employment or self-employment. Doing so is grounds for disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

IRS Form 990

Current year available on AHA's web site at:
<http://www.americanheart.org/presenter.jhtml?identifier=3044259>

Prior years are available at Tab 10.

c. Provide the disclosures of outside income filed by top executives and board members.

The AHA Disclosure Questionnaire requests that volunteers disclose relationships in six defined categories and asks that those relationships with a value of $10,000 or more or 5% or more of gross income be identified. As discussed with your staff on January 25, 2010, AHA has a great deal of concern about disclosing personally identifiable financial information of individual Board members in response to this request. AHA represents to volunteers that this information is confidential and used for AHA's purposes, and obtains and maintains this information in a confidential manner. AHA is deeply concerned that providing the disclosures of all Board members for the last five fiscal years will have the undesirable consequences of individuals disclosing less personal financial information to AHA in AHA's conflict of interest process and deciding not to be an AHA Board member to avoid being subject to such public disclosures. AHA's ability to effectively manage conflicts of interest rests on its strong policies and procedures, and also on the willingness of AHA volunteers to fully participate in the process and fully disclose relevant conflicts.

Nonetheless, to provide the Committee information relevant to their inquiry, AHA is providing aggregate information on the number and percentage of individual Board members who have disclosed relationships with a pharmaceutical, device, or insurance company, or a foundation related to those three industries as follows.

Board

The Board of Directors is the final authority on operations of the American Heart Association consistent with the Certificate of Incorporation and the Bylaws. To fulfill its responsibilities, the Board creates committees, councils and other groups, including the Science Advisory & Coordinating Committee (SACC), the AHA Research Committee, the Conflict of Interest Review Committee, and the Corporate Relations Review Committee that include Board members, other AHA volunteers and external members. The Board does not approve scientific statements or guidelines which, as discussed earlier, is a process overseen by SACC and which includes rigorous Conflict of Interest procedures in the appointment and the work of the writing group chairperson and members, which can be found at Tab 7.

AHA Bylaws set out the responsibilities, composition and terms of AHA's Board of Directors. The Board is comprised of 22 members, all of whom serve without compensation.

The Board of Directors is composed of the following: seven Officers who are the Chairman of the Board, Chairman-elect, Immediate Past Chairman, President, President-elect, Immediate Past President, and Secretary-Treasurer; one member from each of the eight AHA Affiliates; two Science members; the chairpersons of the AHA Research Committee and of the American Stroke Association Advisory Committee; and three external At-large members. The Board of Directors is nominated and elected by the Nominating Committee in accordance with the Bylaws.

Other than the Officers who have one-year terms, other directors serve staggered two-year terms with eligibility to serve two consecutive full terms.

For the period 2005-2006 through 2009-2010, 53 individuals have served on AHA's Board of Directors. Pursuant to the Conflict of Interest Policy procedures, the disclosure questionnaires of those Board members were reviewed by the General Counsel & Corporate Secretary. In addition, the disclosure questionnaires of those Board members also serving on committees or task forces were reviewed by the staff responsible for managing those committees or task forces, as described earlier. Further, the Conflict of Interest Review Committee reviewed 16 of those 53 individuals since those members were incoming officers or journal editors.

- Forty of the 53 Board members (75.5% of total) did not report any relationships with pharmaceutical, device, or insurance companies or their foundations.
- Thirteen of the 53 Board members (24.5% of total) reported relationships with pharmaceutical, device, or insurance companies or their foundations.
 - Of these 13, three reported only one relationship, which was an employment relationship with a device or insurance company. One of those three was also reviewed by the Conflict of Interest Review Committee because he was an incoming Officer.
 - Of the remaining 10 that reported relationships, four members were reviewed by the Conflict of Interest Review Committee, since three were incoming Officers and one was an incoming Journal Editor following his service on the Board.
 - For the medical Officers and Journal Editors, as previously noted, the outcome of this review is that they resign or suspend their relationships with pharmaceutical or device companies in the CVD and stroke fields, or fields related to their journal topic for the Editors, for the duration of their service as an Officer or Editor with an occasional exception for a strong justification.

CRRC

Because the Corporate Relations Review Committee (CRRC) is responsible for approving corporate relationships, AHA is additionally providing information on the Conflict of Interest Disclosures for members of the CRRC as follows:

- Two of the 19 members (10.5%) who served from 2005-2006 through 2009-2010 reported relationships with the pharmaceutical or device industries.

- As noted, pursuant to the Conflict of Interest Policy procedures, the disclosure questionnaires of volunteers who serve on committees are reviewed by appropriate staff responsible for the committee. Members who have relationships with companies presenting proposals to CRRC are required to abstain from reviewing or voting on those proposals.

Senior Staff

During the time period of 2005-2006 through 2009-2010, no member of the Strategic Leadership Team (which currently includes the Chief Executive Officer, Chief Mission Officer, Chief Administrative Officer, Chief Operating Officer and the 8 National Center Executive Vice Presidents), reported relationships with pharmaceutical, device, or insurance companies or their foundations.

In summary, AHA is proud of our record of leadership and transparency in the disclosure of industry funding and implementation of strong corporate relations and conflict of interest policies and procedures to protect the integrity of AHA science. We share your concern for protecting the public interest while improving medical knowledge and care, and we are confident that this information will demonstrate to you our concern and commitment. If you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

AHA POLICIES

Article VIII. CORPORATE RELATIONS POLICY

A. GENERAL RULES

These general rules apply to every corporate relationship.

1. Non-endorsement: There can be no action, agreement or statement that endorses any commercial product, process, service or enterprise.

2. Required “musts”: AHA shall exercise independent judgment in all its decision-making related to any corporate relationship. Corporate relationships must disseminate priority AHA messages to AHA priority markets; must be based on a data-driven risk/benefit analysis to identify and manage risks; and must have appropriate volunteer involvement. The corporate relationship must adhere to all applicable state and local laws and regulations.

3. Required benefit: AHA enters corporate relationships to provide meaningful mission-related benefits to the public or AHA, not solely or primarily for the AHA’s financial benefit (except for sponsorships of fund raising activities). The benefit can be reach, positioning, information dissemination and/or revenue, and is to be measurable. AHA will evaluate on an annual basis the total amount of corporate support received as a percentage of total revenue.

4. Relationships with appropriate products/companies: The AHA will have relationships only with a product, service or corporation which is not inconsistent with AHA policies, standards or positions. AHA will not have relationships with tobacco companies or their corporate subsidiaries or parents. (“Subsidiary” and “parent” are defined as an entity in which there exists a 5% or greater ownership by or of a tobacco company.)

a) Corporations/businesses which have a non-healthy public positioning: Corporate relationships are not permitted with corporations/businesses which have a non-healthy public positioning. This includes not permitting such a company to use the AHA name and marks and not publicly recognizing such a company for funding AHA research or other programs. However; the AHA should engage such companies and urge changes in their menus, food ingredients, food preparation, advertising, nutrition disclosures, portion sizes, etc.

b) Chocolate and candy companies/products: AHA will not have corporate relationships with candy/chocolate companies because that is inconsistent with the AHA’s 2010 Impact Goal indicator to eliminate the growth in the prevalence of obesity.

c) Wine companies/products: AHA will not have a national relationship with wine or alcohol companies or products. This prohibition includes multi-Affiliate relationships, but excludes local wine auction or wine tasting fund raising events and local community level event sponsorships. [9-7-04]

d) Food products: To be a sponsor or involved in a promotion or other corporate relationship, a food product must be certified by AHA if in a category which the AHA certifies. Otherwise if not in a category which AHA certifies, a food product is eligible unless the CRRC/ERC determines that it is not consistent with AHA dietary recommendations or would adversely affect the certification program. If a food product is not certified, there can be no reasonably implied message that the food product is certified. Food product lines must comply with the same requirements as food products. Major food brands and food companies may be approved by CRRC/ERC on a case-by-case evaluation based on consistency with AHA dietary recommendations and positions, percent of foods which are AHA-certified, likelihood of consumer confusion about what foods are certified, image of the brand/company, and importance of the sponsorship and alternatives.

5. Proclaimer statement: Whenever the AHA is involved in a corporate relationship, a proclaimer statement clarifying the relationship between the AHA and the company, product or service is required in accompanying materials, and must be conspicuous and legible. The proclaimer will be adjacent to the AHA name and mark. The most common proclaimer model is "ABC Company is the proud sponsor of AHA program/event."

The term "official sponsor" is reserved for non-mission related products which satisfy guidelines regarding the required length of commitment and benefit level.

Proclaimers will not state that a corporation/product is a "partner" of the AHA/ASA.

Proclaimers will not include adjectives or comparative qualifications describing a product or service.

Alternative formats:

a) Alternative formats are permitted for the required proclaimer statement. While flexibility is permitted in the language, the overriding rule is that the proclaimer must accurately describe the relationship between AHA/ASA and the corporation, product or service.

b) In addition to the conventional proclaimer format which identifies the corporation/product as sponsor of a particular AHA/ASA program or event, two other formats are permissible for strategic relationships (see section D); not for program/event sponsors:

1) Statement that the corporation/product "sponsors" or "supports" AHA/ASA but without reference to a specific AHA/ASA program or event.

2) Statement that a corporation/product is helping the AHA/ASA in a particular way but without being linked to a specific AHA/ASA program or event, such as "ABC Corporation is helping the AHA improve health by supporting public education about nutrition."

6. Exclusivity: Exclusivity is acceptable in sponsorships and AHA branded/licensed product agreements. "Cause" relationships are permitted to have category exclusivity as is permitted in sponsorships. Exclusivity is not acceptable in promotions and certifications.

7. Prior AHA approval: AHA's prior review and approval is required in writing for any use of the AHA/ASA name and servicemarks, and for all health messages and materials used in conjunction with a corporate relationship.

8. Disclosure: AHA will disclose the nature of a corporate relationship, including any financial benefit to the AHA when requested. Commercial or competitive information which is customarily subject to non-disclosure restrictions may be treated as confidential when subject to reasonable non-disclosure agreements. AHA shall comply with the disclosure requirements of National Health Council Standard #9, including disclosure within six months of the close of the fiscal year on the AHA website (in an easily accessible location) of: (1) the name of each corporation that provides financial support; (2) the aggregate amount received from each corporation; and (3) the total amount received from all corporations, including amounts received by both National Center and Affiliates. Any personal information collected about people participating in corporate-sponsored activities and/or programs is subject to the AHA Privacy Policy.

B. USE OF AHA NAME & SERVICEMARKS.

1. On corporation's promotional and advertising materials:

The AHA name in stylized format and servicemarks may be used in a corporation's promotional and advertising materials, including both corporate advertising and product advertising.

2. On corporation's product packaging:

The AHA name in stylized format and servicemarks may be used on product packaging per the following specific rules. On-package use can be authorized only by the National Center.

a) Cause marks (e.g., "red dress"): The cause mark can be used on packaging of non-mission related products and of AHA-certified foods and on materials of restaurants which qualify per policy; but are not permitted for prescription or OTC drugs and devices. No proclaimer is required if the cause mark is used by itself without the AHA name or other marks.

b) Event/program marks (e.g., Heart Walk, Jump Rope, Choose to Move, Simple Solutions, Go Red For Women): Event/program marks can be used on packaging of non-mission related products and of AHA-certified foods and on materials of restaurants which qualify per policy; but are not permitted for prescription or OTC drugs and devices.

c) Heart & Torch logo: The heart & torch logo can be used on packaging of non-mission related products, and of AHA-certified foods and on restaurant materials which qualify per policy of corporations in a strategic relationship; not permitted for prescription or OTC drugs and devices.

d) "mission related" and non-mission related" are defined as:

mission related	non-mission related
▪ prescription and OTC drugs	▪ clothing, including exercise apparel
▪ medical devices	▪ athletic/recreational equipment (e.g., balls, rackets, skis, pedometer)
▪ food	▪ perfume/cosmetics
▪ exercise equipment	▪ cards/gifts
▪ diets and weight-loss programs	▪ flowers
▪ exercise equipment & facilities

e. AHA references with the AHA name not in stylized format and without a servicemark are permitted on product packaging (excluding prescription drugs and devices, and including AHA-certified foods) in three formats:

- statement to contact AHA at its web address or 800 number for information
- statement that AHA health, risk factor or risk assessment information is enclosed
- statement that information about how to receive an AHA product or publication is enclosed.

f. AHA certification: The AHA name, certification mark and certification statement may appear on labeling of food products which meet AHA certification criteria and are approved by the CRRC/ERC. Certification is authorized only by the National Center. The food company must provide written assurance to AHA that all applicable food labeling and healthclaim laws and regulations are satisfied; and must protect and indemnify AHA from claims arising from AHA's name and mark appearing on its labeling.

3. On corporation's non-mission related products:

The cause mark and event/program marks can appear on designated non-mission-related products, with all such proposals required to be submitted to and approved in advance by the CRRC/ERC. On-product use can be authorized only by the National Center. Indemnification and insurance provisions by the corporation to protect the AHA are required unless waived by the Board. The three categories of products below represent guidance about the comparative levels of concern with various products; other products may be approved by the CRRC/ERC.

Low risk products (noting that judgment needs to be applied to avoid inappropriate products):

- apparel such as socks, T-shirts and athletic apparel
- greeting cards, meeting planners, calendars, checks & check books
- pedometer (a passive device not actively used in a forceful or physical manner)
- bedding and towels
- CDs/cassettes of appropriate performance artists
- plush/stuffed toys/animals/dolls.

Moderate risk products:

- perfume/cosmetics (potential controversy regarding how they might be prepared/tested with regards to animals, and the small size which might preclude the proclaimer)
- lamps and lighting fixtures
- furniture
- vacuum cleaners and floor cleaners/polishers
- cameras and photography equipment
- radios, TVs, video and CD players.

High risk products:

- appliances
- power tools
- motorized vehicles

Excluded products:

- ropes, rackets, skis and athletic equipment (which are used in a forceful physical/active manner and likely can cause injury if misused, breaks or is defective)
- cleaners, sprays, detergents and items which include chemicals which are harmful if applied to skin/eyes, ingested or misused
- children's toys (especially small, swallowable toys)
- mission-related products (except AHA-certified foods).

Insurance: The AHA is to be named an additional insured on the corporation's liability policy(ies); the insurance carriers are A+ rated; minimum coverage of $2 million per occurrence and $2 million aggregate with an excess policy of $5 million; and the corporation's insurance coverage is primary and non-contributory.

C. USE OF CORPORATION'S NAME & MARKS ON AHA PRODUCTS

1. General rules:

A corporate name with or without its logo may appear with a proclaimer on AHA programs, products or materials which it sponsors. A product brand name, without its logo, may appear with a proclaimer on AHA programs, products or materials which it sponsors.

2. Drug product sponsors at Scientific Sessions and scientific conferences:

A drug product sponsor is permitted only at the Scientific Sessions and at national and Affiliate scientific conferences. This is intended only for underwriting items like lanyards, tote bags, banners, shuttle buses.

D. "STRATEGIC RELATIONSHIPS"

1 A "strategic relationship" is the highest level of relationship for both for-profit organizations and not-for-profit organizations in terms of both benefits to the AHA and benefits to the other organization. See specific benefits for "strategic relationships" regarding name and logo at B.2.c. and proclaimers at A.5.

2. After extensive due diligence, a "strategic relationship" will be selected and approved by the Board of Directors upon recommendation of the Administrative Cabinet. A proposal to the Administrative Cabinet to designate a relationship as a "strategic relationship" can be initiated by staff or any committee.

3. A "strategic relationship" has all of these characteristics:

- Substantial involvement in a strategic initiative or activity that is essential or critically important to accomplishing the Mission.

- Clearly differentiated from for-profit corporate relationships and not-for-profit strategic alliances.
- Need for the relationship is proactively identified through the strategic planning process, although it is recognized that from time to time it could be identified opportunistically in response to or in anticipation of a particular situation.
- The organization is the strategic partner of choice within a defined activity or initiative (i.e., “exclusivity”).
- The relationship yields significant organization-wide impact or benefit, which most likely requires a multi-year relationship.
- The organization is engaged at multiple levels within the AHA or engaged in multiple AHA activities and programs beyond the strategic initiative or activity.

E. PAID ADVERTISING

AHA/ASA journals, meeting programs, newsletters, videos, and television and radio broadcasts may include customary paid advertisements consistent with policy. Paid advertising is permitted at the Scientific Sessions and at scientific conferences on shuttle buses, billboards, and other customary venues for paid advertising. If it is not readily apparent that the message is a paid commercial advertisement, the message must be explicitly labeled as a paid advertisement.

F. PROCEDURES

1. Affiliates and National Center

Affiliate and National Center (including Councils) corporate relationships shall be consistent with this policy.

National Center (including Councils) corporate relationships require advance CRRC/ERC approval.

Affiliate corporate relationships do not require CRRC/ERC approval unless extending beyond the Affiliate’s chartered geographic area or involving more than one Affiliate. An Affiliate may approve intra-Affiliate sponsorships and promotions per its established procedure, but may not approve branded/licensed products or product certifications. Affiliate corporate relationships must not conflict or compete with national AHA relationships.

2. Screening

At the outset, a proposal should be screened and evaluated considering AHA goals, strategies, priorities and policies; net benefits to AHA; risks; availability of resources; timelines; proper control and implementation at the franchise or local level or by agents; and evaluation. Sufficient time must be planned for the AHA’s usual and customary review and approval processes. A corporation should be financially viable and recognized as having high ethical standards. A staff vice president shall approve a proposal and submit it to the CRRC/ERC (or Affiliate approving body).

3. Written Agreement

Following approval of a corporate relationship, the appropriate staff vice president shall assure that a written agreement is prepared and approved by Legal prior to execution and implementation. The agreement shall specify at a minimum: the obligations of the AHA/ASA and corporation, time period of the relationship, minimum guaranteed benefit(s) to AHA/ASA, whether the funding is restricted or unrestricted, a description of the AHA program or activity supported, the manner in which each party will disclose the support to the general public, that AHA retains control of the program or activity content, the proclaimer and any health messages, permitted uses of AHA/ASA name and servicemarks, termination provisions including immediate termination for unsatisfactory performance, and incorporating other AHA policy or legal requirements.

4. Message/Ad Review

Ads, promotional materials and any health messages must be reviewed and approved in advance by the AHA by the project manager, Communications, Legal, and Science.

The commercial message must be visually/audibly separate from the AHA/ASA identification. There must be a clear AHA scientific basis. The corporation's materials--including text, graphics and the combination of the two--cannot suggest or reasonably imply an endorsement or recommendation by the AHA, or a message or impression other than that approved by the AHA. An AHA health message may state the mission-related value or use of a generic type of OTC drug or device, but not of a particular brand OTC drug or device.

Professional Education: Professional Education, Training and Quality. Research only becomes useful when its results are made available to other scientists and healthcare professionals. With medical advances being reported daily, these professionals need access to what is new in the battle against heart disease and stroke. In 2005-2006, the American Heart Association spent $71.2 million or 12.3 percent of the years expenses for this purpose. Participant fees and corporate sponsorships offset these expenses. The highlight of this effort is the annual Scientific Sessions, the worlds largest gathering of scientists, healthcare providers and others concerned about cardiovascular disease. The event, held in November 2005, drew more than 26,469 people. Additional American Heart Association meetings held during 2005-2006 addressed quality of care, arteriosclerosis, stroke, epidemiology and high blood pressure. Emergency Cardiovascular Care (ECC) Programs. For nearly 25 years, the American Heart Association is a pioneer in the development of CPR training and a global leader in developing training materials used to teach basic and advanced life support techniques to lay rescuers and health care providers throughout the world. During 2005-2006, ECC programs were used to train more than 10 million people in the U.S. In November, ECC released new emergency care guidelines, which provide recommendations for how lay rescuers and emergency healthcare providers should resuscitate victims of cardiovascular emergencies. They are used to set protocols for most hospital programs, EMS systems and other training organizations. Get With the Guidelines. In 2005-2006, the number of participating hospitals in the Get With The Guidelines program increased to 1,250. A newly enhanced Patient Management Tool™ (PMT) was launched to enable hospitals to collect and benchmark performance data and measure compliance to guidelines. The association also collaborated with the Duke Clinical Research Institute on a groundbreaking study to evaluate patient adherence to stroke prevention strategies. Scientific Journals. The American Heart Association reports the latest in cardiovascular research through its scientific and medical journals. Five journals were published in 2005-2006, with more than 75,000 subscribers and approximately 4 million monthly online accesses. In 2005, the archive of every issue of the associations five journals was made available online. (0 millions)	$71,218,211.00

Public Health Programs: Public Health Education. Informing all Americans about ways to reduce their risk of heart disease and stroke is another major objective of the American Heart Association. To do that, the Association spent $190 million, or 32.8 percent of all 2005-2006 expenses. Alliance for a Healthier Generation. This year, the American Heart Association continued its relationship with the Clinton Foundation to reduce childhood obesity. Working on a variety of childrens health and obesity concerns, the association is encouraging healthier foods in restaurants and schools and encouraging kids to take charge of their health. Through its Healthy Schools Program, the Alliance worked with representatives of Cadbury Schweppes, Coca-Cola, PepsiCo and the American Beverage Association to establish new guidelines to reduce the number of calories available to children at school. Under these guidelines, only lower calorie and nutritious beverages will be sold to schools. The guidelines will impact approximately 35 million students annually. Go Red For Women. During its third year, Go Red for Women kept the spotlight on heart disease as womens No. 1 killer. Prevention and personal initiative remained core messages, in addition to a new call to love your heart. In February, American Heart Month, the association hosted a successful news conference, 11,750 companies participated in National Wear Red Day, cities across the country make landmarks Go Red, and more than 175 communities held Go Red For Women Luncheons. More than 400,000 people have registered for Go Red, and in 2006, more than 2.2 billion media impressions were generated. The American Heart Association has increased the diversity of its staff and volunteers and continues to achieve diversity goals. The association is increasing public exposure to our programs related to healthcare disparities. Resources were allocated to significantly increase the amount of Spanish-language content available on the association Web site. Power To End Stroke. Power To End Stroke (PTES) is an aggressive education and awareness campaign that embraces and celebrates the culture, energy, creativity and lifestyles of African Americans. Through this campaign, the Association heightens awareness of the disproportionately high risk of stroke in the African American community. In FY 2005-2006 the campaign celebrated its national launch with spokesperson Yolanda King, daughter of	$188,347,087.0

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Coretta Scott King at an event with over 170 Power To End Stroke Ambassadors. The campaign has generated over 200 million media impressions and over 1.2 million pieces of educational campaign materials have been distributed. Food Certification Program. A recent national survey showed that a majority of consumers want a reliable and easy way of finding heart-healthy foods. The American Heart Associations Food Certification Program helps consumers quickly and reliably identify items that are low in saturated fat, total fat and cholesterol. In fall 2005, the program added a second certification category to help shoppers find low saturated fat, low cholesterol whole grain products which, when incorporated into the diet, may help reduce the risk of cardiovascular disease. As of June 2006, 94 companies and 823 products displayed the American Heart Associations heart-check mark. Products displaying the heart-check mark can be part of a heart-healthy diet for healthy Americans over age 2. Consumer Publications. In 2005-06, we released a new consumer publication, the American Heart Association Low-Salt Cookbook, Third Edition. We also released three magazine cookbooks: Healthy Recipes Kids Love, Love Your Heart which features the Go Red For Women campaign and Soul Food Recipes, which highlights the Power to End Stroke campaign. In all, the American Heart Association offers over 15 titles, many of which are available in various formats. Our publications and information about our publications reached nearly 250 million people during our fiscal year 2005-2006. Stroke. The American Stroke Association is finishing its ninth year within the American Heart Association. The goal of the American Stroke Association is to reduce stroke-related disability and deaths, and risk by 25 percent by 2010. To help improve prevention and treatment efforts, the American Stroke Association helped establish state stroke leadership committees to engage healthcare providers and coordinate a systematic approach to care along the entire stroke health continuum, from primary prevention through rehabilitation. The American Stroke Association is identifying high impact strategies and successes to share across states. It has laid the foundation to accelerate the improvement of stroke prevention, diagnosis and treatment. Customer Service. Call centers are the critical link between a company and its customers, therefore the association strives to anticipate, understand, meet and exceed our customers needs and expectations. In 2005-2006, the National Service Center received a total of 412,519 incoming calls for the year, an 11 percent increase from last fiscal year. Specialists answered more than 374,720 toll-free telephone calls, 58,000 e-mails and letters. Communications. The American Heart Association worked with national and local news media outlets to present the latest news on cardiovascular disease and stroke to the public. Each media impression represents one person who read, viewed or heard a media report including information from the American Heart Association or American Stroke Association. More than 19 billion national and local media impressions were generated during 2005-2006. These impressions include coverage of cause initiatives, scientific journal articles, health communications, stroke, health disparities, cultural health and media advocacy. Community Medicine Programs: Community Programs. The American Heart Association provides community services at the local, state and national levels. To support this effort the Association spent $40.5 million in 2005-2006, which was 7 percent of expenses. Public Advocacy. In 2005-06, our Advocacy Departments Youre the Cure nationwide grassroots network consisted of more than 135,000 volunteers including doctors, scientists, parents, and heart disease and stroke survivors actively involved in the organizations public policy agenda. These volunteer-advocates challenge their lawmakers to support policies that will advance the fight against heart disease and stroke and improve the health of all Americans. About 26,600 new advocates joined the network in FY 2005-06. Nearly 550 Youre the Cure advocates from all 50 states and Puerto Rico came to Washington, D.C. on May 16, 2006 for the American Heart Associations Congressional Heart and Stroke Lobby Day to ask lawmakers for their support in reducing death and disability from heart disease and stroke. They urged members of Congress to significantly increase funding for heart disease and stroke research and prevention supported by the National Institutes of Health and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and to cosponsor the HEART for Women Act bipartisan legislation introduced in Congress earlier this year aimed at improving the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of cardiovascular disease in women. The American Heart Associations advocacy efforts move the association closer to its goal of reducing heart disease, stroke and risk by 25 percent by the year 2010. It includes advocating before local, state and federal legislative and regulatory bodies on public policy issues such as women and cardiovascular disease, stroke, childhood obesity, funding for heart disease and stroke research and prevention, tobacco control and funding for the placement of automated external defibrillators in public places. Paid Advertising. The American Heart Association continued its first national paid advertising campaign to increase awareness of the American Heart Association and bring more Americans to our Web site and toll-free telephone number to take the Learn and Live Quiz. The quiz provides potentially life saving information about the prevention and treatment of cardiovascular disease and stroke. Ads were featured in popular national magazines and on national television across the country. Public Service Announcements. The American Heart Association is sponsoring two national public service announcement campaigns developed and distributed in partnership with the Ad Council. One focuses on stroke awareness. The other focuses on healthy lifestyles and is co-sponsored by the American Cancer Society, American Diabetes Association and American Heart Association. Tracking surveys confirmed increases in awareness of stroke warning signs and what to do in the event of stroke. Surveys also indicated increased levels of public importance placed on the stroke and healthy lifestyles. The healthy lifestyles campaign exceeded goals by generating more than $35 million worth of advertising value. (0 thousand volunteers)

Diseases, Disorders & Medical Disciplines, General: Research Support. The American Heart Association funds research at both the national and affiliate (regional) levels. Since the Association became a voluntary health organization in 1948, we have spent more than $2.7 billion dollars for projects that explore the prevention, detection and treatment of heart disease and stroke. Grants support projects, fellowships and investigatorships for research training or career development for a specific period of time. During the past year, the Association funded 1,109 new awards, including 550 grants and 559 fellowships. The American Heart Association invested $136 million in 2005-2006 to fund cardiovascular research. That was 23.5 percent of the Associations expenses for the fiscal year. The American Heart Associations research commitment over the past half century has helped lead to developments such as pacemakers, open-heart surgery, heart transplantation, clot-busting drugs and both automated external defibrillators and implantable defibrillators that can stop potentially fatal heart rhythm problems. Now scientists and professionals are gaining new insights into the workings of the cardiovascular system, including its genetic and cellular foundations, which will provide more answers on how to prevent and/or treat heart disease and stroke. Identifier: Depreciation Methods

Reference: Form 990, Part II, Line 42

Explanation: Donated property and equipment is recorded at fair value at date of receipt, and expenditures for land, buildings, and equipment are capitalized and stated at cost. Depreciation of the buildings and equipment is provided on a half-year convention basis over estimated useful lives of the assets, ranging from 3 to 40 years (leasehold improvements - length of the leasehold interest; building and improvements - 3 to 40 years; and furniture and equipment - 3 to 7 years). See Statement #7

Identifier: Officer Compensation

Reference: Form 990 Part V

Explanation: In addition to the compensation disclosed on Stmt #19, Mr. Wheeler has a severance agreement with the AHA, which provides for a maximum payment of $493,000 if certain conditions are met. The likelihood of meeting the conditions for full payment is remote. A more likely future severance payment would approximate $246,000.

Explanation of Grant Determination

Explanation of grant qualifications

Institutional Eligibility for Awards and Location of Work for Applicants/Awardees American Heart Association research awards must be limited to non-profit institutions. Such institutions include: medical, osteopathic and dental schools, veterinary schools, schools of public health, pharmacy schools, nursing schools, universities and colleges, public and voluntary hospitals and other non-profit institutions that can demonstrate the ability to conduct the proposed research. Applications will not be accepted for work with funding to be administered through any federal institution or work to be performed by a federal employee with the exception of Veterans Administration employees. The research committee should scrutinize the available resources as they relate to local, state or national needs (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 113). Individual Eligibility for Awards The principal investigator must hold a doctoral or appropriate advanced degree at the time the award is activated for fellowships and, for grants, at the time of application. Exceptions must be documented in writing by the research committee of reference and approved by the AHA Research Committee (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 82). The basic requirements of eligibility for all American Heart Association research programs, National Center or Affiliate are given below. PREDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS Post baccalaureate, predoctoral students seeking a PhD, MD, DO or equivalent degree who seek research training and experience under the supervision of a sponsor/mentor prior to embarking on a postgraduate research career (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 83). POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS Individuals who have obtained a PhD, MD, DO or equivalent degree by the time of award activation and who seek additional research training under the supervision of a sponsor/preceptor/mentor prior to embarking on a career of independent research. This award is not intended for individuals of faculty rank (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 86). BEGINNING GRANT-IN-AID Faculty/staff members initiating independent research careers. At application, applicants must hold an MD, PhD, DO or equivalent doctoral degree and must meet institutional requirements for grant submission. At activation, applicants must hold a faculty/staff rank up to and including Assistant Professor (or equivalent) (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 90). SCIENTIST DEVELOPMENT GRANT Individuals initiating independent research careers. At application, applicants must hold an MD, PhD, DO or equivalent doctoral degree and must meet institutional requirements for grant submission. At activation, applicant must hold a faculty/staff position. Applicant's faculty rank shall be up to and including Assistant Professor (or equivalent) at application. Applications may be submitted in the final year of a postdoctoral research fellowship or in the initial years of the independent research career. At time of award activation, no more than four years will have elapsed since applicant's first full-time faculty/staff appointment at the level of Assistant Professor or its equivalent (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 91). ESTABLISHED INVESTIGATOR AWARD M.D., Ph.D., D.O. or equivalent doctoral degree at application. Applicants must be faculty/staff members. At the time of award activation, the investigator must be at least four (4) years but no more than nine (9) years (i.e., eight years and 12 months) since the first faculty/staff appointment at the assistant professor level or equivalent (including, but not limited to, research assistant professor, research scientist, staff scientist, etc.). Instructor positions (or equivalent positions) do not count toward the four or nine years of eligibility. Must meet institutional requirements for grant submission at time of application. Applicant must have current national-level funding as principal investigator on an RO1 grant or its equivalent (e.g., VA Merit Award, NSF Grant, or PI on Program Project Grant from NIH). NIH "K" series awards are not considered equivalent to RO1. GRANT-IN-AID Faculty/staff members pursuing independent research at the time of application. At application, principal investigator must hold a PhD, MD, DO or equivalent doctoral degree and must meet institutional requirements for grant submission (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 96). SPECIAL AWARDS/PILOT PROGRAMS Eligibility is determined by an Affiliate or the National Center based upon special local or national circumstances. The funding component must request and receive approval from the AHA Research Committee to develop and implement a pilot research program for a limited period of time (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 106). Another Major Eligibility Requirement for Individuals is Citizenship Awards are made to principal investigators and trainees who are: (a) United States citizens, (b) foreign nationals holding permanent residence or certain other visa statuses, or (c) foreign nationals who have applied for permanent residency (form I-485 on file with U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services) and who have received authorization to legally remain in the U.S. (having filed an Application for Employment form I-765). The awardee must meet American Heart Association citizenship criteria throughout the duration of the award. Foreign nationals holding permanent residence or other appropriate visa statuses must submit documentation as required by the funding component (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 112). The National Center and each Affiliate Research Committee have the authority to add more restrictive eligibility criteria to a research award program. For example, a limitation may be placed on annual funding dollars from other sources. NATIONAL FELLOW-TO-FACULTY TRANSITION AWARD Physicians who hold an M.D., M.D./Ph.D., D.O. or equivalent doctoral degree at the time of application submission and who seek additional research training under the supervision of a sponsor/mentor

Explanation of grant qualifications

prior to embarking on a career of independent research. Applicants must be enrolled in or have completed an Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME)-approved residency or a clinical fellowship program associated with an ACGME-approved residency. Applicants must have completed the clinical portion of their training program by the time of award activation. It is the responsibility of the applicant to identify and work with a sponsor/mentor to develop the application. Candidates may have had no more than five (5) years of postdoctoral research training (beyond clinical training) at time of application. The award is not intended for individuals of faculty/staff rank. At the time of award activation, applicant may not hold a faculty/staff appointment. The exceptions are MD's or MD/PhD's with clinical responsibilities who hold a title of instructor or similar due to their patient care responsibilities but who devote at least 80% full time effort to research training. The mentor may hold an M.D., Ph.D., D.O. or other equivalent degree. Because of the strong mentoring component of this award and the importance of developing a meaningful relationship between awardee and mentor, an individual mentor may sponsor only one applicant to the program per year.

AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION INC

Description of Lobbying Activity

Explanation of Lobbying Activities

In support of its mission to reduce death and disability from cardiovascular diseases and stroke, the American Heart Association plans, coordinates and implements a public advocacy program. At the national level, this program includes maintaining and expanding contacts with members of Congress. Similar relationships are built by the 10 regional affiliates, advocating at the state and local levels. To guide its federal, state and local efforts, the Association establishes a public policy agenda by maintaining active partnership in health-related coalitions with other like-minded groups; media advocacy, including letters to the editor, op-ed pieces, advertorials and news conferences; monitoring and commenting on regulatory proposals; submitting testimony and statements for the record in response to proposed policy initiatives; maintaining an active volunteer grassroots network available to write, call and/or visit local, state and federal policymakers; and lobbying of state and federal legislative bodies. The Association encourages Congress and state legislatures to join the fight against heart disease and stroke, the number one and number three biggest killers of Americans, respectively. The Association's public policies fall into four distinct categories: Research - A top priority of the Association is to ensure that the Federal Government continues on the path of significantly increasing funding for the National Institutes of Health, including significant increases for heart and stroke research. Health Promotion and Disease Prevention - Research has clearly illustrated that tobacco use, lack of physical activity, obesity and poor nutrition are major risk factors for heart disease, stroke and other cardiovascular diseases. Research also demonstrates that much of the disease resulting from these behaviors can be prevented. The Association advocates for public policies aimed at addressing the risk factors related to heart disease and stroke. Quality and Availability of Care - The Association supports public policies that ensure all Americans have access to and coverage for quality health care, access to appropriate emergency cardiovascular and stroke care, and access to appropriate cardiovascular and stroke drugs, treatments and devices. Charitable organizations - The Association supports policies that encourage more Americans to make charitable contributions to the non-profit sector. In addition, the Association supports policies that preserve and enhance our ability to advocate the views of our volunteers before Congress and regulatory agencies. In addition, advocacy goals arise from the Association's ten-year Strategic Plan goal to reduce coronary heart disease, stroke and risk 25 percent by 2010.

Program Services

Achievement	Pgm. Svc. Exp.
Diseases, Disorders & Medical Disciplines, General: Research Support. The American Heart Association funds research at both the national and affiliate (regional) levels. Since the Association became a voluntary health organization in 1948, we have spent more than $2.8 billion dollars for projects that explore the prevention, detection and treatment of heart disease and stroke. Grants support projects, fellowships and investigatorships for research training or career development for a specific period of time. During the past year, the Association funded 1,130 new awards, including 562 grants and 568 fellowships. The American Heart Association invested $140.6 million in 2006-2007 to fund cardiovascular research. That was 23.2 percent of the Association's expenses for the fiscal year. The American Heart Association's research commitment over the past half century has helped lead to developments such as pacemakers, open-heart surgery, heart transplantation, clot-busting drugs and both automated external defibrillators and implantable defibrillators that can stop potentially fatal heart rhythm problems. Now scientists and professionals are gaining new insights into the workings of the cardiovascular system, including its genetic and cellular foundations, which will provide more answers on how to prevent and/or treat heart disease and stroke. (1130 new research awards)	$146,317,289.0
Grants and Allocations: $141,145,161.00 This amount includes foreign grants: Yes
Public Health Programs: Public Health Education. Informing all Americans about ways to reduce their risk of heart disease and stroke is another major objective of the American Heart Association. To do that, the Association spent $201.5 million, or 33.3 percent of all 2006-2007 expenses. Alliance for a Healthier Generation. This year, the American Heart Association continued its relationship with the Clinton Foundation to reduce childhood obesity. Working on a variety of children's health and obesity concerns, the association is encouraging healthier foods and increased physical activity in schools and encouraging kids to take charge of their health. Through its Healthy Schools Program, the Alliance worked with representatives of the beverage industry, including the American Beverage Association, to implement new guidelines to reduce the number of calories available to children at school. Under these guidelines, only lower calorie and nutritious beverages will be sold to schools. The guidelines will impact approximately 35 million students annually. In addition to implementing its partnership with Nickelodeon, the Alliance also created new partnerships with the National Basketball Association, the Channel One Network and Rachael Ray. Go Red For Women. During its fourth year, Go Red for Women kept the spotlight on heart disease as women's No. 1 killer. More than 447,000 women learned their risk for cardiovascular disease by taking the GRFW Heart CheckUp. More than 220 Go Red For Women luncheons were held across the United States and 10,500 companies participated in National Wear Red Day. New scientific guidelines for women were published in February 2006, American Heart Month. A national advertising campaign featuring GRFW launched in USA Today, and the program generated more than two billion media impressions, bringing the total number to more than six billion impressions since the movement began. The American Heart Association has increased the diversity of its staff and volunteers and continues to achieve diversity goals. The association is increasing public exposure to our programs related to healthcare disparities. Resources were allocated to significantly increase the amount of Spanish-language content available on the association Web site. Power To End Stroke. Power To End Stroke (PTES) is an aggressive education and awareness campaign that embraces and celebrates the culture, energy, creativity and lifestyles of African Americans. Through this campaign, the Association heightens awareness of the disproportionately high risk of stroke in the African American community. In 2006-2007 the campaign celebrated a successful year with a Power Awards Weekend in Atlanta, Georgia. The weekend consisted of an Ambassador Luncheon, Power Awards Gala and Power Sunday church service. Over 350 people participated in the weekend activities. The campaign has generated over 954 million media impressions and over 3.3 million pieces of educational campaign materials have been distributed. Start! is a new movement from the American Heart Association to help create a culture of physical activity in order to help Americans live longer, healthier lives. Start! works in tandem with the American workforce to help prioritize and foster a culture of physical activity and nutrition. Since its launch in January 2007, nearly 500 companies have applied to be recognized as Start! Fit-Friendly Companies, and over 30,000 individuals have registered for Start! Online. In addition, the movement has garnered over 4.5 billion media impressions	$201,475,932.0

association wide. Food Certification Program. The heart-check mark has become and remains the strongest, most visible nationwide food labeling program in the U.S. with 97 companies and almost 800 products displaying the mark. Consumers trust the heart-check mark and use it to easily and reliably select foods that are low in saturated fat and cholesterol. During FY 2006-07, the association highlighted the strength of the AHA science backing the heart-check mark with in-store health messaging and made enhancements to the program's quality assurance measures. Face the Fats was launched this year, a comprehensive consumer education campaign to help Americans understand dietary fats and their relationship to cardiovascular disease. The association and its experts were included in articles about trans fats resulting in 500 million media impressions. Consumer Publications. In 2006-07, the American Heart Association released the trade paperback version of American Heart Association No Fad Diet: A Personal Plan for Healthy Weight Loss and The New American Heart Association Cookbook, 7th Edition. We released two magazine cookbooks: Love Your Heart, which features the Go Red For Women campaign and Healthy Soul Food Recipes, which highlights the Power To End Stroke campaign. In all, the association offers over 15 titles available in various formats. Our publications and information about them reached nearly 98 million people during our fiscal year 2006-2007. Stroke. The American Stroke Association is finishing its tenth year within the American Heart Association. The goal of the American Stroke Association is to reduce stroke-related death and risk by 25 percent by 2010. To help improve prevention and treatment efforts, the American Stroke Association helped establish state stroke leadership committees to engage healthcare providers and coordinate a systematic approach to care along the entire stroke health continuum, from primary prevention through rehabilitation. The American Stroke Association is identifying high impact strategies and successes to share across states. It has laid the foundation to accelerate the improvement of stroke prevention, diagnosis and treatment. Customer Service. Call centers are the critical link between a company and its customers, therefore the association strives to anticipate, understand, meet and exceed our customers' needs and expectations. In 2006-2007, the National Service Center received a total of 449,058 incoming calls for the year, a 9 percent increase from last fiscal year. Specialists answered more than 365,216 toll-free telephone calls, 174,429 business reply cards, e-mails and letters. Communications. The American Heart Association worked with national and local news media outlets to present the latest news on cardiovascular disease and stroke to the public. Each media impression represents one person who read, viewed or heard a media report including information from the American Heart Association or American Stroke Association. More than 8.84 billion national and local media impressions were generated during 2006-2007. These impressions include coverage of cause initiatives, scientific journal articles, health communications, stroke, health disparities/cultural health and media advocacy. (8 billion media impressions)

Professional Education: Professional Education, Training and Quality. Research only becomes useful when its results are made available to other scientists and healthcare professionals. With medical advances being reported daily, these professionals need access to what is new in the battle against heart disease and stroke. In 2006-2007, the American Heart Association spent $76.9 million or 12.7 percent of the year's expenses for this purpose. Participant fees and corporate sponsorships offset these expenses. The highlight of this effort is the annual Scientific Sessions, the world's largest gathering of scientists, healthcare providers and others concerned about cardiovascular disease. The event, held in November 2006, drew nearly 27,000 people. Additional American Heart Association meetings held during 2006-2007 addressed quality of care, arteriosclerosis, stroke, epidemiology and high blood pressure. Emergency Cardiovascular Care (ECC) Programs. For nearly 25 years, the American Heart Association is a pioneer in the development of CPR training and a global leader in developing training materials used to teach basic and advanced life support techniques to lay rescuers and health care providers throughout the world. During 2006-2007, ECC programs were used to train more than 10.7 million people in the U.S. Get With the Guidelines. Launched in 2000, Get With The Guidelines (GWTG) is designed to help hospitals treat patients with evidenced-based medicine known to improve health outcomes. More than 1,400 hospitals across the country now participate in at least one of the program's three modules - coronary artery disease (CAD), heart failure (HF) and stroke. Scientific Journals. The American Heart Association reports the latest in cardiovascular research through its scientific and medical journals. Five journals were published in 2006-2007, with more than 90,000 subscriptions and approximately 4 million monthly online accesses. (10 million participants)

Community Medicine Programs: Community Programs. The American Heart Association provides community services at the local, state and national levels. To support this effort the Association spent $43.9 million in 2006-2007, which was 7.2 percent of expenses. Public Advocacy. In 2006-2007, our Advocacy

Department's You're the Cure nationwide grassroots network consisted of more than 200,000 volunteers - including doctors, scientists, parents, and heart disease and stroke survivors - actively involved in the organization's public policy agenda. These volunteer-advocates challenge their lawmakers to support policies that will advance the fight against heart disease and stroke and improve the health of all Americans. About 26,600 new advocates joined the network in FY 2006-07. Nearly 600 You're the Cure advocates from 49 states, Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C. on April 23-24, 2007 participated in the American Heart Association's Congressional Heart and Stroke Lobby Day to ask lawmakers for their support in reducing death and disability from heart disease and stroke. In 380 meetings, these advocates urged members of Congress to significantly increase funding for heart disease and stroke research and prevention supported by the National Institutes of Health and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and to co-sponsor the HEART for Women Act - bipartisan legislation aimed at improving the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of cardiovascular disease in women. The American Heart Association's advocacy efforts move the association closer to its goal of reducing heart disease, stroke and risk by 25 percent by the year 2010. It includes advocating before local, state and federal legislative and regulatory bodies on public policy issues such as women and cardiovascular disease, stroke, childhood obesity, funding for heart disease and stroke research and prevention, tobacco control and funding for the placement of automated external defibrillators in public places. Paid Advertising. From July 2006 to January 2007, the American Heart Association continued its national paid advertising campaign to increase awareness of the American Heart Association and bring more Americans to our Web site and toll-free telephone number to take the Learn and Live Quiz. The quiz provides potentially life saving information about the prevention and treatment of cardiovascular disease and stroke. In February 2007, the campaign re-launched with a new focus on three important health messaging platforms, women and heart disease and physical activity. Ads were featured in popular national magazines and on national television across the country. Public Service Announcements. The American Heart Association is sponsoring two national public service announcement campaigns developed and distributed in partnership with the Ad Council. One focuses on stroke awareness. The other focuses on healthy lifestyles and is co-sponsored by the American Cancer Society, American Diabetes Association and American Heart Association. Tracking surveys confirmed increases in awareness of stroke warning signs and what to do in the event of stroke. Surveys also indicated increased levels of public importance placed on the stroke and healthy lifestyles. The healthy lifestyles campaign continues to surpass goals related to number of times it is placed by the media. (200 thousand volunteers)

Explanation of Grant Determination

Explanation of grant qualifications

Institutional Eligibility for Awards and Location of Work for Applicants/Awardees American Heart Association research awards must be limited to non-profit institutions. Such institutions include: medical, osteopathic and dental schools, veterinary schools, schools of public health, pharmacy schools, nursing schools, universities and colleges, public and voluntary hospitals and other non-profit institutions that can demonstrate the ability to conduct the proposed research. Applications will not be accepted for work with funding to be administered through any federal institution or work to be performed by a federal employee with the exception of Veterans Administration employees. The research committee should scrutinize the available resources as they relate to local, state or national needs (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 42). Individual Eligibility for Awards The principal investigator must hold a doctoral or appropriate advanced degree at the time the award is activated for fellowships and, for grants, at the time of application. Exceptions must be documented in writing by the research committee of reference and approved by the AHA Research Committee (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 9). The basic requirements of eligibility for all American Heart Association research programs, National Center or Affiliate are given below. PREDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS Post baccalaureate, predoctoral students seeking a PhD, MD, DO or equivalent degree who seek research training and experience under the supervision of a sponsor/mentor prior to embarking on a postgraduate research career (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 10). POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS Individuals who have obtained a PhD, MD, DO or equivalent degree by the time of award activation and who seek additional research training under the supervision of a sponsor/preceptor/mentor prior to embarking on a career of independent research. This award is not intended for individuals of faculty rank (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 13). BEGINNING GRANT-IN-AID Faculty/staff members initiating independent research careers. At application, applicants must hold an MD, PhD, DO or equivalent doctoral degree and must meet institutional requirements for grant submission. At activation, applicants must hold a faculty/staff rank up to and including Assistant Professor (or equivalent) (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 18). SCIENTIST DEVELOPMENT GRANT Individuals initiating independent research careers. At application, applicants must hold an MD, PhD, DO or equivalent doctoral degree and must meet institutional requirements for grant submission. At activation, applicant must hold a faculty/staff position. Applicant's faculty rank shall be up to and including Assistant Professor (or equivalent) at application. Applications may be submitted in the final year of a postdoctoral research fellowship or in the initial years of the independent research career. At time of award activation, no more than four years will have elapsed since applicant's first full-time faculty/staff appointment at the level of Assistant Professor or its equivalent (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 20). ESTABLISHED INVESTIGATOR AWARD At time of application, faculty/staff members at the mid-level stages of their independent research careers. At application, applicants must hold an M.D., Ph.D., D.O. or equivalent doctoral degree and must meet institutional requirements for grant submission. At the time of award activation, the investigator must be at least four (4) years but no more than nine (9) years (i.e., eight years and 12 months) since the first faculty/staff appointment at the level of assistant professor or equivalent (including, but not limited to, research assistant professor, research scientist, staff scientist, etc.) Instructor positions (or equivalent positions) do not count toward the four or nine years of eligibility. Applicants must have current national-level funding as principal investigator on an R01 grant or its equivalent (e.g. VA Merit Award, NSF Grant, or PI on Program Project Grant from NIH). NIH "K" series awards are not considered equivalent to an R01 (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 22). GRANT-IN-AID Faculty/staff members pursuing independent research at the time of application. At application, principal investigator must hold a PhD, MD, DO or equivalent doctoral degree and must meet institutional requirements for grant submission (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 25). SPECIAL AWARDS/PILOT PROGRAMS Eligibility is determined by an Affiliate or the National Center based upon special local or national circumstances. The funding component must request and receive approval from the AHA Research Committee to develop and implement a pilot research program for a limited period of time (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 106). Another Major Eligibility Requirement for Individuals is Citizenship Awards are made to principal investigators and trainees who are: (a) United States citizens, (b) foreign nationals holding permanent residence or certain other visa statuses, or (c) foreign nationals who have applied for permanent residency (form I-485 on file with U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services) and who have received authorization to legally remain in the U.S. (having filed an Application for Employment form I-765). The awardee must meet American Heart Association citizenship criteria throughout the duration of the award. Foreign nationals holding permanent residence or other appropriate visa statuses must submit documentation as required by the funding component (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 112). The National Center and each Affiliate Research Committee have the authority to add more restrictive eligibility criteria to a research award program. For example, a limitation may be placed on annual funding dollars from other sources. NATIONAL FELLOW-TO-FACULTY TRANSITION AWARD * Physicians who hold an M.D., M.D./PhD.,

Explanation of grant qualifications

D.O. or equivalent doctoral degree at the time of application submission and who seek additional research training under the supervision of a sponsor/mentor prior to embarking on a career of independent research. * Applicants must be enrolled in or have completed an Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME)-approved residency or a clinical fellowship program associated with an ACGME-approved residency. * Applicants must have completed the clinical portion of their training program by the time of award activation. It is the responsibility of the applicant to identify and work with a sponsor/mentor to develop the application. * Candidates may have had no more than five (5) years of postdoctoral research training (beyond clinical training) at time of application. * The award is not intended for individuals of faculty/staff rank. * At the time of award activation, applicant may not hold a faculty/staff appointment. The exceptions are MD's or MD/PhD's with clinical responsibilities who hold a title of instructor or similar due to their patient care responsibilities but who devote at least 80% full time effort to research training. The mentor may hold an M.D., Ph.D., D.O. or other equivalent degree. Because of the strong mentoring component of this award and the importance of developing a meaningful relationship between awardee and mentor, an individual mentor may sponsor only one applicant to the program per year.

Description of Lobbying Activity

Explanation of Lobbying Activities

In support of its mission to build healthier lives, free of cardiovascular diseases and stroke, the American Heart Association plans, coordinates and implements a public advocacy program. This program represents less than 0.73% of the organization's total functionalized expenses. At the national level, this program includes maintaining and expanding contacts with Members of Congress. Similar relationships are built by the regional affiliates, advocating at the state and local levels. To guide its federal, state and local efforts, the Association implements a public policy agenda by maintaining active partnership in health-related coalitions with other like-minded groups; media advocacy, including letters to the editor, op-ed pieces, advertorials and news conferences; monitoring and commenting on regulatory proposals; submitting testimony and statements for the record in response to proposed policy initiatives; maintaining an active volunteer grassroots network available to write, call and/or visit local, state and federal policymakers; and lobbying of local, state and federal legislative bodies. The Association encourages Congress and state legislatures to join the fight against heart disease and stroke, the number one and number three biggest killers of Americans, respectively. The Association's public policies fall into four distinct categories: Research - A top priority of the Association is to ensure that the Federal Government continues on the path of significantly increasing funding for the National Institutes of Health, including significant increases for heart and stroke research. Health Promotion and Disease Prevention - Research has clearly illustrated that tobacco use, lack of physical activity, obesity and poor nutrition are major risk factors for heart disease, stroke and other cardiovascular diseases. Research also demonstrates that much of the disease resulting from these behaviors can be prevented. The Association advocates at the state and federal level for public policies aimed at addressing the risk factors related to heart disease and stroke. Quality and Availability of Care - The Association supports public policies at the state and federal level that ensure all Americans have access to and coverage for quality health care, access to appropriate emergency cardiovascular and stroke care, and access to appropriate cardiovascular and stroke drugs, treatments and devices. Charitable organizations - The Association supports policies that encourage more Americans to make charitable contributions to the non-profit sector. In addition, the Association supports policies that preserve and enhance our ability to advocate the views of our volunteers before Congress, State Legislatures, and state and federal regulatory agencies. In addition, advocacy goals arise from the Association's four-year Strategic Plan and Health Impact goal to reduce coronary heart disease, stroke and risk 25 percent by 2010.

Diseases, Disorders & Medical Disciplines, General: Research. The American Heart Association funds research at both the national and affiliate (regional) levels. Since the Association became a voluntary health organization in 1948, we have spent more than $2.9 billion dollars for projects that explore the prevention, detection and treatment of heart disease and stroke. Grants support projects, fellowships and investigatorships for research training or career development for a specific period of time. During the past year, the Association funded 1,157 new awards, including 560 grants and 597 fellowships. The American Heart Association invested $163.7 million in 2007-2008 to fund cardiovascular research. That was 24.5 percent of the Association's expenses for the fiscal year. The American Heart Association's research commitment over the past half century has helped lead to developments such as pacemakers, open-heart surgery, heart transplantation, clot-busting drugs and both automated external defibrillators and implantable defibrillators that can stop potentially fatal heart rhythm problems. Now scientists and professionals are gaining new insights into the workings of the cardiovascular system, including its genetic and cellular foundations, which will provide more answers on how to prevent and/or treat cardiovascular disease and stroke. Diseases, Disorders & Medical Disciplines, General: Public Health Education. Informing all Americans about ways to reduce their risk of heart disease and stroke is another major objective of the American Heart Association. To do that, the Association spent $240.0 million, or 36.0 percent of all 2007-2008 expenses. Alliance for a Healthier Generation. This year, the American Heart Association continued its joint initiative with the Clinton Foundation to stop the increase of childhood obesity in the United States by 2010 and reduce the prevalence of childhood obesity by 2015. The Alliance has four key initiatives: the industry initiative, Healthy Schools Program, a by kids, for kids movement (the Go Healthy Challenge), and healthcare initiatives. During the first year of implementation, the Alliance Beverage Guidelines resulted in a 45% decrease in full-calorie drink sales with a 23% increase in water sales in schools nationwide. These agreements are the first-ever voluntary guidelines for snacks and side items sold in schools that are providing healthier food choices for nearly 35 million American students. The Healthy Schools Program provides on-site support to 1,364 schools, up from 230 schools in 2007-2008, and online guidance to more than 1,500 schools, up from 900 schools at the end of last year. To-date, nearly 1 million kids across the country have engaged and taken the Go Healthy Challenge by making a commitment to learn about healthy lifestyles and committing to help themselves, their families, friends and communities make positive changes. Through our Kids' Movement the Alliance is making healthy lifestyles "cool" for kids through collaboration with media, celebrity and grassroots collaborators like Rachael Ray's Yum-O!, YMCA, NBA, Channel One, Camp Fire USA, and the Jewish Community Center Association. Go Red For Women. During its fifth year, Go Red for Women celebrated major milestones and embarked on new endeavors as it continued to spread the message about women's No. 1 killer, heart disease. * More than 650,000 women have joined the movement and 96 percent have taken positive steps to reduce their risk of heart disease. * More than 16 million red dress pins have been worn in support of Go Red For Women. * More than 1.4 million women have launched the Go Red Heart CheckUp. * More than 220 Go Red For Women luncheons were held across the country, raising approximately $35 million. * House Speaker Nancy Pelosi helped "Congress Go Red," supporting the HEART For Women Act, which has more than 270 co-sponsors in Congress. To drive awareness for American Heart Month and National Wear Red Day, Go Red For Women launched a new Web site and held its first-ever Nationwide Casting Call - a search for women to represent Go Red in 2008-2009. More than 700 survivors, family members, friends and heart health professionals shared their stories and nine were selected to represent the cause. Two of these women will be featured in a Go Red For Women television special with NBC produced by Peacock Productions - "Go Red For Women presents: Untold Stories of the Heart." In addition, Go Red For Women released a ranking of heart friendly cities for women in the United States, commissioning BestPlaces for this study. More than 460 local media outlets featured results from Go Red For Women's Heart Friendly Cities study. Overall, Go Red For Women has garnered more than 1.5 billion media impressions nationwide, bringing the total to more than 10 billion impressions over five years. Diversity. The American Heart Association has	$239,879,837.0

increased the diversity of its staff and volunteers and continues to achieve diversity goals. The association is increasing public exposure to our programs related to healthcare disparities. Two hundred thirty pages of widely used heart disease and stroke information has been translated into Spanish, Vietnamese and Simplified Chinese on the American Heart Association's Web site. Power To End Stroke. Power To End Stroke (PTES) is an aggressive education and awareness campaign that embraces and celebrates the culture, energy, creativity and lifestyles of African Americans. Through this campaign, the Association heightens awareness of the disproportionately high risk of stroke in the African American community. The 2007-2008 campaign celebrated a successful year with a Power Awards Weekend in Atlanta, Georgia. The weekend consisted of a Power Awards Gala, Ambassador Luncheon, Power Benefit Concert and Power Sunday Church Service. More than 350 people participated in the weekend activities. Since its inception, the campaign has been recognized for three marketing/PR Awards (Super Bell Award, PR Platinum Award and PR Week Award) and generated over 3.4 billion media impressions and over 4 million pieces of educational campaign materials have been distributed. Start! is an initiative from the American Heart Association to help create a culture of physical activity in order to help Americans live longer, healthier lives. Start! works in tandem with Corporate America to help prioritize and foster a culture of physical activity and wellness in the workplace. Since its launch in January 2007, nearly 700 companies have been recognized as Start! Fit-Friendly Companies, and over 50,000 individuals have registered for MyStart! Online, a free physical activity and nutrition tracking tool. The initiative's signature day, National Start! Walking Day, saw a 30 percent increase in participation in a single year, with thousands of Americans walking at least 30 minutes on a designated day in April to support the cause. In addition, the movement has garnered more than 9 billion media impressions association-wide. Food Certification Program. The heart-check mark has become and remains the strongest, most visible nationwide food labeling program in the U.S. with over 100 companies and more than 800 products displaying the mark. Consumers trust the heart-check mark and use it to easily and reliably select foods that are low in saturated fat and cholesterol. During FY 2007-08, the association highlighted the strength of the AHA science backing the heart-check mark with in-store health messaging and made enhancements to the program by adding a criterion for trans fat. The online grocery list builder was also improved to allow consumers to save their online grocery list for future use and download it to their Web-enabled mobile phone or PDA. The Face the Fats program introduced two new characters, The Better Fats Sisters - Mon and Poly - to help consumers learn more about the benefits of monounsaturated and polyunsaturated fats and the foods where they are found. The Sisters help consumers find comprehensive information about fats so that they can eat healthier in restaurants and use the better fats when preparing meals at home. The association and its experts were included in articles and broadcast news clips about dietary fats resulting in 250 million media impressions. Consumer Publications. In 2007-08, the American Heart Association released the trade paperback version of American Heart Association Low-Salt Cookbook, 3rd edition. We released two magazine cookbooks: Light& Easy Recipes, which features the Go Red For Women campaign and Healthy Soul Food Recipes, which highlights the Power To End Stroke campaign as well as hardcover gift editions of The Best of Healthy Soul Food Recipes and the Go Red for Women 5th Anniversary "Love Your Heart" Cookbook. In all, the association offers more than 15 titles available in various formats. Our publications and information about them reached nearly 35 million people during our fiscal year 2007-2008. Stroke. The goal of the American Stroke Association is to reduce stroke-related death and risk by 25 percent by 2010. To help improve prevention, diagnosis and treatment efforts, the American Stroke Association helped establish state stroke leadership committees to engage healthcare providers and coordinate a systematic approach to care along the entire stroke health continuum, which includes public awareness of symptoms and primary prevention, EMS transport and pre-hospital care, acute care, secondary prevention and rehabilitation/recovery. The American Stroke Association is identifying high impact strategies to support the continuum of care, and improving these strategies using the process of continuous quality improvement. Each state implements a stroke system plan and successes to share across states. It has laid the foundation to accelerate the improvement of stroke prevention, diagnosis and treatment. Diseases, Disorders & Medical Disciplines, General: Professional Education, Training and Quality. Research only becomes useful when its results are made available to other scientists and healthcare professionals. With medical advances being reported daily, these professionals need access to what is new in the battle against heart disease and stroke. In 2006-2007, the American Heart Association spent $79.3 million or 11.9 percent of the year's expenses for this purpose. Participant fees and corporate sponsorships offset these expenses. The highlight of this effort is the annual Scientific Sessions, the world's largest gathering of scientists, healthcare providers and others concerned about cardiovascular disease. The event, held in November 2007, drew nearly 26,000 people. Additional American Heart Association meetings held during 2007-2008 addressed quality of care, arteriosclerosis, stroke, epidemiology and high blood pressure. Emergency Cardiovascular Care (ECC) Programs. For nearly 25 years, the American Heart Association has been a pioneer in the development of CPR training. A global leader in emergency care, the American Heart Association teaches basic and advanced lifesaving skills to the general public and health care providers around the world. During 2007-2008, more than 10 million people in the U.S. were trained in ECC courses. The release of new products in the healthcare and commercial markets widened the reach of our training. In an effort to get more bystanders to take action and perform CPR, Hands-Only CPR was launched. This effort encourages people who witness someone suddenly collapse to call 9-1-1 and push hard and fast on the center of the chest until emergency help arrives. Get With the Guidelines. Launched in 2000, GWTG is a hospital based quality-improvement program designed to ensure that hospitals consistently care for cardiac and stroke patients following the most up-to-date guidelines and recommendations. The program provides three modules that address coronary artery disease, heart failure and stroke. Currently more than 1,450 hospitals use one or more GWTG modules - coronary artery disease (CAD), heart failure (HF) and stroke, and more than 1 million patient records have been entered since the programs inception. Scientific Journals. The American Heart Association reports the latest in cardiovascular research through its scientific and medical journals. Until 2007 AHA published five journals. However, in fiscal year 2007/2008 two of the additional six new journals launched and by the end of 2008 the AHA will be publishing 11 scientific journals. The journals have more than 100,000 subscriptions and approximately 4 million monthly online accesses. (26000 People attending Scientific Sessions)

Diseases, Disorders & Medical Disciplines, General: Community Programs. The American Heart Association provides community services at the local, state and national levels. To support this effort the Association spent $19.9 million in 2006-2007, which was 3.0 percent of expenses. Public Advocacy. In 2007-2008, our Advocacy Department's You're the Cure nationwide grassroots network consisted of more than 200,000 volunteers - including doctors, scientists, parents, and heart disease and stroke survivors - actively involved in the organization's public policy agenda. These volunteer-advocates challenge their lawmakers to support policies that will advance the fight against heart disease and stroke and improve the health of all Americans. About 40,000 new advocates joined the network in FY 2007-08. Nearly 700 You're the Cure advocates from 50 states, Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C. on April 28-29, 2008 participated in the American Heart Association's Congressional Heart and Stroke Lobby Day to ask lawmakers for their support in reducing death and disability from heart disease and stroke. In 390 meetings, these advocates urged members of Congress to significantly increase funding for heart disease and stroke research and prevention supported by the National Institutes of Health and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and to co-sponsor the Fitness Integrated with Teaching (FIT) Kids Act - bipartisan legislation aimed at making physical education a priority in public schools. The American Heart Association's advocacy efforts move the association closer to its goal of reducing heart disease, stroke and risk by 25 percent by the year 2010. It includes advocating before local, state and federal legislative and regulatory bodies on public policy issues such as women and cardiovascular disease, stroke, childhood obesity, funding for heart disease and stroke research and prevention, tobacco control and funding for the placement of automated external defibrillators in public places. Public Service Announcements. The American Heart Association is sponsoring a national public service announcement campaign that focuses on stroke awareness, which was developed and distributed in partnership with the Ad Council. The campaign has two major components, one reaching out to the general public and another focused on the African American community. Tracking surveys confirmed increases in awareness of stroke warning signs and what to do in the event of stroke among both audiences. Surveys also indicated increased levels of public importance placed on the stroke and healthy lifestyles. (200000 Volunteers)

Additional Explanations

Identifier: Depreciation MethodsReference: Form 990 Part II Line 42Explanation: Donated property and equipment is capitalized and recorded at fair value at date of receipt, and expenditures for land, buildings and equipment are capitalized and recorded at cost. Depreciation of the buildings and equipment is provided on a half-year convention basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets, ranging from 3 to 40 years (leasehold improvements - length of leasehold interest; buildings and improvements - 5 to 40 years; and furniture and equipment - 3 to 7 years). See Statement #7.Identifier: Officer Compensation - from Note 18Reference: Form 990 Part VExplanation: AHA has obtained a reasonableness opinion from an independent compensation firm that total remuneration provided to the CEO falls within a reasonable range of competitive practices for positions among like organizations providing like services, and is therefore reasonable. Also, Mr. Wheeler has a severance agreement with the AHA, which provides for a maximum payment of 50% of his base pay, if certain conditions are met.Identifier: States with which a copy of this return is filedReference: Form 990, Part VI, Line 90aExplanation: Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin

Explanation of Grant Determination

Explanation of grant qualifications

Institutional Eligibility for Awards and Location of Work for Applicants/Awardees. American Heart Association research awards must be limited to non-profit institutions. Such institutions include: medical, osteopathic and dental schools, veterinary schools, schools of public health, pharmacy schools, nursing schools, universities and colleges, public and voluntary hospitals and other non-profit institutions that can demonstrate the ability to conduct the proposed research. Applications will not be accepted for work with funding to be administered through any federal institution or work to be performed by a federal employee with the exception of Veterans Administration employees. The research committee should scrutinize the available resources as they relate to local, state or national needs. (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 46)Individual Eligibility for Awards The principal investigator must hold a doctoral or appropriate advanced degree at the time the award is activated for fellowships and, for grants, at the time of application. Exceptions must be documented in writing by the research committee of reference and approved by the AHA Research Committee. (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 10). The basic requirements of eligibility for all American Heart Association research programs, National Center or Affiliate are given below.  PREDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS Post baccalaureate, predoctoral students seeking a Ph.D., M.D., D.O., or equivalent degree who seek research training and experience under the supervision of a sponsor/mentor prior to embarking on a postgraduate research career. This award is not intended for individuals who have already attained a doctoral degree, unless the individual is pursuing a second doctoral degree (example: M.D. who is seeking a Ph.D.). (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 11). POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS Individuals who have obtained a Ph.D., M.D., D.O. or equivalent degree by the time of award activation and who seek additional research training under the supervision of a sponsor/preceptor/mentor prior to embarking on a career of independent research. This award is not intended for individuals of faculty rank. Exception: MD's or MD/PhD's with clinical responsibilities who need instructor or similar title to see patients, but who devote at least 80% full-time to research training. (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 14). CLINICAL RESEARCH PROGRAM Health care professionals with a Masters, M.D., D.O. or Ph.D. degree. Individuals who have held NIH RO1 grants or American Heart Association grant-in-aid awards (or equivalent awards) are not eligible to be the principal investigator. (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 17) BEGINNING GRANT-IN-AID Faculty/staff members initiating independent research careers. At application, applicants must hold an M.D., Ph.D., D.O. or equivalent doctoral degree and must meet institutional requirements for grant submission. At activation, applicants must hold a faculty/staff rank up to and including Assistant Professor (or equivalent). (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 19) SCIENTIST DEVELOPMENT GRANT Individuals initiating independent research careers. At application, applicants must hold an M.D., Ph.D., D.O. or equivalent doctoral degree and must meet institutional requirements for grant submission. At activation, applicant must hold a faculty/staff position. Applicant's faculty rank shall be up to and including Assistant Professor (or equivalent) at application. Applications may be submitted in the final year of a postdoctoral research fellowship or in the initial years of the independent research career. At time of award activation, no more than four years will have elapsed since applicant's first full-time faculty/staff appointment at the level of assistant professor or its equivalent. A pivotal requirement is the demonstration that the award will promote independent status for the applicant. Applicant shall have received no prior national-level grant as of time of Scientist Development Grant activation. (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 21-22) ESTABLISHED INVESTIGATOR AWARD At time of application, faculty/staff members at the mid-level stages of their independent research careers. At application, applicants must hold an M.D., Ph.D., D.O. or equivalent doctoral degree and must meet institutional requirements for grant submission. At the time of award activation, the investigator must be at least four (4) years but no more than nine (9) years (i.e., eight years and 12 months since the first faculty/staff appointment at the level of assistant professor or equivalent (including, but not limited to, research assistant professor, research scientist, staff scientist, etc.) Instructor positions (or equivalent positions) do not count toward the four or nine years of eligibility. Applicants must have current national-level funding as principal investigator on an R01 grant or its equivalent (e.g. VA Merit Award, NSF Grant, or PI on Program Project Grant from NIH). NIH "K" series awards are not considered equivalent to an R01. (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 24) GRANT-IN-AID Faculty/staff members conducting independent research at time of application. At application, principal investigator must hold an M.D., Ph.D., D.O. or equivalent doctoral degree and must meet institutional requirements for grant submission. (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 26) SPECIAL AWARDS/PILOT PROGRAMS Eligibility is determined by an Affiliate or the National Center based upon special local or national circumstances. The funding component must request and receive approval from the AHA Research Committee to develop and implement a pilot research program for a limited period of time (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 39). NATIONAL FELLOW-TO-FACULTY TRANSITION AWARD * Physicians who hold an M.D., M.D./PhD., D.O. or equivalent doctoral degree at the time of application submission and who seek additional research training under the supervision of a sponsor/mentor prior to embarking on a career of independent research. * Applicants must be enrolled in or have completed an Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME)-approved residency or a clinical fellowship program associated with an ACGME-approved residency. * Applicants must have completed the clinical portion of their training program by the time of award activation. It is the responsibility of the applicant to identify and work with a sponsor/mentor to develop the application. * Candidates may have had no more than five (5) years of postdoctoral research training (beyond clinical training) at time of application. * The award is not intended for individuals of faculty/staff rank. * At the time of award activation, applicant may not hold a faculty/staff appointment. The exceptions are MD's or MD/PhD's with clinical responsibilities who hold a title of instructor or similar due to their patient care responsibilities but who devote at least 80% full time effort to research training. The mentor may hold an M.D., Ph.D., D.O. or other equivalent degree. Because of the strong mentoring component of this award and the importance of developing a meaningful relationship between awardee and mentor, an individual mentor may sponsor only one applicant to the program per year. Another Major Eligibility Requirement for Individuals is Citizenship Awards are made to principal investigators and trainees who are: (a) United States citizens or (b) foreign nationals holding permanent residence or certain other visa statuses or (c) foreign nationals who have applied for permanent residency (form I-485 on file with U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services) and who have received authorization to legally remain in the U.S. (having filed an Application for Employment from I-765). Awardee must meet American Heart Association citizenship criteria throughout the durations of the award. Foreign nationals holding permanent residence or other appropriate visa statuses must submit documentation as required by the funding component. (Standards and Guidelines, Appendix G, page 45) The National Center and each Affiliate Research Committee have the authority to add more restrictive eligibility criteria to a research award program. For example, a limitation may be placed on annual funding dollars from other sources.

AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION INC

Description of Lobbying Activity

Explanation of Lobbying Activities

In support of its mission to build healthier lives, free of cardiovascular diseases and stroke, the American Heart Association plans, coordinates and implements a public advocacy program. American Heart Association's lobbying expenditures constitute 0.654% of its total expenses. At the national level, this program includes maintaining and expanding contacts with Members of Congress. Similar relationships are built by the regional affiliates, advocating at the state and local levels. To guide its federal, state and local efforts, the Association implements a public policy agenda by maintaining active partnership in health-related coalitions with other like-minded groups; media advocacy, including letters to the editor, op-ed pieces, advertorials and news conferences; monitoring and commenting on regulatory proposals; submitting testimony and statements for the record in response to proposed policy initiatives; maintaining an active volunteer grassroots network available to write, call and/or visit local, state and federal policymakers; and lobbying of local, state and federal legislative bodies. The Association encourages Congress and state legislatures to join the fight against heart disease and stroke, the number one and number three biggest killers of Americans, respectively. The Association's public policies fall into nine distinct categories: Heart Disease and Stroke Research - A top priority of the Association is to ensure that the Federal Government continues on the path of significantly increasing funding for the National Institutes of Health, including significant increases for heart and stroke research. Health Promotion and Disease Prevention - Research has clearly illustrated that tobacco use, lack of physical activity, obesity and poor nutrition are major risk factors for heart disease, stroke and other cardiovascular diseases. Research also demonstrates that much of the disease resulting from these behaviors can be prevented. The Association advocates at the state and federal level for public policies aimed at addressing the risk factors related to heart disease and stroke. Health Disparities - The Association works to reduce healthcare disparities in heart disease, stroke and associated risk. Activities are aimed at increasing awareness, promoting research, and improving quality and access to care to reduce disparities among women and minority populations. Obesity Prevention - Obesity is a major modifiable risk factor for cardiovascular diseases. State and federal advocacy efforts focus on promoting quality physical and health education, increased physical activity opportunities, strong nutrition policies and research to effectively treat and prevent obesity, especially in children. Tobacco Control - The Association works to reduce tobacco use - particularly among children and youth - and reduce exposure to secondhand smoke in order to lower the incidence of cardiovascular diseases. The Association supports efforts to fund educational programs, to establish smoke-free public places, and to regulate the manufacture, sale, distribution, labeling and promotion of tobacco products. Quality and Availability of Care - The Association supports public policies at the state and federal level that ensure all Americans have access to and coverage for quality health care, access to appropriate emergency cardiovascular and stroke care, and access to appropriate cardiovascular and stroke drugs, treatments and devices. Stroke - Access to quality stroke care, including prevention, treatment and rehabilitation services, is a priority of the American Heart Association and its division the American Stroke Association. Advocacy activities are aimed at promoting the development and implementation of the essential elements of stroke systems of care. Chain of Survival - A strong emergency response system is a critical factor in saving the lives of victims of heart attack, cardiac arrest and stroke. Advocacy efforts are aimed at promoting all components of the Chain of Survival, including funding for the purchase of automated external defibrillators (AEDs). Charitable organizations - The Association supports policies that encourage more Americans to make charitable contributions to the non-profit sector. In addition, the Association supports policies that preserve and enhance our ability to advocate the views of our volunteers before Congress, State Legislatures, and state and federal regulatory agencies.

OVERVIEW

IN 1999, THE AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION PUT FORTH ITS 2010 STRATEGIC GOAL OF REDUCING THE DEATH RATES FROM CORONARY HEART DISEASE AND STROKE, AS WELL AS THEIR RISK FACTORS, BY 25 PERCENT. SINCE THEN, ALL OF THE ORGANIZATION'S EFFORTS AND DECISIONS HAVE BEEN DRIVEN TOWARD MAKING THIS HAPPEN. AS THE DECADE CLOSES, THE ASSOCIATION IS REPORTING A 35.7 PERCENT REDUCTION IN THE DEATH RATE FROM CORONARY HEART DISEASE AND A 32.5 PERCENT REDUCTION IN THE DEATH RATE FROM STROKE. BASED ON NHANES AND NHIS DATA, THE ASSOCIATION CAN ALSO REPORT REDUCTIONS IN UNCONTROLLED HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE (27.7 PERCENT), PREVALENCE OF HIGH CHOLESTEROL (22.1 PERCENT), PREVALENCE OF SMOKING (19.8 PERCENT) AND A REDUCTION IN THOSE NOT ENGAGED IN MODERATE OR VIGOROUS PHYSICAL ACTIVITY (8.8 PERCENT). THESE ARE LANDMARK ACHIEVEMENTS RESULTING FROM TREMENDOUS EFFORTS IN THE AREA OF RESEARCH, HEALTHCARE, GOVERNMENT, BUSINESS AND COMMUNITIES.

THE AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION'S PROGRAMS FALL INTO FOUR CATEGORIES: RESEARCH SUPPORT, PUBLIC EDUCATION, PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION AND COMMUNITY PROGRAMS.

DURING THE SECOND YEAR OF IMPLEMENTATION, THE ALLIANCE SCHOOL BEVERAGE AGREEMENT RESULTED IN 58 PERCENT FEWER BEVERAGE CALORIES THAT HAVE BEEN SHIPPED TO SCHOOLS ACROSS THE UNITED STATES. ALLIANCE SCHOOL BEVERAGE, DAIRY AND COMPETITIVE FOOD AGREEMENTS ARE THE FIRST-EVER VOLUNTARY GUIDELINES FOR SNACKS AND SIDE ITEMS SOLD IN SCHOOLS THAT ARE PROVIDING HEALTHIER FOOD CHOICES FOR NEARLY 35 MILLION AMERICAN STUDENTS. THE HEALTHY SCHOOLS PROGRAM PROVIDES ON-SITE SUPPORT TO OVER 5,000 SCHOOLS IN ALL 50 STATES, UP FROM APPROXIMATELY 1,300 SCHOOLS IN 2008. IN AUGUST 2009 THE ALLIANCE AND ROBERT WOOD JOHNSON FOUNDATION RECOGNIZED 114 SCHOOLS ACROSS THE COUNTRY FOR OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENTS TOWARDS CREATING HEALTHIER SCHOOL ENVIRONMENTS. INCREASING NUMBERS OF SCHOOLS ARE CURRENTLY REPORTING THAT THEY ARE MEETING REQUIREMENTS FOR THESE AWARDS, AND BASED ON THIS PROGRESS, THERE WILL BE A SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF SCHOOLS RECOGNIZED IN 2010. CONFLICT OF INTEREST POLICY

THE AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION, ITS AFFILIATES AND COMPONENTS, AND ALL OFFICERS, DIRECTORS, DELEGATES, COUNCIL AND COMMITTEE MEMBERS SCRUPULOUSLY SHALL AVOID ANY CONFLICT BETWEEN THEIR OWN RESPECTIVE PERSONAL, PROFESSIONAL OR BUSINESS INTERESTS AND THE INTERESTS OF THE ASSOCIATION, IN ANY AND ALL ACTIONS TAKEN BY THEM ON BEHALF OF THE ASSOCIATION IN THEIR RESPECTIVE CAPACITIES.

In the event that any Officer, Director, Delegate, Council or Committee member of the Association shall have any direct or indirect interest in, or relationship with, any individual or organization which proposes to enter into any transaction with the Association, including but not limited to transactions involving:

- a. the sale, purchase, lease or rental of any property or other asset;
- b. employment, or rendition of services, personal or otherwise;
- c. the award of any grant, contract, or subcontract;
- d. the investment or deposit of any funds of the Association;

such person shall give notice of such interest or relationship and shall thereafter refrain from discussing or voting on the particular transaction in which he has an interest, or otherwise attempting to exert any influence on the Association, or its components to affect a decision to participate or not participate in such transaction.

(Approved by AHA Board of Directors and Delegate Assembly, June 1986)

AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION CONFLICT OF INTEREST STANDARDS

I. PURPOSE:

The purpose of these standards is to protect the integrity of AHA's decision-making processes, the public's confidence in AHA, and the image of AHA. Importantly, these standards also are intended to protect the reputation and honor of AHA's volunteers and staff.

It is acknowledged and desired that volunteers have myriad relationships, interests, and memberships. These conflict of interest standards serve to provide guidelines to volunteers in areas or in situations that potentially may affect or compromise the integrity and independence of AHA's decision-making processes, confidence in AHA or AHA's reputation. Such situations frequently also are sensitive or uncomfortable for the individuals involved.

The volunteers and staff are persons of honesty and integrity and do not need to be provided by AHA with a code of ethics. However, there is value in providing guidelines as a tool to understand AHA's conflict of interest policy, recognize situations potentially posing a conflict of interest, take appropriate remedial action, and otherwise cope with complex relationships.

As guidelines, these standards are not to be considered as complete or exclusive. They are supplements to good judgment. They may be elaborated upon or applied in specific additional situations not particularized herein.

II. STANDARD:

The standard of behavior is that all volunteers shall scrupulously avoid any conflict of interest between the volunteer's personal, professional and business interests, and the interests of AHA.

That includes scrupulously avoiding actual conflicts of interest and, also, perceptions of conflicts of interest.

That includes avoiding actual unfair benefits and, also, opportunities for benefit or gain.

That includes avoiding conflicts, benefits, gains, or undue influence for the volunteer's personal or professional benefit and, also, for the benefit of the volunteer's family--whether or not in the household--employer, and close friends and business associates.

That includes avoiding a gain to the volunteer and others and, also, a detriment or harm to AHA.

What is required is meticulous adherence to and rigorous compliance with both the letter and the spirit of the conflict of interest policy and standards. The volunteer is to act for and in the best interests of AHA, independent and impartial from external or personal interests and considerations.

III. DISCLOSURE:

Upon or before election or appointment, the volunteer is to make a full and complete written disclosure of interests, memberships, relationships, arrangements, investments and holdings that potentially could result in a conflict between the volunteer's personal, professional or business interests--or those of the volunteer's immediate family or employer--and the interests of AHA.

This written disclosure is to be updated by the volunteer whenever any material changes occur in the volunteer's situation. In any event, the disclosure questionnaire is to be completed annually during the term of a volunteer's active service unless otherwise material changes are made within the term.

In the course of AHA meetings or activities, the volunteer is to disclose any direct or indirect interests in a transaction or decision that potentially could be a conflict of interest; e.g., whenever the volunteer, family, employer or close associates will receive a benefit or gain, or an opportunity or potential for benefit arises, or an opportunity for unfair influence arises, or an opportunity for detriment or harm to AHA or for benefit or gain to a third party at AHA's expense arises.

Failure to submit a written disclosure results in disqualification of a volunteer from service on an AHA board, committee, task force, writing group or other group; from service in an AHA office or position; or from publication or presentation at an AHA conference. For a staff person, failure to submit a written disclosure results in disqualification from AHA employment. A reasonably credible allegation that a person has not made a full or correct disclosure will be investigated under the oversight of the AHA General Counsel and appropriate remedies or sanctions taken.

Volunteers should err on the side of prudence, and declare an actual or potential conflict if in doubt as to a relationship or interest. This will prevent tainting the decision, and the reputation and integrity of AHA and its volunteers.

IV. ABSTENTION:

Once a disclosure has been made, the volunteer shall refrain from any discussion of the transaction or decision in the particular committee, group, or task force. Further, the volunteer shall physically leave the meeting for the duration of that discussion. Of course, the volunteer is to abstain from voting on the issue. Such abstention from discussion and voting is to be documented appropriately.

Besides abstention from discussion at the meeting, the volunteer shall refrain from discussing the issue or otherwise appearing to influence the outcome with other volunteers, committees or groups, or with staff.

The objective is that the interested volunteer shall have abstained from discussion, voting, and any other aspect of influencing or participating in the decision-making process.

V. IMPLICATIONS:

A volunteer with potential conflicts of interest generally is not barred from membership on committees, participation in activities, or service in an office of AHA. An interested volunteer is barred from the decision-making process and related discussions, and must leave the meeting.

A volunteer's employer generally is not automatically barred from any financial transactions or business dealings with AHA. An interested volunteer must disclose the direct or indirect interest, abstain from all related discussions, actions to influence, and voting. In some cases, it may be necessary or desirable to bar a particular transaction with the volunteer's employer or interested party to safeguard against an actual or perceived conflict and thereby protect the integrity of AHA and the volunteer. (See section IX. Officers and Journal Editors and section X. Officers and Budget/Audit Committee Members hereinbelow for specific exceptions requiring a bar against transactions with volunteers' employers.)

A volunteer's investments or holdings generally do not automatically need to be divested or placed in a blind trust agreement. Divestiture, a blind trust or similar arrangement--or, alternately, a volunteer's ineligibility for or declination of a position, editorship, assignment, or office--in some cases may be necessary or desirable as the only reasonably appropriate or available remedy in a particular situation to safeguard against an actual or perceived conflict and thereby protect the integrity of AHA and the volunteer. (See section IX. Officers and Journal Editors hereinbelow for specific exceptions requiring divestiture, a blind trust or similar arrangement.)

A volunteer may not in every case always be able to completely avoid the perception of a conflict of interest, undue influence or unfair benefit. A volunteer must act prudently in every case to avoid actual conflicts of interest, undue influence or unfair benefit, and also to make every reasonable effort to avoid a perception thereof. To accomplish this, a volunteer will exercise good judgment, and act reasonably and prudently. Further, the volunteer will provide timely, full and complete disclosure of actual or potential conflicts, abstain from discussion, influencing activities and voting, and provide adequate supporting documentation as necessary.

VI. GIFTS & HONORARIA:

Volunteers while acting in the capacity of an AHA representative or volunteer shall not solicit or accept for their personal, professional or business gain gifts, gratuities, honoraria, entertainment, favors or other goods or services from current or prospective vendors, providers of services, corporate partners, or competitors of AHA.

This does not prohibit volunteers in their personal or professional capacity, or their employers, from having relationships with the same organizations or persons who are current or prospective vendors, providers of services, corporate partners, or competitors of AHA. In such instances, the volunteer shall take all prudent and reasonable measures to distinguish actions and decisions made personally, professionally, or business-wise from the volunteer's relationship to or position in AHA. In such instances, the volunteer when acting in the capacity of an AHA volunteer, shall make full and complete disclosure and abstention, and otherwise comply with these standards.

This does not prohibit the acceptance of travel costs, meals or other expenses normally paid for by AHA that are related to the conduct of AHA business or activities from being paid by the current or prospective vendors, providers of services, corporate partners or competitors of AHA. This does not prohibit the acceptance of gifts or tokens of nominal or insignificant value that may be customarily given in the course of proper business conduct, such as pens, mugs, calendars, paperweights, and items of food or clothing. Good judgment must be used to avoid actual or perceived conflicts of interest or undue influence when acting on behalf of AHA.

VII. SELF-DEALING TRANSACTIONS:

While a volunteer or a volunteer's employer generally is not automatically prohibited from financial transactions or business dealings with AHA, volunteers are to scrupulously avoid actual or perceived conflicts of interest, unfair benefit, personal gain, or undue influence in dealings or transactions with AHA. As a general matter, a volunteer or volunteer's employer may engage in dealings with AHA if the volunteer does not participate in the discussion or voting or otherwise participate in the decision-making or selection process, and the selection is an open, competitive process or through peer review.

In some instances, it may be necessary or reasonable to bar a particular transaction with a volunteer, volunteer's employer or business associates to safeguard against reasonable perceptions of conflict of interest. (See sections IX and X hereinbelow for specific exceptions requiring a bar of transactions with a volunteer's employer.)

VIII. OVERLAPPING MEMBERSHIPS:

Memberships of its volunteers in other organizations or groups is one attribute of value to AHA. Such memberships, liaisons, relationships or interests that could pose a potential conflict of interest, of course, are to be fully disclosed by the volunteer.

When a volunteer is a director, committee member, or other active participant in another organization, the volunteer will not disclose or use confidential or proprietary information of AHA or otherwise make disclosures that could be injurious or disadvantageous to AHA.

In some relatively few instances, though, being a director or member of another group may be incompatible with being an AHA officer or journal editor. This is more likely to occur when there exists fundamentally opposing positions or purposes between AHA and the other organization, or when there is an inherent conflict of interest, such as between being an AHA journal editor while having substantial ties to a pharmaceutical or biomedical device manufacturer in a field related to the journal's topic.

IX. OFFICERS AND JOURNAL EDITORS:

Individuals are to be advised of and are to comply with AHA conflict of interest policy requirements, including full and complete disclosure, before being appointed or elected as officers or journal editors. By virtue of their positions, officers and journal editors must be especially sensitive to the issue of actual or perceived conflicts of interest and must be especially rigorous in acting to avoid them.

Therefore, journal editors and officers shall not have significant relationships that result in actual or reasonably perceived conflicts of interest. The conflict of interest review committee (see sections XI and XII hereinbelow) shall make a determination whether significant potential for conflict of interest exists and, if so, recommend an appropriate remedy. The review committee will make a determination on the basis of the substantiality--i.e., number, frequency, duration, amount, relatedness to AHA responsibilities, etc.--of such relationships, and whether they in their entirety result in an actual or reasonably perceived conflict of interest.

Journal editors shall not during their terms have significant relationships to pharmaceutical companies, biomedical companies or biomedical device manufacturers, or other corporations, including their subsidiaries or components, whose products or services are reasonably directly related to the topic area or field of the journal. Disqualifying significant relationships could include, but not be limited to: significant or multiple honoraria or fees, consultancies, board or advisory council memberships, or employment; holding significant stock or other forms of investment or ownership; otherwise being associated with the company or its products; or serving as editor, co-editor, or associate editor to another journal with an overlapping topic, or in a position having responsibility for acceptance of papers for publication and/or responsibility for policy decisions for that journal.

Should the prospective journal editor have significant stock, investments or other holdings in a pharmaceutical company, biomedical company or biomedical device manufacturer, or other corporation whose products or services are reasonably directly related to the journal's topic, then divestiture, a blind trust or similar arrangement, removal from the review of articles related to stipulated topics, or other appropriate remedy in the determination of the review committee will be required before the individual is appointed as journal editor.

Should the prospective journal editor have other potentially disqualifying significant relationships, an appropriate remedy will be required before the individual is appointed as journal editor. Employment by a pharmaceutical company, biomedical company, biomedical device manufacturer, or other corporation whose products or services are reasonably directly related to the journal's topic is deemed to be a conflict of interest.

X. OFFICERS AND BUDGET/AUDIT COMMITTEE MEMBERS

By virtue of their positions, officers and members of budget and finance committees, audit committees, investment committees, and similar committees having financial responsibilities must be especially sensitive to the issue of actual or perceived conflicts of interest, and must be especially rigorous in acting to avoid them.

During their terms, officers' and budget/audit committee members' employers are barred from financial transactions or business dealings with AHA when the specific decision or recommendation on that particular transaction is recommended or approved by the officers or by the budget/audit committees. To do otherwise would result in a virtually irrebuttable perceived conflict of interest.

This is a narrowly drawn requirement prohibiting dealings with officers' and budget/audit committee members' employers during their terms only in commercial, business or financial transactions decided by the officers or budget/audit committees. As an example, if an officer's or budget/audit committee member's employer were an accounting firm, bank, law firm, investment manager, insurance broker or carrier, real estate developer or builder, that employer would be barred from being retained for a fee to provide accounting, auditing, legal, investment, insurance, real estate, or construction services--services that are decided specifically by the officers or budget/audit committees.

If an officer's or budget/audit committee member's employer provided goods or services of a nature whereby the transaction is not specifically recommended or approved by the officers or budget/audit committee, then there is not a prohibition. As examples, those employers would not be barred from business or financial transactions such as participation in a corporate promotion approved by a development committee, or a public education program delivery arrangement approved by an education/program committee, or a media materials production agreement approved by a communications committee, or an office supply or computer software sales agreement approved by a staff group. In each of these examples, the officers or budget/audit committee members must not have participated in or influenced the decision-making process which, itself, must have been an open, competitive process.

Regarding research grants and awards particularly, the employing institutions of officers and budget/audit committee members are not barred from receiving AHA research grants and awards. This presumes that the grant/award was selected for funding through the customary AHA peer review process, in full compliance with the peer review conflict of interest provisions, and that the interested officers or budget/audit committee members did not participate in the peer review process.

(In some of these examples, the budget committee may be required as part of a formal budget process to approve the recommendations made by the other committees or groups. Such a pro forma approval requirement will not result in a bar of employers of budget committee members, however, the interested budget committee member must make the required disclosure and abstention, thus removing the member from the budget committee's approval of the other committee's recommendation.)

Employers of officers and budget/audit committee members would not be barred from providing donated goods or services, nor would they be barred from a non-commercial or non-financial recognition or award by AHA.

XI. REVIEW COMMITTEE:

A conflict of interest review committee shall be established to advise Corporate Counsel on conflict of interest matters, and respond to questions or make recommendations regarding conflict of interest issues and interpretations of policy and these standards. Also, the review committee shall review nominees for officers and journal editors relative to conflicts of interest as specified hereinbelow.

Appeals from any determination or recommendation of the review committee may be forwarded to the AHA Board of Directors by any volunteer who is affected by a recommendation of the review committee.

The Board of Directors may decline to accept any appeal thereby leaving the recommendation of the review committee in effect, may act positively to affirm a recommendation of the review committee, may request the review committee to reconsider its recommendation, or may substitute its own recommendation for that of the review committee if the Board believes the review committee acted arbitrarily or unreasonably.

The review committee shall be comprised of two to four past chairmen and past presidents of AHA, with an equal number of past chairmen and presidents, appointed by the Board upon recommendation of the Officers for one staggered term of three years; Chairman of the Scientific Publishing Committee; Corporate Counsel; and Internal Auditor.

XII. PROCEDURE:

Upon election or appointment to the board, a committee, subcommittee, task force, working group, editorship, officership, or other AHA group or position, all volunteers shall be provided with: the AHA conflict of interest policy, disclosure questionnaire, sample abstention form, and these standards.

Volunteers shall complete the disclosure questionnaire providing full and complete disclosure of interests, memberships, relationships, arrangements, investments and holdings that potentially could result in a conflict between the volunteer's personal, professional or business interests--and those of the volunteer's immediate family or employer--and the interests of AHA. The volunteer shall return the completed questionnaire to the National Center with the volunteer's notification of acceptance of the appointment or nomination for election. The volunteer shall keep a copy of the questionnaire for reference, and shall provide updates to the National Center whenever material changes occur in the volunteer's situation. In any event, the questionnaire is to be fully re-examined or completed annually during the volunteer's active term of service.

For officer nominees (designated by the Nominating and Awards Committee as nominees for election by the Delegate Assembly) and journal editor candidates (designated for appointment by the Scientific Publishing Committee) before election or appointment, the volunteer shall complete the disclosure questionnaire which shall be reviewed by the review committee for a determination of whether significant potential for conflicts of interest exists and, in such case, for recommendation of a remedy that must be accepted before election or appointment, otherwise the volunteer will be disqualified from service. (Regarding journal editor candidates, the Chairman of the Scientific Publishing Committee and staff Vice President of Communications and Publications, or their designees, shall make a preliminary review and a recommendation to the review committee.)

For other members of the board, committees, council executive committees, subcommittees, task forces or working groups, the completed disclosure questionnaire shall be reviewed annually by the staff responsible for that group to identify potential conflicts of interest in regard to the anticipated activities of that group. The staff shall advise or consult with the group's chairman as necessary or desirable so that the chairman is aware of potential conflicts of interest regarding agenda items being considered by that group, and can act appropriately to facilitate proper disclosure and abstention by volunteers having an actual or potential conflict.

At the first meeting of the fiscal year, the chairman of each group shall remind members of the need to make any material changes to the conflict of interest disclosure questionnaire.

At every meeting, the chairman shall advise members of the conflict of interest policy and procedures, including the requirement for disclosure of a conflict whenever the volunteer has a direct or indirect interest in an issue, abstention from discussion--including leaving the room and refraining from any activities to influence the outcome--and from voting. If disclosure and abstention occurs, the record of abstention form is to be completed by the volunteer and filed with the original copy of the minutes. The agenda and the minutes of each meeting shall reflect the review of and compliance with the conflict of interest policy and procedures.

At meetings of groups sponsored jointly by AHA and another organization, a comparable conflict of interest procedure shall be followed, whether it be the policy and procedures of AHA or of the other organization.

Regarding officers; members of the board of directors; members of budget/finance, investment, and audit committees; journal editors; or other categories of volunteers identified by Corporate Counsel or the review committee who are responsible for recommending or approving significant expenditures, benefits, property or other rights, entitlements, licenses, relationships, or standards or criteria with application beyond AHA: they shall be required annually to sign a form acknowledging receipt, understanding, and compliance with the AHA conflict of interest policy and standards.

Regarding spokespersons or representatives of AHA, or others who are selected by AHA to make statements or presentations in open forums, they shall be provided with a copy of the AHA conflict of interest policy and, as appropriate or desirable in the circumstances, a copy of these standards or other obligations or restrictions. The appropriate chairman or committee, or the responsible staff, shall make a determination whether, because of the duration or visibility of the activity, the spokesperson will be required to complete a conflict of interest disclosure questionnaire. In all cases, however, an advance determination is to be made whether there is a reasonable probability of actual or perceived conflicts of interest in terms of the individual's own personal, professional or business interests and the interests of AHA in that situation. Regarding the Scientific Sessions in particular, the Scientific Sessions Program Committee may establish specific conflict of interest procedures not inconsistent with AHA policy or these standards.

Regarding staff, all staff shall comply with the same standard of scrupulousness required by the conflict of interest policy and standards. Further, the CEO, Executive Vice Presidents, Vice Presidents, Internal Auditor, and staff involved in corporate relations at the AHA National Center, and executive directors at Affiliates, or other categories of staff identified by Corporate Counsel or the Review Committee shall be required to complete the conflict of interest disclosure questionnaire and also sign the annual acknowledgment and compliance form.

Corporate Counsel shall be responsible for implementation of the conflict of interest policy and standards. Procedural or substantive questions regarding conflict of interest may be referred directly to Corporate Counsel, but the Review Committee cannot delegate its responsibilities regarding review of officer and journal editor nominees.

II. POLICY

The Conflict of Interest Policy is binding on all volunteers, staff and components of the Association, including the AHA National Center, Affiliates and Councils. The Policy provides that volunteers and staff "scrupulously" shall avoid any conflict between their own respective personal, professional or business interests and the interests of the Association. Any volunteer or staff having a conflict, direct or indirect, shall give notice of the actual or potential conflict, and thereafter generally shall refrain from discussing or voting on that particular issue.

STANDARDS

The Conflict of Interest Standards clarify and specify the requirements of the Conflict of Interest Policy. The Conflict of Interest Standards are binding on all AHA volunteers and staff, including National Center, Affiliates and Councils.

The Standards specify the standard of behavior to avoid actual conflicts of interest as well as reasonably perceived conflicts of interest. The Standards define the routine remedy for a conflict of interest as full disclosure and abstention. Abstention includes abstaining from discussing and voting on the issue in the committee meeting and, also, abstaining from discussing the issue or attempting to influence its outcome outside of the meeting. In some circumstances, abstention may require leaving the meeting for the duration of that discussion.

The Standards set out specific additional requirements for Officers, journal editors, budget and audit committee members, and staff. The conflict of interest procedure is described in the Standards also. Please review the Standards document.

III. PROCEDURE--AHA National Center (includes Councils)

At the national level, the Conflict of Interest package (i.e., cover memo, COI Policy, COI Standards, and Ethics Policy) is to be sent to all AHA Board, committee, subcommittee, task force and writing group members and AHA spokespersons upon their appointment, and to Officers and journal editors prior to their election or appointment. Staff are requested to log-on to the Conflict of Interest Database and 1) turn their 08/09 committee, council, subcommittee, task force, and expert panel to inactive, 2) create a new 09/10 committee using the Siebel naming convention, 3) populate incoming volunteers to committees and volunteer groups for which they are responsible, and 4) request a new disclosure questionnaire from their volunteers, if a current Disclosure Questionnaire is not already on file for the 2009-10 fiscal year, no later than April 15, 2009. An email will be distributed on April 16th from the Conflict of Interest Database to all volunteers requesting that they complete a new Disclosure Question for the upcoming fiscal year.

Volunteers and designated staff are requested to log-on to the online database to complete the Relationship Disclosure Questionnaire. Subsequently, they are to update it whenever any material changes occur in their AHA role, employment, or other relationship identified as relevant on the Disclosure Questionnaire; and to fully review and update their relationship disclosures online at least annually during the volunteer's active term of service or staff person's term of employment. Staff should annually check the CoI Database to confirm that volunteers on their committee, task force or group are in compliance.

Customarily, the Conflict of Interest materials are sent to volunteers as part of the committee appointment process in the Spring. If volunteers are appointed outside of the annual committee appointment process, please assure that they receive the Conflict of Interest Policy and Standards with the request to complete the Disclosure Questionnaire unless they already have submitted one for the current fiscal year. This can be determined by checking the CoI Database. Again, a volunteer with multiple appointments needs to receive the Conflict of Interest materials and complete a Disclosure Questionnaire only once annually. [This is the responsibility of those staffing the various committees.]

At the first regularly scheduled meeting of the board/council/committee/task force after the new appointments or elections take effect or after its appointment, which typically is at the beginning of the fiscal year, its chairperson shall review the Conflict of Interest Policy and Record of Abstention Form, and remind members to update the Disclosure Questionnaire in the event there are any material changes in their situation. The conflict of interest topic is to be reflected in the agenda and the remarks reflected in the minutes of the meeting; sample language is provided. [This is the responsibility of those staffing the various committees.]

At each subsequent meeting of the board/council/committee/task force, the chairperson briefly shall remind members of the Conflict of Interest Policy and Record of Abstention Form on which any abstention is to be noted. The conflict of interest topic is to be reflected in the agenda and the remarks reflected in the minutes of the meeting. In the event of an abstention, the volunteer or staff disclosing the actual or potential conflict of interest needs to complete and sign the Record of Abstention Form, which then is to be filed with the original copy of the minutes of the meeting; sample language is provided. [This is the responsibility of those staffing the various committees.]

A. Forms

1. Conflict of Interest Policy and Record of Abstention Form.
2. Conflict of Interest Standards.
3. Relationship Disclosure Questionnaire.

B. Use of the Forms

1. Conflict of Interest Policy and Record of Abstention Form (one-page form)
 - a. Provided to volunteers with the appointment letter, to Officers and Board members prior to election, and to Journal editors prior to appointment.
 - b. Provided at each meeting in the agenda packet.
 - c. Reviewed by the chairperson at each meeting, and so noted in the agenda and minutes.
 - d. Completed and signed only when abstaining from discussion and voting because of an actual or potential conflict of interest, and filed with the original signed copy of the meeting minutes.
2. Conflict of Interest Standards
 - a. Provided to volunteers with the appointment letter, to Officers and Board members prior to election, and to Journal editors prior to appointment.
 - b. Mentioned or referred to by the chairperson at any meeting as appropriate.

- c. Used by volunteers and staff to clarify or specify the requirements of the Conflict of Interest Policy.

3. Relationship Disclosure Questionnaire

- a. The Relationship Disclosure Questionnaires are maintained on the Conflict of Interest Online Database. Staff are requested to log-on to the Conflict of Interest Database and 1) turn their 08/09 committee, council, subcommittee, task force, and expert panel to inactive, 2) create a new 09/10 committee using the Siebel naming convention, 3) populate incoming volunteers to committees and volunteer groups for which they are responsible, and 4) request a new disclosure questionnaire from their volunteers, if a current Disclosure Questionnaire for fiscal year 2009/10 is not already on file no later than April 15, 2009. On April 16th, the system will send out an email to all volunteers requesting that they log-on and complete a new disclosure questionnaire.

Similarly, an email will be sent to designated staff, i.e. National Center staff identified at section V.A., Affiliate Executive Vice Presidents and Affiliate staff they have identified, and other staff identified by the AHA General Counsel requesting them to log-on to the Conflict of Interest Database and complete the Relationship Disclosure Questionnaire.

For Journal editors, the Addendum for Journal editors must be completed along with the Disclosure Questionnaire for review by the Conflict of Interest Review Committee prior to appointment.

For expert panel members, since they do not function in the customary role of other volunteers, the staff representative for the expert panel will need to log-on to the Conflict of Interest Database and send a request to members to complete the special Disclosure Questionnaire form for expert panels upon appointment.

For writing group members, they will be provided upon appointment with the special disclosure form, which will be periodically reviewed and updated thereafter during the course of preparing the statement, guideline, article or document being written by that group. This is in addition to being required to complete the standard Disclosure Questionnaire if they also are a member of a board, council, committee or task force. Writing group members are also required to complete a Confidentiality Agreement for every writing group in which they participate. The staff representative will be responsible for logging on to the Conflict of Interest Database and sending a request to members to complete a Writing Group Disclosure Questionnaire

- b. Mentioned by the chairperson annually at the first regularly scheduled meeting that the volunteer should update the Disclosure Questionnaire if there has been a material change since it was last completed by the volunteer.
- c. Revised and updated whenever there has been a material change in the volunteer or staff person's circumstances. This should be done online in the Conflict of Interest Database.
- d. In any event, a new Disclosure Questionnaire must be completed annually during the volunteer's term of active service and during the designated staff person's employment in that capacity. This will be done online in the Conflict of Interest Database by reviewing and updating the disclosures.

- e. Staff must review the Disclosure Questionnaires annually at the beginning of the fiscal year before the group's first meeting to determine:
- a current questionnaire is on file for every Board, committee, subcommittee, task force, panel, or writing group member;
 - if any potential conflicts of interest are likely to arise and, if so, discuss them with the committee chairperson and/or the volunteer as appropriate so that they are sensitized to possible conflicts of interest or so that potential conflicts of interest can be anticipated and satisfactorily resolved.
- f. The Conflict of Interest Review Committee reviews the Disclosure Questionnaires of incoming Officers, journal editor candidates, and the Chief Executive Officer and determines if any conflicts of interest exist that need to be resolved, which, for the Officer nominees and editor candidates, must be before the start of their term. The Committee also reviews Col issues submitted by the General Counsel or by the Board or other components or committees.
- g. Maintained by the Legal Department in the Col Database with electronic copies being retained for six years before being deleted.
- h. Entry of disclosed relationships in the Conflict of Interest Database will satisfy the disclosure requirement for all committees and groups on which a volunteer serves. There is no need for multiple entries of disclosures for each committee or group. Staff should review the Conflict of Interest Database before sending a request for a Disclosure Questionnaire to a volunteer to determine whether the volunteer already has made disclosures for the fiscal year in the Conflict of Interest Database.

C. Guidance For Reviewing Disclosure Questionnaires

A conflict of interest arises when a person has a personal, professional or business interest or relationship that has the reasonable potential to or actually does compete with or influence that person's AHA discussions, recommendations or decisions because it offers the potential of some gain, benefit or undue influence for that person or that person's family or associates, or some detriment to the AHA. The required standard of behavior is for volunteers and staff to "scrupulously" avoid actual conflicts of interest and perceptions of conflicts of interests. Having relationships or interests is not negative and, indeed, multiple relationships and interests may enhance a person's value to the AHA. The issue is to disclose and minimize or avoid conflicts to protect the integrity of the AHA's decisions and processes, and protect the integrity of the involved volunteer or staff.

The Committee Disclosure Questionnaire is a global form for an active volunteer who serves on one or more committees or groups. Relationships disclosed by a volunteer do not by themselves constitute a conflict of interest. The determination of a conflict is based on an assessment of the volunteer's AHA role and/or the issues/decisions that the committee is likely to address against the disclosed relationships or interests of the volunteer. A volunteer may list an item on his/her Disclosure Questionnaire as "significant"; however that may not mean that it is significant to every committee/group. An example would be if a volunteer on the Research Committee has a significant stock ownership or is employed by Staples. From a Research Committee perspective, this would most likely not be a conflict. However this may be a significant conflict for a committee/group reviewing possible vendors or evaluating a relationship with Staples. The judgment or determination of the likelihood of a conflict occurring and the severity or gravity if it does occur is the basis for marking that the conflict is “immaterial” or “needs additional review or action.” Things to be aware of when reviewing grants or money given to volunteers by pharmaceutical and device companies are: 1) is the grant/money given to the individual or the university and 2) is the grant/money for work in the CVD or stroke field. If a volunteer is on multiple committees or groups, the staff person responsible for each committee/group will review the disclosures from the perspective of that particular committee/group.

If there is an actual or likely conflict from the perspective of a committee/group, the respective Executive Vice President (or senior staff designee) or the board or committee chairperson should be advised so that appropriate guidance can be given to the volunteer regarding disclosure and abstention.

D. Sequence

1. With the appointment letter or notice of election letter, the volunteer shall be sent 1) cover memo for volunteers, 2) Conflict of Interest Policy and Record of Abstention Form, and 3) Conflict of Interest Standards. An email will be sent by the Conflict of Interest Database requesting that the volunteer log-on to the COI Database and complete the Disclosure Questionnaire and, in subsequent years, the email will be sent to the volunteer to log-on to the COI Database to update the disclosure information
2. At the first regularly scheduled meeting of the fiscal year or following appointment of the board/committee/task force, the chairperson shall review the Conflict of Interest Policy and Record of Abstention form, and remind volunteers to update the Conflict of Interest Database if there are any material changes in the volunteer's situation since the form was last completed or updated. This is to be reflected in the agenda and the minutes of the meeting. For writing groups, they use the special writing group disclosure form, and may not have conventional agendas and minutes.
3. At each meeting thereafter, the chairperson shall review the Conflict of Interest Policy and Record of Abstention Form. This is to be reflected in the agenda and the minutes of the meeting. Suggested agenda language is available on the OCEO-Legal intranet site identified above in section I as document 7. For writing groups, the members will update the special writing group disclosure form at specified times.

IV. PROCEDURE--Affiliates

Affiliate Executive Vice Presidents are requested to implement a Conflict of Interest procedure based on that described in the preceding section III. The recommended minimum elements of an Affiliate's program include:

- A. Committees and volunteers should be in the Conflict of Interest Database. Affiliate staff are requested to log-on to the Conflict of Interest Database annually and 1) turn their prior year's committees to inactive, 2) create new committees using the Siebel naming convention, 3) populate incoming volunteers to committees, and 4) request a new disclosure questionnaire from their volunteers, if a current Disclosure Questionnaire is not already on file. The Conflict of Interest Database will allow staff to send an email annually to the Affiliate board, advocacy, corporate operations or budget committee, investment subcommittee and research committee members at the Affiliate level who are requested to complete a Disclosure Questionnaire. Members of other Affiliate or division level committees, subcommittees or task forces may be requested to do so at the Affiliate's discretion depending upon the nature of the responsibilities and authorities of those groups. A criteria suggesting the need for a Disclosure Questionnaire is that the group has authority to approve or recommend vendors, contractors, purchases, sponsorships, contracts, or payments, or publicly represents the AHA or Affiliate.

- B. Staff responsible for the board, committees and task forces completing Disclosure Questionnaires must review the Disclosure Questionnaires to determine whether a conflict of interest or potential for conflict of interest exists, or is likely to arise, for a volunteer in view of the board/committee activities and the interests disclosed on the volunteer's Disclosure Questionnaire. If there is an actual or likely conflict, the Affiliate Executive Vice President (or senior staff designee) or the board or committee chairperson should be advised so that appropriate guidance can be given to the volunteer regarding disclosure and abstention. See section III. C. above for guidance on reviewing Disclosure Questionnaires. Staff will receive an email from the Conflict of Interest Database when a new Disclosure Questionnaire is available for review.
- C. Entry of Conflict of Interest disclosures in the conflict of Interest Database will satisfy the disclosure requirement for all committees and groups on which a volunteer serves. There is no need for multiple entries of disclosures for each committee or group. Staff should review the Conflict of Interest Database before sending a request for a Disclosure Questionnaire to a volunteer to determine whether the volunteer already has made disclosures for the fiscal year in the Conflict of Interest Database.
- D. The Conflict of Interest Policy and Record of Abstention Form is included in the agenda packets of the Affiliate board, advocacy, corporate operations or budget committee, investment subcommittee and research committee. Inclusion in the agenda packets for other committees, subcommittees and task forces is recommended, but may be omitted at the Affiliate's discretion given the nature of the responsibilities and authorities of those groups. The form need only be filled out and completed when a volunteer has a direct or indirect conflict of interest, discloses that conflict and abstains from discussion and voting on a particular agenda item. In such case, the original, signed form is to be filed with the minutes of the board, committee or task force.
- E. The Conflict of Interest Policy is reviewed by the chairperson of every board, committee, subcommittee, and task force at its first meeting and thereafter. The review can be briefer at subsequent meetings. The agenda should reflect the Conflict of Interest Policy topic. Suggested agenda language is available on the OCEO-Legal intranet site identified above in section I as document 7. The review of the Conflict of Interest Policy is to be documented in the minutes at least for the Affiliate board, standing committee and investment subcommittee meetings by a brief statement such as: "The AHA Conflict of Interest Policy was reviewed, which requires volunteers and staff to scrupulously avoid direct and indirect conflicts between the interests of the AHA and their own personal, professional and business interests."
- F. Provisions for Affiliate staff Disclosure Questionnaires are addressed at section V.C. hereinbelow.

- G. The Affiliate EVP is requested to designate a specific staff person responsible for managing the Conflict of Interest procedure for the Affiliate. That staff person should have a corresponding performance standard for the Col responsibility. Additionally, that staff person should be in a sufficiently senior level position to assure compliance by volunteers and staff.

Model Performance Standards Are:

For the AEVP:

The AEVP shall designate a staff person to implement the AHA Conflict of Interest procedure in accordance with the annual Col mailing from the National Center; the designated staff person shall have a written performance standard for this responsibility; and the designated staff person shall be in a sufficiently senior position to be able to effectively assure compliance with the AHA Col policy and procedure.

For the designated responsible staff person:

Shall assure Affiliate compliance with the AHA Col procedure in accordance with the annual Col mailing and forms from the National Center, specifically including (1) having a current Relationship Disclosure Questionnaire on file for the Affiliate board and committee members, and staff who are required to complete Disclosure Questionnaires ("current" meaning that the Disclosure Questionnaire is completed annually) and (2) having the Disclosure Questionnaires of the Affiliate board and designated committees and staff who are required to complete Disclosure Questionnaires reviewed at least annually by appropriate senior staff to identify areas of potential conflict of interest.

V. STAFF RESPONSIBILITIES--AHA National Center and Affiliates

All staff are expected to abide by the Conflict of Interest Policy and Standards. Staff are to scrupulously avoid actual or reasonably perceived conflicts of interest and remove themselves from decisions in which a direct or indirect conflict of interest exists. Conflicts can arise from relationships with other non-profit organizations, for-profit organizations, organizations that do business or are attempting to do business with AHA, organizations that are involved in similar or competing activities of the AHA, organizations that are inconsistent with AHA policies or positions, or outside employment activities.

- A. National Center staff to submit Disclosure Questionnaire: The CEO, COO-Field Operations & Development, Chief Mission Officer, Chief Administrative Officer, CSO, Executive Vice Presidents, Vice Presidents, Directors, Internal Auditors, Corporate Relations staff, Cause Initiatives staff, Market leaders, Science & Medicine Advisors, Scientific Meetings managers, Corporate Media Communications staff, and Purchasing staff at the AHA National Center, and others identified by the AHA General Counsel are required to log-on to the Conflict of Interest Database and complete the Relationship Disclosure Questionnaire. Please complete the online form by May 15, 2009.

EVPs and VPs are requested to advise me of other staff who should submit a Disclosure Questionnaire because of their authority or influence in approving or recommending vendors, contractors, purchases, sponsorships, relationships, contracts, payments, or they publicly represent the AHA.

The appropriate NST members and VP's are to review the Disclosure Questionnaire for the above designated staff who report to them no later than June 10, 2009. The AHA General Counsel will review the Disclosure Questionnaires completed by NST members and will consult with NST members regarding any concerns they may have about the disclosures of their respective staff..

- B. National Center (including Councils) staff with committee responsibilities: AHA National Center staff responsible for staffing a committee, council, subcommittee, task force, panel or writing group are requested to review the current Disclosure Questionnaire on file in the Conflict of Interest Database for each volunteer member before the first meeting but no later than June 10, 2009.

An online database has been developed to facilitate the submission of Disclosure Questionnaires by volunteers and to assist staff carrying out their Conflict of Interest responsibilities. In order to maintain an accurate database staff are requested to log-on to the Conflict of Interest Database and 1) turn their 08/09 committee, council, subcommittee, task force, and expert panel to inactive, 2) create a new 09/10 committee using the Siebel naming convention, 3) populate incoming volunteers to committees, and 4) request a new disclosure questionnaire from their volunteers, if a current Disclosure Questionnaire for the 2009/10 fiscal year is not already on file, no later than April 15, 2009.

Staff are to review the Col Database for volunteers on their committee, task force or group to confirm that a current Disclosure Questionnaire has been submitted; they can also check the Database prior to meetings as a reminder of potential Col issues. If a current Disclosure Questionnaire is not on file, staff are to request the volunteer log-on to the Conflict of Interest Database and complete a Disclosure Questionnaire as soon as conveniently possible. See section III.C. above for guidance on reviewing Disclosure Questionnaires

- C. Affiliate staff: Affiliate Executive Vice Presidents are requested to annually submit their Disclosure Questionnaires and update as appropriate through the Col Database.

Affiliate EVP's are requested to identify any other Affiliate staff by position who are required to submit a Disclosure Questionnaire. Staff required to submit a Disclosure Questionnaire include vice presidents or other senior-level staff, and staff involved in purchasing and corporate relations, or staff with authority or influence in approving or recommending vendors, contractors, purchases, sponsorships, contracts or payments, or they publicly represent the AHA.

Further, Affiliate EVPs are requested to designate a specific senior staff person responsible for managing the Col procedure for the Affiliate (see section IV. G.). Please provide me with the name, title and telephone number of that person.
Thanks.

Affiliate EVPs are to assure a process is in place for the Affiliate EVP or Affiliate senior staff persons to review the disclosures in the Col Database of those staff who have been designated to complete a Disclosure Questionnaire. The AHA

General Counsel is available to consult with the Affiliate EVP regarding any concerns that he/she may have about the disclosures of their respective staff. The Affiliate EVP's disclosures will be reviewed by the Affiliate chairman and/or COO-Field Operations & Development.

This memorandum is meant to provide guidance to you and your staff. Please distribute copies of this memorandum to staff in your area who are responsible for boards, committees, subcommittees, task forces, panels or writing groups. Should you have any questions or concerns, please advise. Thank you.

MOC Policies and Procedures Regarding Relationships With Industry for Writing Group Members

I. Definitions

Relevancy:

Each author is required to identify all relationships within the last 12 months that are relevant to the topic of the manuscript. A person has a relevant relationship with a company or other entity IF:

1. The relationship or interest relates to the same or similar subject matter, intellectual property or asset, topic, or issue addressed in the document.
2. The company/entity (with whom the relationship exists) makes a drug, drug class, or device addressed in the document, or makes a competing drug or device addressed in the document.
3. The person or a member of the person's household, has/have a reasonable potential for financial, professional or other personal gain or loss as a result of the issues/content addressed in the document.

Levels of Support:

1. No financial relationship pertains to relationships for which you receive no monetary reimbursement; Modest < $10,000; Significant ≥ $10,000.
2. A person is deemed to have a significant interest in a business if the interest represents ownership of 5% or more of the voting stock or share of the business entity, OR ownership of $10,000 or more of the fair market value of the business entity, or if funds received by the person from the business entity exceed 5% of the person's gross income for the previous year.

Nature of Support:

1. Personal Ownership/Investments*

Includes any stock, stock option, partnership, membership or other equity position in an entity regardless of the form of the entity, or any option or right to acquire such position, and any rights in any patent or other intellectual property rights. * Exception: mutual diversified funds

2. Personal Income

Includes consulting fees, speaker's bureau, honoraria, expert witness, gifts, "in kind" compensation

3. Programmatic Support

- Research grants and/or "in-kind" support from industry
- Fellowship support
- Funding of salary or position or "in-kind" support of program

4. DSMB

- ALL DSMB participation (industry, government-sponsored, and university-managed) must be disclosed

5. "No Financial Benefit" (RWI For Which No Monies Received)

- "No financial benefit" category added: Donated honoraria to charity must be disclosed unless they fall under the ACCME noted exception.
- Disclosure of travel expenses (e.g., hotel, airfare, meals) is required if subsidized by an industry or device company.

6. Honoraria That Do NOT Have to Be Disclosed

- Honoraria received from work on ACCME-accredited programs do NOT have to be disclosed due to the ACCME firewall restrictions between industry and program content.

7. Institutional COI/RWI

- includes any institutional relationship for which you have direct decision-making responsibility (e.g., industry grant to the Division of Cardiology and you are Division Chief) and any organizational relationship. "Organizational relationships" include any leadership or governance responsibilities or roles in another professional or other nonprofit organization with interests potentially adverse to or competitive with those of the ACCF/AHA.

II. Policy:

A. Writing Group Members (see rules below for Chair):

1. SIGNIFICANT relationships in category of personal ownership/investments (equity interest, royalty income, ownership) DO NOT automatically disqualify service on writing group (except chair and co-chair).
2. Modest or significant relationships in categories of speaker's bureau, honoraria, expert witness, consultant/advisory board, or relevant research support from industry allowed if in a minority of members.
3. Research funded by federal sources or not-for-profits must be declared but is not automatically counted as a relevant relationship.
4. The majority (50% + 1) of the writing group must be free of ANY (modest or significant) relationships. RWI balance will be maintained by including at least 50% of the writing committee (not counting the chair) without relevant RWI at the onset of a writing activity. The writing group chair must also have NO relevant relationships; therefore this makes the total writing group be at least 50% + 1.
5. Participation on a government-sponsored or university managed DSMBs must be disclosed but are not considered relevant relationships for the purpose of identifying writing committee members.

B. Writing Group Chair:

The writing group chairperson is selected primarily for the competency of effectively managing the writing group. A general working knowledge and competency in the writing topic is also necessary, but the chairperson does not have to be a leading expert in that topic. The chairperson must be selected to avoid relationships that could taint or undermine the credibility of the writing group or its work product. Therefore:

1. Chair cannot have ANY relevant relationships (modest or significant) in the categories of ownership interest, equity interest, royalty income, stock, stock options speakers bureau, honoraria, expert witness, consultant/advisory board, or relevant research support from industry. Research funded by federal sources or not-for-profits is allowed on a case by case basis. The appropriate oversight committee (e.g., Guideline Task Force or Manuscript Oversight Committee) will review and evaluate the relationship.
2. Participation on government-sponsored or university managed DSMBs must be disclosed but are not considered relevant relationships for the purpose of identifying a Chair or Co-Chair.
3. Volunteers will NOT be automatically disqualified from chairing a writing committee because of an institutional RWI or an organizational relationship (e.g., leadership, decision-making roles in an organization who may have a stance potentially competitive with ACCF/AHA). The appropriate oversight committee (e.g., Guideline Task Force or Manuscript Oversight Committee) will review and evaluate the relationship to determine if the individual may serve as Chair.

C. Writing Group Co-Chair:

1. Co-Chair can have modest or significant RWI in the categories of speakers' bureau, honoraria, consultant/advisory board, expert witness, or relevant research support from industry.
2. SIGNIFICANT relationships in category of personal investments (equity interest, royalty income, ownership, stock, stock options) are not allowed; modest RWI in this category is allowed.
3. Participation on government-sponsored or university managed DSMBs must be disclosed but are not considered relevant relationships for the purpose of identifying a Chair or Co-Chair.
4. Research funded by federal sources or not-for-profits must be declared but is not automatically counted as a relevant relationship.

Process for handling disclosure information in science news media materials

The following processes will be implemented in the production of each science news release to prevent and manage any disclosure/conflict of interest issues that may occur:

➤ Managing the news release:

- When it is determined that a news release will be written about a scientific study, statement or guidelines, the Communications Manager who is the lead for the news release will review the manuscript and check with designated Science and Medicine Advisor (SMA) (for statements/guidelines, etc) and/or Scientific Publishing staff (for regular journal news releases) to determine the following information regarding the paper, prior to the release being written:
 - Is a drug, device, organization, product or program involved/recommended in the paper?
 - Does SMA and/or Scientific Publishing staff have current COI information from each of the authors?
 - Do the authors have any current conflicts of interest? (this applies to the full list of authors, not just the chair of the writing group)
 - Does the AHA receive funding or have a relationship with organizations or companies related to the issue?
- If the answer to the above is “yes,” the Communications Manager who is the lead on the news release will alert Corporate & Media Communications (CMC) Director (Carrie Thacker) to the issue and CMC Director will determine further action needed, including alerting the Communications Executive Vice President (EVP) as appropriate.
- During the news release editing/review process, the Communications Manager who is the lead on the release will work with Scientific Publishing to ensure that the final, correct disclosure table is available with the manuscript used for media activities.
- All news releases will include the statement “Disclosures for individual authors are available on the manuscript.” at the end of the release.
- As usual, communications staff will provide manuscripts as requested. Manuscripts will continue to be posted on an embargoed basis on the password-protected newsroom site.

➤ Use of appropriate disclaimer/disclosure statements:

- The Communications Manager who is the lead on the news release will ensure that the appropriate association disclaimer statement is included on all news releases. Approved disclaimer statements are noted below:

Regular journal news releases:

Statements and conclusions of study authors published in American Heart Association scientific journals are solely those of the study authors and do not necessarily reflect the association's policy or position. The association makes no representation or guarantee as to their accuracy or reliability. The association receives funding primarily from individuals; foundations and corporations (including pharmaceutical, device manufacturers and other companies) also make donations and fund specific association programs and events. ➤ Response to media inquiries:

If a member of the news media contacts the AHA communications staff regarding one of the authors having a conflict of interest on an AHA statement/guideline, position paper, etc., the following procedures will occur:

- Communications Manager or the staff person who takes the call will notify Senior Manager (Cathy Lewis) and CMC Director (Carrie Thacker) and Communications EVP (Matt Bannister) of the potential conflict. Communications Manager will be responsible for tracking down CMC Director (Carrie) (i.e., cell phone, voicemail, meeting) to make sure she/he is aware of the situation, and CMC Director will in turn notify Communications EVP. If CMC Director is not available, then Communications staff will be responsible for tracking down Communications EVP (Matt) to make her/him aware of the situation.

- If conflict of interest applies to the writing group or anything associated with the science news of the statement/guideline, Communications staff will also notify Science Operations VP (Gayle Whitman) of the conflict.
- If conflict of interest applies to AHA's relationship with any corporate entity, CMC Director (Carrie) and/or Communications EVP (Matt) will determine who else needs to be notified of the situation.
- No definitive correspondence will be exchanged between the Communications staff and the news media until CMC Director (Carrie) or Communications EVP (Matt) has approved in advance.

Policy and Procedure – Scientific Publishing	10/03
SUBJECT	REVISED
Disclosure – Conflict of Interest	10/04; 5/05; Reviewed 8/09

1.0 PURPOSE

In accordance with the AHA's Conflict of Interest (COI) Standards (Appendix I), the Scientific Publishing Policy on Disclosure – Conflict of Interest exists to provide guidance for editors, authors, reviewers and editorial staff of the requirement to disclose specific information in carrying out work involved in the submission, review, selection and publication of articles in AHA scientific journals, both print and online.

2.0 REQUIREMENTS

2.1 All AHA Journals shall use the same requirements and procedures with regard to COI disclosure for authors, reviewers, editors and editorial boards. The language pertaining to these requirements shall be the same across the journals in the appropriate written instructions, letters, online instructions, etc.

2.2 With the implementation of a new manuscript tracking/review system in 2003, links detailing the full AHA COI Policy and Standards will be made available to the authors, editors and reviewers using the system. Reference to the AHA Policy and Standards will also be highlighted in the print Instructions to Authors for the benefit of those individuals not accessing the online submission/review system.

2.3 For Editors:

2.3.1 During the selection of an Editor or Editor-in-Chief, the AHA advises candidates that they must comply with AHA COI Standards requirements, including submission of a current COI Disclosure Questionnaire and Addendum for Editors and review by the Conflict of Interest Review Committee, before being appointed as journal editors. By virtue of their positions, journal editors must be especially sensitive to the issue of actual or perceived conflicts of interest and must be especially rigorous in acting to avoid them. In addition, the Conflict of Interest Review Committee has codified three principles to resolve COI for Journal Editors into an operational policy (Attachment II)

2.3.2 All Editors and Associate Editors are required to fill out the annual AHA Conflict of Interest disclosure form including the Addendum for Editors. During staff review of these forms, any declared conflicts of significance by Associate Editors are brought to the attention of the senior Editor. Disclosures by Editors or Associates Editors are retained on file at AHA, updated annually and are not publicly disclosed.

2.3.3 To insure further transparency in the peer review process, it is recommended that all AHA journals state in their Instruction to Authors how they handle articles authored or coauthored by the Editor or Associate Editors, or articles from their respective home institutions.

2.3.3.1 Standard language: Original manuscripts authored or coauthored by the Editor (in Chief) and/or any of the Associate Editors are handled by a Consulting Editor or by another editor, who makes all decisions about the manuscript (including choice of referees and ultimate acceptance or rejection). The entire process is handled confidentially. All manuscripts submitted from the Editor's home institution are also handled entirely by a Consulting Editor or by another editor from a different institution. The Editor (in Chief) and/or Associate Editors may additionally, from time to time, refer a manuscript to a Consulting Editor to avoid a real or reasonably perceived conflict of interest.

2.4 For Authors:

2.4.1 An authorship responsibility and copyright transfer agreement form must be completed by all authors. All authors must also complete and sign the Conflict of Interest Disclosure Questionnaire..

Each author is required to identify all relationships within the last 2 years that are relevant to the topic of the manuscript and might be perceived as a real or potential conflict of interest. A relationship is "relevant" if the relationship or interest relates to the topic in terms of any of the following: the same or similar subject matter or topic; the same, similar or competing drug or device, product or service, intellectual property or asset; a drug or device company or its competitor; or has the reasonable potential to result in financial, professional or other personal gain or loss for you, members of your household or employer.

Each author is required to classify each disclosed relationship as either "Significant" or "Modest". A relationship is considered to be "Significant" if (a) the person receives $10,000 or more during any 12 month period, or 5% or more of the person's gross income; or (b) the person owns 5% or more of the voting stock or share of the entity, or owns $10,000 or more of the fair market value of the entity. A relationship is considered to be "Modest" if it is less than "Significant" under the preceding definition.

If an author has no conflicts to declare they must indicate None.

2.4.2 Additionally, authors must disclose any and all relationships that could be perceived as real or apparent conflict(s) of interest after the Acknowledgments section. Conflict-of-interest disclosure will be published after the acknowledgements in the accepted article.

2.4.3 The Acknowledgments section recognizes all sources of research support (including commercial or institutional support) plus substantive contributions of individuals:

2.4.3.1 Authors must provide written permission/approval from all individuals mentioned by name in the Acknowledgments section of the manuscript.

2.4.3.2 Authors must completely spell out all grant funding agency abbreviations, with the exception of NIH.

2.5 For Reviewers:

2.5.1 AHA journals shall require a conflict of interest disclosure from potential reviewers of any articles. This requirement will be incorporated into the language and procedures of the manuscript tracking system used by all of the journals. As well, a link to the full details of the AHA policies and standards will be available from the online submission and review system. A standard statement is as follows:

2.5.1.1 Please advise the editorial office in your reply of any relevant relationship that might be reasonably perceived as a real or potential conflict of interest that could potentially influence or bias your review of this manuscript. While most relationships are not disqualifying, if you believe that you have a disqualifying conflict of interest, financial or otherwise, please contact the editorial office immediately. A relationship is "relevant" if the relationship or interest relates to the topic of the manuscript in terms of any of the following: the same or similar subject matter or topic; the same, similar or competing drug or device, product or service, intellectual property or asset; a drug or device company or its competitor; or has the reasonable potential to result in financial, professional or other personal gain or loss for you, members of your household or employer.

AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION
CONFLICT OF INTEREST
STANDARDS

I. PURPOSE:

The purpose of these standards is to protect the integrity of AHA's decision-making processes, the public's confidence in AHA, and the image of AHA. Importantly, these standards also are intended to protect the reputation and honor of AHA's volunteers and staff.

It is acknowledged and desired that volunteers have myriad relationships, interests, and memberships. These conflict of interest standards serve to provide guidelines to volunteers in areas or in situations that potentially may affect or compromise the integrity and independence of AHA's decision-making processes, confidence in AHA or AHA's reputation. Such situations frequently also are sensitive or uncomfortable for the individuals involved.

The volunteers and staff are persons of honesty and integrity and do not need to be provided by AHA with a code of ethics. However, there is value in providing guidelines as a tool to understand AHA's conflict of interest policy, recognize situations potentially posing a conflict of interest, take appropriate remedial action, and otherwise cope with complex relationships.

As guidelines, these standards are not to be considered as complete or exclusive. They are supplements to good judgment. They may be elaborated upon or applied in specific additional situations not particularized herein.

II. STANDARD:

The standard of behavior is that all volunteers shall scrupulously avoid any conflict of interest between the volunteer's personal, professional and business interests, and the interests of AHA.

That includes scrupulously avoiding actual conflicts of interest and, also, perceptions of conflicts of interest.

That includes avoiding actual unfair benefits and, also, opportunities for benefit or gain.

That includes avoiding conflicts, benefits, gains, or undue influence for the volunteer's personal or professional benefit and, also, for the benefit of the volunteer's family--whether or not in the household--employer, and close friends and business associates.

That includes avoiding a gain to the volunteer and others and, also, a detriment or harm to AHA.

What is required is meticulous adherence to and rigorous compliance with both the letter and the spirit of the conflict of interest policy and standards. The volunteer is to act for and in the best interests of AHA, independent and impartial from external or personal interests and considerations.

III. DISCLOSURE:

Upon or before election or appointment, the volunteer is to make a full and complete written disclosure of interests, memberships, relationships, arrangements, investments and holdings that potentially could result in a conflict between the volunteer's personal, professional or business interests--or those of the volunteer's immediate family or employer--and the interests of AHA.

This written disclosure is to be updated by the volunteer whenever any material changes occur in the volunteer's situation. In any event, the disclosure questionnaire is to be completed annually during the term of a volunteer's active service unless otherwise material changes are made within the term.

In the course of AHA meetings or activities, the volunteer is to disclose any direct or indirect interests in a transaction or decision that potentially could be a conflict of interest; e.g., whenever the volunteer, family, employer or close associates will receive a benefit or gain, or an opportunity or potential for benefit arises, or an opportunity for unfair influence arises, or an opportunity for detriment or harm to AHA or for benefit or gain to a third party at AHA's expense arises.

Failure to submit a written disclosure results in disqualification of a volunteer from service on an AHA board, committee, task force, writing group or other group; from service in an AHA office or position; or from publication or presentation at an AHA conference. For a staff person, failure to submit a written disclosure results in disqualification from AHA employment. A reasonably credible allegation that a person has not made a full or correct disclosure will be investigated under the oversight of the AHA General Counsel and appropriate remedies or sanctions taken.

Volunteers should err on the side of prudence, and declare an actual or potential conflict if in doubt as to a relationship or interest. This will prevent tainting the decision, and the reputation and integrity of AHA and its volunteers.

IV. ABSTENTION:

Once a disclosure has been made, the volunteer shall refrain from any discussion of the transaction or decision in the particular committee, group, or task force. Further, the volunteer shall physically leave the meeting for the duration of that discussion. Of course, the volunteer is to abstain from voting on the issue. Such abstention from discussion and voting is to be documented appropriately.

Besides abstention from discussion at the meeting, the volunteer shall refrain from discussing the issue or otherwise appearing to influence the outcome with other volunteers, committees or groups, or with staff.

The objective is that the interested volunteer shall have abstained from discussion, voting, and any other aspect of influencing or participating in the decision-making process.

V. IMPLICATIONS:

A volunteer with potential conflicts of interest generally is not barred from membership on committees, participation in activities, or service in an office of AHA. An interested volunteer is barred from the decision-making process and related discussions, and must leave the meeting.

A volunteer's employer generally is not automatically barred from any financial transactions or business dealings with AHA. An interested volunteer must disclose the direct or indirect interest, abstain from all related discussions, actions to influence, and voting. In some cases, it may be necessary or desirable to bar a particular transaction with the volunteer's employer or interested party to safeguard against an actual or perceived conflict and thereby protect the integrity of AHA and the volunteer. (See section IX. Officers and Journal Editors and section X. Officers and Budget/Audit Committee Members hereinbelow for specific exceptions requiring a bar against transactions with volunteers' employers.)

A volunteer's investments or holdings generally do not automatically need to be divested or placed in a blind trust agreement. Divestiture, a blind trust or similar arrangement--or, alternately, a volunteer's ineligibility for or declination of a position, editorship, assignment, or office--in some cases may be necessary or desirable as the only reasonably appropriate or available remedy in a particular situation to safeguard against an actual or perceived conflict and thereby protect the integrity of AHA and the volunteer. (See section IX. Officers and Journal Editors hereinbelow for specific exceptions requiring divestiture, a blind trust or similar arrangement.)

A volunteer may not in every case always be able to completely avoid the perception of a conflict of interest, undue influence or unfair benefit. A volunteer must act prudently in every case to avoid actual conflicts of interest, undue influence or unfair benefit, and also to make every reasonable effort to avoid a perception thereof. To accomplish this, a volunteer will exercise good judgment, and act reasonably and prudently. Further, the volunteer will provide timely, full and complete disclosure of actual or potential conflicts, abstain from discussion, influencing activities and voting, and provide adequate supporting documentation as necessary.

VI. GIFTS & HONORARIA:

Volunteers while acting in the capacity of an AHA representative or volunteer shall not solicit or accept for their personal, professional or business gain gifts, gratuities, honoraria, entertainment, favors or other goods or services from current or prospective vendors, providers of services, corporate partners, or competitors of AHA.

This does not prohibit volunteers in their personal or professional capacity, or their employers, from having relationships with the same organizations or persons who are current or prospective vendors, providers of services, corporate partners, or competitors of AHA. In such instances, the volunteer shall take all prudent and reasonable measures to distinguish actions and decisions made personally, professionally, or business-wise from the volunteer's relationship to or position in AHA. In such instances, the volunteer when acting in the capacity of an AHA volunteer, shall make full and complete disclosure and abstention, and otherwise comply with these standards.

Policy and Procedure Manual

This does not prohibit the acceptance of travel costs, meals or other expenses normally paid for by AHA that are related to the conduct of AHA business or activities from being paid by the current or prospective vendors, providers of services, corporate partners or competitors of AHA. This does not prohibit the acceptance of gifts or tokens of nominal or insignificant value that may be customarily given in the course of proper business conduct, such as pens, mugs, calendars, paperweights, and items of food or clothing. Good judgment must be used to avoid actual or perceived conflicts of interest or undue influence when acting on behalf of AHA.

VII. SELF-DEALING TRANSACTIONS:

While a volunteer or a volunteer's employer generally is not automatically prohibited from financial transactions or business dealings with AHA, volunteers are to scrupulously avoid actual or perceived conflicts of interest, unfair benefit, personal gain, or undue influence in dealings or transactions with AHA. As a general matter, a volunteer or volunteer's employer may engage in dealings with AHA if the volunteer does not participate in the discussion or voting or otherwise participate in the decision-making or selection process, and the selection is an open, competitive process or through peer review.

In some instances, it may be necessary or reasonable to bar a particular transaction with a volunteer, volunteer's employer or business associates to safeguard against reasonable perceptions of conflict of interest. (See sections IX and X hereinbelow for specific exceptions requiring a bar of transactions with a volunteer's employer.)

VIII. OVERLAPPING MEMBERSHIPS:

Memberships of its volunteers in other organizations or groups is one attribute of value to AHA. Such memberships, liaisons, relationships or interests that could pose a potential conflict of interest, of course, are to be fully disclosed by the volunteer.

When a volunteer is a director, committee member, or other active participant in another organization, the volunteer will not disclose or use confidential or proprietary information of AHA or otherwise make disclosures that could be injurious or disadvantageous to AHA.

In some relatively few instances, though, being a director or member of another group may be incompatible with being an AHA officer or journal editor. This is more likely to occur when there exists fundamentally opposing positions or purposes between AHA and the other organization, or when there is an inherent conflict of interest, such as between being an AHA journal editor while having substantial ties to a pharmaceutical or biomedical device manufacturer in a field related to the journal's topic.

IX. OFFICERS AND JOURNAL EDITORS:

Individuals are to be advised of and are to comply with AHA conflict of interest policy requirements, including full and complete disclosure, before being appointed or elected as officers or journal editors. By virtue of their positions, officers and journal editors must be especially sensitive to the issue of actual or perceived conflicts of interest and must be especially rigorous in acting to avoid them.

Therefore, journal editors and officers shall not have significant relationships that result in actual or reasonably perceived conflicts of interest. The conflict of interest review committee (see sections XI and XII hereinbelow) shall make a determination whether significant potential for conflict of interest exists and, if so, recommend an appropriate remedy. The review committee will make a determination on the basis of the substantiality--i.e., number, frequency, duration, amount, relatedness to AHA responsibilities, etc.--of such relationships, and whether they in their entirety result in an actual or reasonably perceived conflict of interest.

Journal editors shall not during their terms have significant relationships to pharmaceutical companies, biomedical companies or biomedical device manufacturers, or other corporations, including their subsidiaries or components, whose products or services are reasonably directly related to the topic area or field of the journal. Disqualifying significant relationships could include, but not be limited to: significant or multiple honoraria or fees, consultancies, board or advisory council memberships, or employment; holding significant stock or other forms of investment or ownership; otherwise being associated with the company or its products; or serving as editor, co-editor, or associate editor to another journal with an overlapping topic, or in a position having responsibility for acceptance of papers for publication and/or responsibility for policy decisions for that journal.

Should the prospective journal editor have significant stock, investments or other holdings in a pharmaceutical company, biomedical company or biomedical device manufacturer, or other corporation whose products or services are reasonably directly related to the journal's topic, then divestiture, a blind trust or similar arrangement, removal from the review of articles related to stipulated topics, or other appropriate remedy in the determination of the review committee will be required before the individual is appointed as journal editor.

Should the prospective journal editor have other potentially disqualifying significant relationships, an appropriate remedy will be required before the individual is appointed as journal editor. Employment by a pharmaceutical company, biomedical company, biomedical device manufacturer, or other corporation whose products or services are reasonably directly related to the journal's topic is deemed to be a conflict of interest.

X. OFFICERS AND BUDGET/AUDIT COMMITTEE MEMBERS

By virtue of their positions, officers and members of budget and finance committees, audit committees, investment committees, and similar committees having financial responsibilities must be especially sensitive to the issue of actual or perceived conflicts of interest, and must be especially rigorous in acting to avoid them.

During their terms, officers' and budget/audit committee members' employers are barred from financial transactions or business dealings with AHA when the specific decision or recommendation on that particular transaction is recommended or approved by the officers or by the budget/audit committees. To do otherwise would result in a virtually irrebuttable perceived conflict of interest.

Policy and Procedure Manual

This is a narrowly drawn requirement prohibiting dealings with officers' and budget/audit committee members' employers during their terms only in commercial, business or financial transactions decided by the officers or budget/audit committees. As an example, if an officer's or budget/audit committee member's employer were an accounting firm, bank, law firm, investment manager, insurance broker or carrier, real estate developer or builder, that employer would be barred from being retained for a fee to provide accounting, auditing, legal, investment, insurance, real estate, or construction services--services that are decided specifically by the officers or budget/audit committees.

If an officer's or budget/audit committee member's employer provided goods or services of a nature whereby the transaction is not specifically recommended or approved by the officers or budget/audit committee, then there is not a prohibition. As examples, those employers would not be barred from business or financial transactions such as participation in a corporate promotion approved by a development committee, or a public education program delivery arrangement approved by an education/program committee, or a media materials production agreement approved by a communications committee, or an office supply or computer software sales agreement approved by a staff group. In each of these examples, the officers or budget/audit committee members must not have participated in or influenced the decision-making process which, itself, must have been an open, competitive process.

Regarding research grants and awards particularly, the employing institutions of officers and budget/audit committee members are not barred from receiving AHA research grants and awards. This presumes that the grant/award was selected for funding through the customary AHA peer review process, in full compliance with the peer review conflict of interest provisions, and that the interested officers or budget/audit committee members did not participate in the peer review process.

(In some of these examples, the budget committee may be required as part of a formal budget process to approve the recommendations made by the other committees or groups. Such a pro forma approval requirement will not result in a bar of employers of budget committee members, however, the interested budget committee member must make the required disclosure and abstention, thus removing the member from the budget committee's approval of the other committee's recommendation.)

Employers of officers and budget/audit committee members would not be barred from providing donated goods or services, nor would they be barred from a non-commercial or non-financial recognition or award by AHA.

XI. REVIEW COMMITTEE:

A conflict of interest review committee shall be established to advise Corporate Counsel on conflict of interest matters, and respond to questions or make recommendations regarding conflict of interest issues and interpretations of policy and these standards. Also, the review committee shall review nominees for officers and journal editors relative to conflicts of interest as specified hereinbelow.

Appeals from any determination or recommendation of the review committee may be forwarded to the AHA Board of Directors by any volunteer who is affected by a recommendation of the review committee.

Policy and Procedure Manual

The Board of Directors may decline to accept any appeal thereby leaving the recommendation of the review committee in effect, may act positively to affirm a recommendation of the review committee, may request the review committee to reconsider its recommendation, or may substitute its own recommendation for that of the review committee if the Board believes the review committee acted arbitrarily or unreasonably.

The review committee shall be comprised of two to four past chairmen and past presidents of AHA, with an equal number of past chairmen and presidents, appointed by the Board upon recommendation of the Officers for one staggered term of three years; Chairman of the Scientific Publishing Committee; Corporate Counsel; and Internal Auditor.

XII. PROCEDURE:

Upon election or appointment to the board, a committee, subcommittee, task force, working group, editorship, officership, or other AHA group or position, all volunteers shall be provided with: the AHA conflict of interest policy, disclosure questionnaire, sample abstention form, and these standards.

Volunteers shall complete the disclosure questionnaire providing full and complete disclosure of interests, memberships, relationships, arrangements, investments and holdings that potentially could result in a conflict between the volunteer's personal, professional or business interests--and those of the volunteer's immediate family or employer--and the interests of AHA. The volunteer shall return the completed questionnaire to the National Center with the volunteer's notification of acceptance of the appointment or nomination for election. The volunteer shall keep a copy of the questionnaire for reference, and shall provide updates to the National Center whenever material changes occur in the volunteer's situation. In any event, the questionnaire is to be fully re-examined or completed annually during the volunteer's active term of service.

For officer nominees (designated by the Nominating and Awards Committee as nominees for election by the Delegate Assembly) and journal editor candidates (designated for appointment by the Scientific Publishing Committee) before election or appointment, the volunteer shall complete the disclosure questionnaire which shall be reviewed by the review committee for a determination of whether significant potential for conflicts of interest exists and, in such case, for recommendation of a remedy that must be accepted before election or appointment, otherwise the volunteer will be disqualified from service. (Regarding journal editor candidates, the Chairman of the Scientific Publishing Committee and staff Vice President of Communications and Publications, or their designees, shall make a preliminary review and a recommendation to the review committee.)

For other members of the board, committees, council executive committees, subcommittees, task forces or working groups, the completed disclosure questionnaire shall be reviewed annually by the staff responsible for that group to identify potential conflicts of interest in regard to the anticipated activities of that group. The staff shall advise or consult with the group's chairman as necessary or desirable so that the chairman is aware of potential conflicts of interest regarding agenda items being considered by that group, and can act appropriately to facilitate proper disclosure and abstention by volunteers having an actual or potential conflict.

Policy and Procedure Manual

At the first meeting of the fiscal year, the chairman of each group shall remind members of the need to make any material changes to the conflict of interest disclosure questionnaire.

At every meeting, the chairman shall advise members of the conflict of interest policy and procedures, including the requirement for disclosure of a conflict whenever the volunteer has a direct or indirect interest in an issue, abstention from discussion--including leaving the room and refraining from any activities to influence the outcome--and from voting. If disclosure and abstention occurs, the record of abstention form is to be completed by the volunteer and filed with the original copy of the minutes. The agenda and the minutes of each meeting shall reflect the review of and compliance with the conflict of interest policy and procedures.

At meetings of groups sponsored jointly by AHA and another organization, a comparable conflict of interest procedure shall be followed, whether it be the policy and procedures of AHA or of the other organization.

Regarding officers; members of the board of directors; members of budget/finance, investment, and audit committees; journal editors; or other categories of volunteers identified by Corporate Counsel or the review committee who are responsible for recommending or approving significant expenditures, benefits, property or other rights, entitlements, licenses, relationships, or standards or criteria with application beyond AHA: they shall be required annually to sign a form acknowledging receipt, understanding, and compliance with the AHA conflict of interest policy and standards.

Regarding spokespersons or representatives of AHA, or others who are selected by AHA to make statements or presentations in open forums, they shall be provided with a copy of the AHA conflict of interest policy and, as appropriate or desirable in the circumstances, a copy of these standards or other obligations or restrictions. The appropriate chairman or committee, or the responsible staff, shall make a determination whether, because of the duration or visibility of the activity, the spokesperson will be required to complete a conflict of interest disclosure questionnaire. In all cases, however, an advance determination is to be made whether there is a reasonable probability of actual or perceived conflicts of interest in terms of the individual's own personal, professional or business interests and the interests of AHA in that situation. Regarding the Scientific Sessions in particular, the Scientific Sessions Program Committee may establish specific conflict of interest procedures not inconsistent with AHA policy or these standards.

Regarding staff, all staff shall comply with the same standard of scrupulousness required by the conflict of interest policy and standards. Further, the CEO, Executive Vice Presidents, Vice Presidents, Internal Auditor, and staff involved in corporate relations at the AHA National Center, and executive directors at Affiliates, or other categories of staff identified by Corporate Counsel or the Review Committee shall be required to complete the conflict of interest disclosure questionnaire and also sign the annual acknowledgment and compliance form.

Corporate Counsel shall be responsible for implementation of the conflict of interest policy and standards. Procedural or substantive questions regarding conflict of interest may be referred directly to Corporate Counsel, but the Review Committee cannot delegate its responsibilities regarding review of officer and journal editor nominees.

Appendix II:
AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION
CONFLICT OF INTEREST
PRINCIPLES TO RESOLVE CONFLICT OF INTEREST FOR JOURNAL EDITORS

At its October 24, 1991 meeting, the Conflict of Interest Review Committee articulated three principles, and requested the Scientific Publishing Committee to codify the three principles into an operational policy for AHA journal editors:

1. Intellectual collaboration by an AHA journal editor with another scientist who is employed by a pharmaceutical, biomedical or biomedical device company poses a potential for conflict of interest and does require disclosure and review by the Conflict of Interest Review Committee, but does not by itself automatically indicate such a material conflict of interest that the relationship must be discontinued. A determination will be made on a case-by-case basis on the underlying facts and circumstances.

2. Use of supplies or equipment provided by a pharmaceutical, biomedical or biomedical device company to a lab in which the AHA journal editor works is governed by the same principle as above, i.e., disclosure and case-by-case review by the Conflict of Interest Review Committee. Whether the in-kind support is provided to the lab or institution as opposed to being directly provided to the journal editor is one relevant factor in determining whether there is such a material or substantial conflict of interest that would require discontinuance of the in-kind support.

3. Any financial support, direct or indirect, by a pharmaceutical, biomedical or biomedical device company of the research or professional activities of an AHA journal editor requires disclosure and review by the Conflict of Interest Review Committee. Financial support of an AHA journal editor's other professional activities by a pharmaceutical, biomedical or biomedical device company generally is presumed to pose a material conflict of interest and to adversely affect the perception of the journal's integrity such that the editor is not permitted to continue to receive direct financial support while an AHA journal editor. Financial support of an AHA journal editor's other professional activities by a pharmaceutical, biomedical or biomedical device company may be determined to be acceptable in the particular facts and circumstances if indirect, immaterial or incidental.

AHA Journal Policy on Paid Supplements

Criteria for acceptance of a paid supplement would include the following:

- Any material published must be of interest to the readers of the journal and within the AHA standards of quality for the journal.
- There must be scientific or educational logic for combining papers into a single publication.
- AHA journals will only consider publishing supplements sponsored by a medical society, a government agency, or those that have been CME-accredited. A minimum of two (financial) sponsors is required, and if the sponsor is an industrial entity, two industry sponsors are required.
- Supplements should not focus on a single product, nor should they be perceived as endorsing a particular product.
- Final decisions about publication of a paid supplement rests with the Editor-in-Chief of the journal.
- All material must undergo the normal peer review process of the journal, and, after the review of the submitted papers by the Editor-in-Chief and the reviewers, the journal reserves the right to reject a paper and/or the supplement for publication.

Procedures for submitting proposals would include:

Letter of intent would be submitted to the journal's publisher, Lippincott, Williams & Wilkins. If the publisher deems that the proposal meets AHA criteria for publication of a supplement, then letter of intent would be forwarded to Editor-in-Chief for approval or disapproval. The letter should briefly describe:

- Scope and subject matter of the intended proposal
- Context for preparing the materials, including some details regarding symposia or other formats
- Previous experience in developing supplements and relationship to the topic or its developers
- Procedures for identifying contributors; any contributors already named or under consideration
- How the supplement would benefit the journal and/or the AHA
- Why the proposed materials should be published as a supplement rather than submitted as regular articles
- The nature of any sponsorship relationship, if any, should be fully disclosed

If the initial proposal meets the journal's criteria and meets the approval of the Editor-in-Chief, then a formal proposal would be submitted. At this point financial arrangements would be discussed with the publisher. The formal proposal would be an expanded version of the initial proposal and would elaborate on the following:

- Overall aims of the supplement
- Explanation of the qualifications of the presenters and how they were selected
- Circumstances of how the papers will be presented
- Number of papers intended for submission and estimated manuscript length
- Statement of understanding that all submitted papers will undergo the standard review process and that there is no guarantee that a submitted paper will be published, as well as a statement of understanding that the Editor-in-Chief, upon review of the submitted papers, reserves the right to reject the supplement for publication.

- Date when materials will be ready for review. It is preferable that manuscripts from a conference or symposium be submitted at the time of the meeting. Timely publication is essential to ensure the supplement is not out of date by the time of publication.
- All materials submitted must follow accepted procedures for submission as stated in the journal's Instructions for Authors.
- A copyright transfer agreement and a conflict of interest disclosure statement will be required of all authors of all submissions. A statement regarding any previous publication or presentation of the work will also be required.
- At submission, the supplement manuscripts will be reviewed to assure that the content is not biased in the interest of any sponsor. Presentations extolling a commercial product will not be allowed. Publication of supplements will not constitute product or sponsor endorsement by the journal or the AHA.
- The Editor-in-Chief will notify the sponsors of the supplement if a submitted paper, or an entire supplement, is deemed unacceptable for publication in the journal.

CONTINUING EDUCATION POLICIES AND PROCEDURES RELATED TO THE ACCME STANDARDS OF COMMERCIAL SUPPORT

The AHA Continuing Professional Education Department manages the accreditation processes for educational activities conducted by the Association. Educational activities certified for continuing education credit include but are not limited to: live face to face meetings or conferences, online activities, live local workshops conducted at the affiliate level, live local meetings conducted through the Spotlight Series, regional activities. All planning, development and evaluation of said courses are done in accordance with the Standards for Commercial Support and the other requirements set forth by our other continuing education providerships, namely the American Nurses Credentialing Center and the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education. We also keep abreast of the recommendations from the PhRMA code and the Institutes of Medicine as it pertains to interactions with industry, maintaining independence, and Conflict of Interest management.

ACCME STANDARDS FOR COMMERCIAL SUPPORTSM

Standards to Ensure the Independence of CME
Activities

ACCME

The ACCME Standards for Commercial SupportSM

Standards to Ensure Independence in CME Activities

STANDARD 1: Independence

1.1 A CME provider must ensure that the following decisions were made free of the control of a commercial interest. (See www.accme.org for a definition of a 'commercial interest' and some exemptions.)

- (a) Identification of CME needs;
- (b) Determination of educational objectives;
- (c) Selection and presentation of content;
- (d) Selection of all persons and organizations that will be in a position to control the content of the CME;
- (e) Selection of educational methods;
- (f) Evaluation of the activity.

1.2 A commercial interest cannot take the role of non-accredited partner in a joint sponsorship relationship.¶

STANDARD 2: Resolution of Personal Conflicts of Interest

2.1 The provider must be able to show that everyone who is in a position to control the content of an education activity has disclosed all relevant financial relationships with any commercial interest to the provider. The ACCME defines "relevant" financial relationships" as financial relationships in any amount occurring within the past 12 months that create a conflict of interest.

2.2 An individual who refuses to disclose relevant financial relationships will be disqualified from being a planning committee member, a teacher, or an author of CME, and cannot have control of, or responsibility for, the development, management, presentation or evaluation of the CME activity.

2.3 The provider must have implemented a mechanism to identify and resolve all conflicts of interest prior to the education activity being delivered to learners.¶

STANDARD 3: Appropriate Use of Commercial Support

3.1 The provider must make all decisions regarding the disposition and disbursement of commercial support.

3.2 A provider cannot be required by a commercial interest to accept advice or services concerning teachers, authors, or participants or other education matters, including content, from a commercial interest as conditions of contributing funds or services.

3.3 All commercial support associated with a CME activity must be given with the full knowledge and approval of the provider.

Written agreement documenting terms of support

3.4 The terms, conditions, and purposes of the commercial support must be documented in a written agreement between the commercial supporter that includes the provider and its educational partner(s). The agreement must include the provider, even if the support is given directly to the provider's educational partner or a joint sponsor.

3.5 The written agreement must specify the commercial interest that is the source of commercial support.

3.6 Both the commercial supporter and the provider must sign the written agreement between the commercial supporter and the provider.

Expenditures for an individual providing CME

3.7 The provider must have written policies and procedures governing honoraria and reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses for planners, teachers and authors.

3.8 The provider, the joint sponsor, or designated educational partner must pay directly any teacher or author honoraria or reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses in compliance with the provider's written policies and procedures.

3.9 No other payment shall be given to the director of the activity, planning committee members, teachers or authors, joint sponsor, or any others involved with the supported activity.

3.10 If teachers or authors are listed on the agenda as facilitating or conducting a presentation or session, but participate in the remainder of an educational event as a learner, their expenses can be reimbursed and honoraria can be paid for their teacher or author role only.

Expenditures for learners

3.11 Social events or meals at CME activities cannot compete with or take precedence over the educational events.

3.12 The provider may not use commercial support to pay for travel, lodging, honoraria, or personal expenses for non-teacher or non-author participants of a CME activity. The provider may use commercial support to pay for travel, lodging, honoraria, or personal expenses for bona fide employees and volunteers of the provider, joint sponsor or educational partner.

Accountability

3.13 The provider must be able to produce accurate documentation detailing the receipt and expenditure of the commercial support. ¶

STANDARD 4. Appropriate Management of Associated Commercial Promotion

4.1 Arrangements for commercial exhibits or advertisements cannot influence planning or interfere with the presentation, nor can they be a condition of the provision of commercial support for CME activities.

4.2 Product-promotion material or product-specific advertisement of any type is prohibited in or during CME activities. The juxtaposition of editorial and advertising material on the same products or subjects must be avoided. Live (staffed exhibits, presentations) or enduring (printed or electronic advertisements) promotional activities must be kept separate from CME.

- For print, advertisements and promotional materials will not be interleaved within the pages of the CME content. Advertisements and promotional materials may face the first or last pages of printed CME content as long as these materials are not related to the CME content they face and are not paid for by the commercial supporters of the CME activity.
- For computer based, advertisements and promotional materials will not be visible on the screen at the same time as the CME content and not interleaved between computer 'windows' or screens of the CME content
- For audio and video recording, advertisements and promotional materials will not be included within the CME. There will be no 'commercial breaks.'
- For live, face-to-face CME, advertisements and promotional materials cannot be displayed or distributed in the educational space immediately before, during, or after a CME activity. Providers cannot allow representatives of Commercial Interests to engage in sales or promotional activities while in the space or place of the CME activity.

4.3 Educational materials that are part of a CME activity, such as slides, abstracts and handouts, cannot contain any advertising, trade name or a product-group message.

4.4 Print or electronic information distributed about the non-CME elements of a CME activity that are not directly related to the transfer of education to the learner, such as schedules and content descriptions, may include product-promotion material or product-specific advertisement.

4.5 A provider cannot use a commercial interest as the agent providing a CME activity to learners, e.g., distribution of self-study CME activities or arranging for electronic access to CME activities. ¶

STANDARD 5. Content and Format without Commercial Bias

5.1 The content or format of a CME activity or its related materials must promote improvements or quality in healthcare and not a specific proprietary business interest of a commercial interest.

5.2 Presentations must give a balanced view of therapeutic options. Use of generic names will contribute to this impartiality. If the CME educational material or content includes trade names, where available trade names from several companies should be used, not just trade names from a single company. ¶

STANDARD 6. Disclosures Relevant to Potential Commercial Bias

Relevant financial relationships of those with control over CME content

6.1 An individual must disclose to learners any relevant financial relationship(s), to include the following information:

- The name of the individual;
- The name of the commercial interest(s);
- The nature of the relationship the person has with each commercial interest.

6.2 For an individual with no relevant financial relationship(s) the learners must be informed that no relevant financial relationship(s) exist.

Commercial support for the CME activity.

6.3 The source of all support from commercial interests must be disclosed to learners. When commercial support is 'in-kind' the nature of the support must be disclosed to learners.

6.4 'Disclosure' must never include the use of a trade name or a product-group message.

Timing of disclosure

6.5 A provider must disclose the above information to learners prior to the beginning of the educational activity. ¶

1.0 PURPOSE

The Policy on Commercial Support exists to provide guidance for staff, faculty, planners and joint sponsors in order to implement and comply with the ACCME Standards for Commercial Support as well as the commercial support policies of other accrediting agencies (ANCC, ACPE, etc.).

2.0 POLICY

- 2.1 Adoption of the Standards for Commercial Support. The American Heart Association fully supports and adopts the ACCME Standards for Commercial Support as its basis for relating to organizations that provide commercial support for continuing education activities or the overall continuing education program.
- 2.2 Letter of Agreement. An American Heart Association Letter of Agreement must be utilized whenever a continuing education activity receives commercial support. The American Heart Association must be directly involved in the contractual process between the American Heart Association and the organization providing the commercial support.
- 2.3 Fair-Balance. All continuing education activities provided by the American Heart Association shall provide for an in-depth presentation that is independent, balanced, objective and scientifically rigorous.
- 2.4 Input from Commercial Interest¹. The American Heart Association is solely responsible for the administration, content, quality and integrity of all continuing education activities. All decisions are made free from the control of a commercial interest.
- 2.5 Social Events. In accordance with ACCME Standards for Commercial Support (SCS 3.11), the American Heart Association will use funds originating from the commercial supporter as stipulated in the American Heart Association's Policy on Social Events at continuing education activities. As such, commercial support funds may not be used to defray costs of any kind for guests of the primary registrant. Any social events may not compete with or take precedence over the educational program.
- 2.6 Distribution of Materials. The commercial supporter may be requested by the American Heart Association to assist in the promotion of the continuing education activity through the distribution of brochures or other similar materials. The commercial supporter may not assist in the actual distribution of educational enduring materials or provide electronic access to educational enduring materials.

- 2.7 Participation by Industry Representatives at Supported Continuing Education Activities. Representatives from commercial interests may attend an educational activity, but may not engage in sales activities in the room where the activity takes place. The American Heart Association reserves the right to limit the number of representatives attending an activity.
- 2.8 Unlabeled/Unapproved Uses. Activities that provide information in whole or in part related to non-FDA approved uses for drug products and/or devices must disclose when an unlabeled use of a commercial product, or an investigational use not yet approved for any purpose, is discussed. Faculty is required to disclose to the audience that the product is not labeled for the use under discussion or that the product is still investigational.
- 2.9 Acknowledgment of Commercial Support. Acknowledgment will be made to the learners of any outside organization providing financial support for an educational activity prior to the beginning of the activity.
- 2.10 Gifts to Physicians. The American Heart Association adopts the following policies with respect to gifts to physicians utilizing commercial support funds:
- 2.10.1 Subsidies from the commercial supporter must be given directly to the American Heart Association in the form of an educational grant, rather than to individual faculty or planners.
 - 2.10.2 Any gifts accepted by physicians individually should primarily entail a benefit to patients and should not be of substantial value. Text books, modest meals and other gifts are appropriate if they genuinely serve an educational function. Cash and gift certificates are not acceptable forms of gifts.
 - 2.10.3 No gifts should be accepted if there are expectations in return.
 - 2.10.4 Scholarships and travel awards for physicians-in-training (such as medical students, residents and fellows) are permissible as long as their selection is made by the academic or training institution.
- 2.11 Exhibits.
- 2.11.1 When commercial exhibits are part of the overall continuing education activity, arrangements for these exhibits should not influence planning or interfere with the presentation of the educational program. Exhibit placement should not be a condition for support of a continuing education activity.
 - 2.11.2 No commercial promotional materials shall be displayed or distributed in the same room immediately before, during or after a continuing education activity.
 - 2.11.3 Commercial exhibits are considered to be strictly promotional. Exhibitors are not considered commercial supporters unless they are specifically supporting the actual educational program in the form of a grant.
- 2.12 Sale of Advertising.
- 2.12.1 Promotional materials for continuing education activities that are not directly related to the transfer of education to the learner may include advertising. Such promotional materials must contain information about multiple non-continuing education elements of the event such as schedules and course descriptions.

Educational materials that are part of the accredited activity such as slides and handouts cannot have any advertising.

- 2.12.2 In any journal-based continuing education activity, the learner should not encounter advertising within the pages of the article(s) or within the pages of the related questions or evaluation materials.
- 2.12.3 Product specific advertising of any type is prohibited in continuing education enduring materials.

3.0 IMPLEMENTATION

(Also refer to Policy on Disclosure and Policy on Resolution of Conflict of Interest)

- 3.1 The American Heart Association will routinely issue a faculty letter that advises presenters, moderators and planners of the requirements relative to the ACCME Standards for Commercial Support. The letter will include the following requirements: (a) presentations must be unbiased, scientifically rigorous and include a balanced view of therapeutic options; (b) faculty must disclose relevant financial relationships with any commercial interests to participants; (c) faculty must disclose relevant financial relationships with the manufacturers of products or competing products discussed in their presentation to participants; (d) faculty must disclose unlabeled or unapproved uses discussed in their presentation to participants; and (e) no other funds can be accepted except for designated honoraria.
- 3.2 The American Heart Association will issue to all faculty members and planners a Faculty Disclosure Form (may be either paper or electronic format) that will solicit information from the faculty relative to (a) disclosure of financial relationships with commercial supporters and manufacturers and (b) their intended discussions of unlabeled or unapproved drugs or devices during their presentations. Information collected on the form shall include financial relationships in place over the preceding twelve month period. If faculty and planners have nothing to report, that information must be reported to the American Heart Association.
- 3.3 Continuing education activity promotional materials and educational handouts will include acknowledgement of any commercial support. With regard to handouts and enduring materials, such acknowledgement will be placed in the introductory sections of those materials so that participants may review this information prior to the start of the activity.
- 3.4 Disclosure of discussions of unlabeled or unapproved uses will be made in writing for both enduring products and for live presentations prior to the start of the activity.

Disclosure	June 2009

1.0 PURPOSE

In accordance with the ACCME Standards for Commercial Support, as well as the disclosure policies of other accrediting agencies (ANCC, ACPE, etc.), the AHA Policy on Disclosure exists to provide guidance for staff, faculty, planners and joint sponsors of the requirement to disclose specific information to participants. This includes (a) sponsor financial relationships, (b) faculty and planner financial relationships and (c) discussion of unlabeled or unapproved uses of drugs and devices.

2.0 POLICY

- 2.1 The American Heart Association requires that everyone who is in a position to control the content of an educational activity is to disclose all relevant financial relationships with any Commercial Interest¹ as defined by the ACCME to the American Heart Association in advance of an educational activity.
- 2.2 Anyone who refuses to disclose financial relationships will be removed from the planning and/or delivery of the educational activity.
- 2.3 The American Heart Association requires faculty and planners to provide specific information to activity participants. Disclosure is required in two areas:
 - 2.3.1 Financial Relationships - Faculty and planners must disclose any relevant relationship between themselves and any commercial interest. Financial relationships are those relationships in which the individual benefits by receiving a salary, royalty, intellectual property rights, consulting fee, honoraria, ownership interest (e.g., stocks, stock options or other ownership interest) or other financial benefit. Financial benefits are usually associated with roles such as employment, management position, independent contractor, consulting, speaking and teaching, membership on advisory committees or review panels, board membership and other activities from which remuneration is received, or expected. The American Heart Association considers relationships of the person involved in the continuing education activity to include financial relationships of a spouse or partner.
 - 2.3.2 Information reported shall include financial relationships in place over the preceding twelve month period. If faculty and planners have nothing to report, that information must be reported to the American Heart Association and disclosed in the course materials.

¹A Commercial Interest is any entity producing, marketing, re-selling or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on patients.

2.3.3 Discussion of Unlabeled Use - Faculty must disclose to participants, preferably in writing through course materials, that a product is not labeled for the use under discussion or that the product is still investigational.

2.4 When it is not possible to make disclosures in writing to the audience, then the faculty will ensure that disclosure to the audience occurs verbally. In this case, the American Heart Association shall document that verbal disclosure was made through a note to the activity file.

3.0 IMPLEMENTATION

3.1 Faculty and planners will complete the American Heart Association's Faculty Disclosure Form that contains the following information:

3.1.1 The form shall note the title and date of the activity;

3.1.2 The form shall solicit information about financial relationships of the faculty members/planners and his/her spouse or partner with all relevant commercial interests; if none, there shall be a box to check to that effect;

3.1.3 The form shall inquire as to whether or not the faculty member intends to discuss unlabeled or unapproved uses of drugs or devices in his/her presentation;

3.1.4 The form shall summarize pertinent requirements as stated in the ACCME Essential Areas & Elements as well as the disclosure policies of other accrediting agencies (ANCC, ACPE, etc.).

3.2 Modes of Disclosure. The American Heart Association informs the learner of potential conflicts of interest so that the learner is aware of this information prior to entering into the continuing education activity. Faculty and planners are required to provide this disclosure in two ways:

3.2.1 Printed course materials will include a page on disclosures that includes faculty and planners financial disclosures. Large conferences utilize a web-based searchable listing of faculty and planner disclosure information.

3.2.2 Instructional slide sets will begin with a slide with the presenter's disclosure information and any unlabeled use if applicable.

Resolution of Conflict of Interest	June 2009

1.0 PURPOSE

In accordance with the ACCME's Standards for Commercial Support as well as the policies of other accrediting agencies (ANCC, ACPE, etc.), the AHA Policy on Resolution of Conflict of Interest exists to provide guidance for staff, faculty, planners and joint sponsors for the requirement to identify and resolve all conflicts of interest prior to the educational activity being planned and delivered to learners.

2.0 POLICY

- 2.1 The American Heart Association requires that faculty, planners and all in a position to control the content of the activity, disclose financial relationships to the AHA in advance of the educational activity.
- 2.2 Planning committee members are required to complete AHA Relationship Disclosure Questionnaire forms. Conflict of interest resolution is managed according to AHA association-wide policies. AHA policies require that volunteer planning committee members recuse themselves from any discussion that is related to their area of conflict. Resolution of conflict of interest disputes are handled by the AHA Conflict of Interest Review Committee.
- 2.3 The planning committee responsible for the educational activity will review the disclosed information and identify and resolve potential conflicts of interest for faculty.
- 2.4 If a conflict of interest exists for anyone in control of the content, the planning committee can resolve the conflict by choosing to take one of the following suggested actions:
 - Reference the best available evidence in the literature, the grade or level of that evidence, and identify the conclusions that support evidence
 - Require expert/peer review of speaker's slides prior to activity to ensure the content is valid and aligned with the target audience
 - Ask speaker to present study results only with no personal interpretation or comment
 - Add a discussant following the speaker to present a non-conflicted discussion of the presentation
 - Ask speaker to present on a different, non-conflicted topic
 - Remove speaker from program

The planning committee may choose another solution on a case-by-case basis and may implement other mechanisms of conflict of interest resolution at their discretion.

- 2.5 All Conflict of Interest resolution review and action must be fully documented in the activity planning file (excel spreadsheet is recommended).

3.0 IMPLEMENTATION

- 3.1 Faculty and planners will complete the American Heart Association's Faculty Disclosure Form either in paper form or using the online faculty management tool.
- 3.2 Disclosed information will be provided to activity planning committee for review and discussion. Planning committee will decide, on a case by case basis if a conflict of interest exists and if so, will select a method of resolution.
- 3.3 Scientific Sessions and other large AHA conferences that use an online faculty management tool, will use electronic summary reports to review the disclosed information.
- 3.4 The Committee on Scientific Sessions Program (CSSP) will assign volunteers to review the Conflict of Interest summary information for Scientific Sessions within their specific areas of expertise.
- 3.5 AHA Continuing Professional Education Department staff will be responsible for communicating this policy to all AHA staff involved in the planning and implementation of continuing education activities.
- 3.6 All disputes related to the implementation of this policy will be escalated to the AHA Conflict of Interest Review Committee.

Joint Sponsorship	June 2009

1.0 PURPOSE

To ensure the American Heart Association is able to fulfill its responsibilities in Joint Sponsorship (partnering with another entity that is not an accredited provider of continuing education) as required by the ACCME Essential Areas & Elements and Accreditation Policies as well as the policies of other accrediting agencies (ANCC, ACPE, etc.).

2.0 POLICY

- 2.1 The American Heart Association holds the activities it jointly sponsors to the same standards as direct sponsorship. Commercial interests cannot be joint sponsors. The following describes conditions that must be met in any joint sponsorship into which the American Heart Association may enter.
- 2.2 The proposed activity must be consistent with the American Heart Association's Continuing Professional Education's mission statement.
- 2.3 The American Heart Association must be involved in the planning and development of any jointly sponsored activity it certifies for credit. The Continuing Professional Education Committee must review and approve the CME/CE Planning Document which includes but is not limited to the activity gap analysis, learning objectives, educational design, faculty selection and evaluation methodology.
- 2.4 All jointly sponsored activities must comply with the ACCME Essential Areas & Elements and Accreditation Policies. Any funds solicited on behalf of the activity must be received by the American Heart Association or must be authorized in writing to be delivered to the joint sponsor who shall provide budgets and updates to the AHA in writing. The non-accredited sponsor may solicit funds with the direction of AHA. All commercial supporters must sign the AHA's standard Letter of Agreement. The commercial supporter must be acknowledged in the activity's materials. All faculty and activity planners will be required to disclose financial relationships and have any conflicts of interest resolved.
- 2.5 The American Heart Association will review the budget for any proposed jointly sponsored activity to ensure that adequate resources have been devoted to the development of the activity consistent with meeting the activity's learning objectives.
- 2.6 The American Heart Association must review and approve all marketing and participant materials associated with the activity prior to their release.

- 2.7 The responsibilities of the non-accredited sponsor will be clearly enumerated in a Joint Sponsorship Agreement between the non-accredited sponsor and the American Heart Association. The AHA will withdraw from any joint sponsorship if the non-accredited sponsor fails to meet its obligations as described in the agreement or fails to comply with this policy.
- 2.8 The American Heart Association holds its jointly-sponsored activities to the same standards as the activities it directly sponsors with regards to fulfillment of its mission, gap analysis, development of learning objectives, use of systematic planning processes, evaluation and outcomes measurement, and complete file documentation.
- 2.9 The AHA retains control of all copyrights to the materials produced for jointly sponsored activities.

3.0 IMPLEMENTATION

3.1 Involvement with the American Heart Association

- 3.1.1 A course chair appointed by the American Heart Association must be involved in the planning of the program to ensure that the activity meets the Continuing Professional Education's Mission and to ensure quality and scientific integrity of the jointly sponsored activity.
- 3.1.2 A staff member of the American Heart Association must serve on the planning committee in order for an activity to be jointly sponsored by the AHA. Staff involvement at the planning level is required so that input into the process can be provided related to the ACCME Essential Areas & Elements and Accreditation Policies as well as the policies of other accrediting agencies (ANCC, ACPE, etc.).

3.2 Gap Analysis

The need for each continuing education activity must be substantiated by completing a gap analysis. Identification and assessment of a gap in learning provide the basis for formulating learning objectives and planning educational activities. Documentation regarding the gap analysis must be included in the CME/CE Planning Document.

3.3 Learning Objectives

- 3.3.1 Every continuing education activity must state the learning objectives in writing in the printed brochure or other promotional material, and in the syllabus or handout materials.
- 3.3.2 Objectives should be derived from the gap analysis, related to the target audience and be used to measure outcomes. Learning objectives must be written from the perspective of what you expect the learner to do in the practice setting with the information you are teaching.
- 3.3.3 Learning objectives need to be clear, concise and measurable in order to (a) assist the planner in designing the activity, (b) assist the faculty in preparing presentations that meet the objectives, (c) provide a benchmark for the evaluation of the activity, (d) assist the participant in deciding whether or not to attend the activity and e) link to the desired outcomes of the activity.

3.4 Activity Promotion

3.4.1 After an activity has been certified for credit, the activity promotional materials (including hard and/or electronic copy) should be developed. A draft of the promotional brochure/final program must be approved in writing by the Associate Marketing Manager, Continuing Professional Education, before it can be printed and distributed.

3.4.2 The following information must be included on all promotional materials:

1.0 PURPOSE

To ensure the American Heart Association is able to fulfill its responsibilities in separation of education and promotion as required by the ACCME Essential Areas & Elements and Standards for Commercial Support as well as the policies of other accrediting agencies (ANCC, ACPE, etc.). The American Heart Association’s educational offerings are accredited by the following regulatory bodies to offer continuing education credit for physicians, nurses, pharmacists and emergency medical technicians/paramedics: Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME); American Association of Critical-Care Nurses (AACN); Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE) and Continuing Education Coordinating Board for Emergency Medical Services (CECBEMS).

2.0 POLICY

2.1 Promise

The American Heart Association/American Stroke Association (AHA/ASA) Continuing Professional Education Program passionately strives to be the most trusted learning and change agent for translating emerging science to best practice through continuous quality improvement.

2.2 Mission Statement (Purpose)

To focus the AHA/ASA Continuing Professional Education Program on emerging research and improvement of clinical competence, performance and enhanced patient outcomes for the prevention, diagnosis and management of cardiovascular disease and stroke.

The American Heart Association has been an accredited provider of Continuing Medical Education (CME) with the Accreditation Council on Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) since it’s inception in 1981. Throughout that history, we have adjusted our business practices in accordance with the requirements set forth by the ACCME and other continuing education regulatory bodies such as ANCC and ACPE; and most specifically to the Standards for Commercial Support. We strictly adhere to the requirement of creating educational content that is independent - free from bias and commercial influence.

2.3 Independence

2.3.1 With every continuing education activity the AHA develops, we maintain control of the following elements as outlined in the Standards for Commercial Support:

- Identification of continuing education needs
- Determination of educational objectives
- Selection and presentation of content
- Selection of all persons and organizations that will be in a position to control the content of the continuing education
- Selection of educational methods
- Evaluation of the activity

2.3.2 For all activities receiving commercial support, a Letter of Agreement specifying the terms and conditions of the funding and defining the separation of responsibilities of the AHA/ASA and the funder, is consummated with each commercial supporter.

3.0 IMPLEMENTATION

3.1 Internal Firewalls

- 3.1.1 Location - The Continuing Professional Education Department is physically situated in a building on the AHA campus separate from the Corporate Relations sponsorship team and other AHA sponsorship teams.
- 3.1.2 Proposal Development - Proposals being developed to seek funding, and content being developed for a funded activity are stored in shared folder archives. Access to the shared folder archives is restricted to members of the Continuing Professional Education Department.
- 3.1.3 Vendor - Vendors (third parties providing services to AHA, i.e., online software developer) being utilized for any activity are required to sign a Non-Disclosure Agreement to further safeguard the content under development.
- 3.1.4 Content Development, Disclosure and Conflict of Interest - AHA volunteers recruited to participate in content development for any AHA continuing education activity are required to complete a disclosure form which includes identification of any conflicts of interest including relevant financial conflicts of interest with any commercial interests. If conflicts are noted, the AHA Resolution of Conflict Policy is enacted. The AHA Professional Education Committee participates in all activities during their development to merit certification of continuing education credit and to act as a secondary tier for bias and conflict of interest. The Continuing Professional Education Director in conjunction with the Professional Education Committee reserves the right to halt production of any educational program deemed to have been compromised by conflict or bias.
- 3.1.5 Personnel - Continuing Professional Education Department personnel only work on projects that are continuing education related. No work is conducted on anything that has been sponsored (i.e., promotional events). Additionally, staff from the Association who handle sponsored events/materials have no involvement in the development of Continuing Professional Education materials or activities.

- 3.1.6 AHA Staff Dedicated to Funding - The AHA has continuing education staff dedicated to facilitating funding on all educational grants. These staff have no roles or responsibilities on projects designed for promotional purposes. In addition, these staff members' compensation is not tied to the funding of any continuing education grant. Correspondence with personnel employed by the commercial supporter is limited to those who are designated to handle continuing education related initiatives.
- 3.1.7 Funding - All continuing education grants are presented to multiple supporters with the goal of having more than one funding source for each grant.
- 3.1.8 Ethics and Conflict of Interest - All American Heart Association staff undergo ethics and conflict of interest training annually.

COI Procedures for Invited Speakers/Moderators

1. Session suggestions and speaker/moderator suggestions are compiled one of two ways:
 - a. Session ideas are submitted through a submitter site. The Program Committee reviews the session, speaker and moderator ideas and selects the strongest science for the meeting. Invited speakers and moderators are selected based on their experience and expertise in the subject matter.
 - b. Program committee determine the sessions based on gaps in the science in the topic area; cutting-edge research results; "hot topics" in the science area; etc. Once the sessions have been determined, speakers are selected based on their experience and expertise in the subject matter.
2. Invitations are sent out to the invited speakers and moderators along with a Conflict of Interest (COI) form to complete. The invited speakers and moderators complete the COI form with all conflicts that are relevant to their role in the session and the material that will be discussed.
3. Once all the COI forms are returned, the Conference Manager will send the Program Committee a list of all the invited speakers and moderators, the session they are participating in and their COI information.
4. The Program Committee reviews the COIs to see if there are any potential conflicts. If there is the potential for conflict, the Program Committee will determine how great the COI is. Conflict resolution is dealt with in different ways including the following options:
 - a. Program Committee will ask to review the slides for the speaker's presentation.
 - b. If the conflict is deemed too great, the speaker will be removed from the session.
 - c. Please refer to the Continuing Professional Education Policy and Procedure – Resolution of Conflict of Interest for further suggestions on how to resolve a conflict
5. All speakers are required to make the first slide of their PowerPoint presentation a disclosure slide indicating the following: presenter name, title of presentation, commercial interest (s) speaker has a relationship with, and description of the nature of the relationship. Moderators are also required to have a PowerPoint slide that lists their conflicts. Speakers and moderators must also verbally state their disclosure to the attendees at the beginning of their presentation. If a speaker or moderator has nothing to disclose, a slide reflecting that information must also be presented.
